Mollie Pfeffer, 45-Year County Employee, Dies

Former Outagamie Clerk Suffered From Leukemia

The woman who held the unofficial title of "dean of Outagamie County employees" died Monday night after a 1½-year illness.

Mollie E. Pfeffer, who suffered from leukemia, worked for

Mollie Pfeffer

Outagamie County more than 45 years, 13 as county clerk.

Ill health forced her to retire as clerk at the end of her latest term, in January.

Miss Pfeffer, a native and lifelong resident of Outagamie County, served 32 years as deputy county clerk under the late John Hantschel, who resigned for health reasons in January, 1955. The county board appointed her to fill his unexpired term.

She won election in 1956 and was re-elected every term since, as a Republican. Miss Pfeffer, who was active in Republican Party circles, also was a member of the Wisconsin County Clerks Association.

Longest Tenure

She worked for the county longer than any other present or recent employee. Close behind her, in years of service, was Sydney M. Shannon, who resigned as clerk of Circuit Court last fall after serving more than 40 years.

Miss Pfeffer received her high school and business college education in Appleton.

The courthouse flag flew at half staff today in tribute to her, and a short prayer was said for her before the county board started monthly business this morning.

Miss Pfeffer is survived by her sister, Mrs. Ella Rusch of Menomonee Falls, three nieces and a nephew.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday from St. Pius X Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Joseph Cemetery. Friends may call at Wichmann Funeral Home from 4 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Bank, Landlord Disagree $1 Million Apart

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "Bring it back," said the bank officials.

"Come and get it," said Ed Bartunek. "It was your mistake." Neither side wants to give in.

The mistake was for $1 million.

Bartunek's tenant, Mrs. Otis Spears, asked for a $70 money order and a bank machine error made it out for $1,000,-

070. She didn't notice and mailed the money order to Bartunek.

Bartunek can't cash it and he's out the $70 rent until the mistake is corrected. But he's having fun flashing the big amount to his friends and adds:

"As long as I've got the money order I feel like a million dollars."

Set Stage for Hard Line at Peace Talks

HONG KONG (AP) — The Viet Cong's official news agency rejected today U.S. proposals for mutual de-escalation of the Vietnam war and mutual withdrawal of troops from South Vietnam as "completely unjustified and completely unacceptable."

"If the United States wants peace in Vietnam," Liberation News Agency said, "it must first unconditionally end its war of aggression, unconditionally withdraw its troops and destroy its bases, and unconditionally accept the principle that the Vietnamese people be allowed to settle their own affairs without any foreign interference."

The agency's commentary, broadcast by Viet Cong radio and rebroadcast by Radio Hanoi, echoed North Vietnam's demand a day earlier that the United States unconditionally meet all enemy terms for ending the Vietnam war.

The one-two demand for unconditional acceptance obviously was intended to set the stage for Thursday's session of the Paris peace talks and lay the groundwork for refusal of any American proposal for mutual de-escalation or mutual withdrawal.

'No Other Way'

"There is no other way for the U.S. to end the war," Liberation News Agency declared. "If the United States refused that way to peace, then the Vietnamese people will never lay down their arms but will continue fighting as long as necessary until the last U.S. aggressor is killed or driven from our country."

Meanwhile the chief adviser to Hanoi's peace conference delegation is on his way home again.

Le Duc Tho left Monday with stops en route set in Moscow and Peking, the principal contributors to North Vietnam's war effort. U.S. delegation sources feel Tho might have been recalled for a policy review. They are discouraging speculation that he is taking back a new U.S. proposal for top-level consideration.

Hidden Progress?

On the surface there are no symptoms of progress in the peace talks. But the circumstances of Tho's last two trips home give support to speculation that his trip may be due to some hidden, significant developments.

After arriving in Paris last June 3 to supervise the North Vietnamese delegation, Tho returned to Hanoi on June 29. This was at the start of a summer-long lull in major Viet Cong and North Vietnamese ground action in South Vietnam and of a period of intensive secret diplomacy in Paris.

During Tho's absence, a ranking North Vietnamese official confided to the French Foreign Ministry that the lull was Hanoi's response to the American demand for reciprocity in negotiations for a total halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Throughout July, Washington debated whether the lull in fighting was really initiated by Hanoi and whether it was sufficient reason to halt all bombing above the 17th Parallel. But the Johnson administration decided against halting the bombing then, and Tho came back to Paris Aug. 13.

End of Bargaining

His next departure on Oct. 14 was in the midst of terminal bargaining over a bombing halt.

When proposals were being exchanged between the Americans and the North Vietnamese in private meetings outside the conference hall.

Early in October, Ambassador Xuan Thuy hinted that Hanoi would agree to enlarged talks with Saigon and the Viet Cong participating, even if U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam continued. This was a significant modification of Thuy's stand in the preceding five months of bilateral talks.

While Tho was home reporting to President Ho Chi Minh, the North Vietnamese signalled their acceptance of the U.S. bombing halt package. On Oct. 31 President Johnson announced the cessation of bombing.

Tho returned to Paris Nov. 23, and the first session of the four-party talks was held Jan. 18.

Reds Shelled By Battleship

New Jersey Returns to Action, Destroys Bunkers Near Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — The battleship New Jersey returned to the Vietnam war after a month off the firing line and smashed 64 enemy bunkers south of Da Nang, military spokesmen reported today.

For four hours Monday, the 56,000-ton battleship hurled 1,900-pound shells at North Vietnamese fortifications which an air spotter said "have been impervious to previous strikes."

The New Jersey's bombardment was in support of South Korean marines and killed at least five enemy soldiers, a spokesman reported.

"We were at extremely close range, about 10,000 yards," said a member of the ship's crew. Boatswain's Mate 3.c. James Swan, "and I could follow the trajectory of the rounds and see them impact. The bursts sent smoke and debris about a thousand feet in the air."

The battleship had been in Japan for routine maintenance and replenishment of her supplies.

Helicopter Downed

The U.S. Command also announced another American helicopter was shot down and destroyed near Pleiku, in the Central Highlands, but there were no casualties. It was the 2,356th U.S. helicopter lost during the war.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces stepped up their ground war during the night with attacks on three provincial capitals, two allied bases, a pacification team and a government infantry battalion. The North Vietnamese also fired on a small U.S. observation plane over the southern half of the demilitarized-zone but missed it.

South Vietnamese troops were hard hit in two of the attacks, suffering 24 dead and 53 wounded while accounting for only 14 known enemy dead. The rest of the attacks caused only a handful of American and South Vietnamese wounded and light damage.

In the Mekong Delta, 102 miles southwest of Saigon, Viet Cong soldiers ripped into a South Vietnamese infantry batalion with withering machine-gun and small arms fire. After the action, 12 South Vietnamese soldiers were dead, 35 were wounded, and only seven enemy bodies were counted. The South Vietnamese soldiers may have been ambushed in the canal-laced delta, but no other details were available.

Allies Likely To Gather for Spring Talks

Troop Withdrawals Expected Subject Of Bangkok Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first high-level meeting among the United States and its allies in the Vietnam war since the advent of the Nixon administration is expected to take place this spring in Bangkok.

U.S. officials said the session probably will follow immediately after the ministerial meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. No date has been announced for the SEATO meeting, but in the past such sessions were held in April.

Such a meeting would precede any summit session that President Nixon would hold with the Vietnam allies—the heads of government of Thailand, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and South Vietnam.

One of the prime subjects expected to be discussed at the allied meeting would be the sequence of troop withdrawal if and when the peace talks show positive results.

The United States and South Vietnam have been discussing the possibility of substantial American troop reductions in the relatively near future as the Saigon forces increase their ability to take over more of the fighting.

The spring meeting will involve the foreign ministers of the involved countries with the United States to be represented by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Besides the more than half-million Americans fighting in Vietnam, South Korea has 50,000 troops, Thailand 12,000, Australia 8,000. The Philippines a combat engineer battalion and New Zealand less than 1,000.

Ministerial meetings among the allies have been held every year since the foreign troops were sent into South Vietnam. And there was one summit meeting involving President Johnson and the other allied heads of state.

That session at Manila in 1966 resulted in a formula for withdrawal from South Vietnam calling for all foreign troops to leave the country within six months of a settlement.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Monday that Marine Pfc. James M. Donstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Donstad of Edgerton, Wis., had been killed in action in Vietnam.

Girl Saved, Captor Dies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A blonde schoolgirl cheerleader, held under threat of death for 10½ hours, darted to safety Monday night as police gunfire killed her pistol-waving captor.

Janie Lewis, 17, escaped harm as the tense drama ended in a cafeteria where a longhaired parolee had confined her in a booth, rejecting repeated pleas to free the young woman.

Officers identified the slain man as Freddie Robert Mullins, 21, of Dallas. They said he had served a term for armed robbery in Minnesota.

As many as 500 persons assembled at times to watch what was taking place at the Big Town shopping center in suburban Mesquite, just outside the East Dallas city limit. Heavily armed police kept the crowd at a safe distance.

Mesquite Police Chief L. H. Lummer, 33, said he motioned with his eyes for Miss Lewis to run behind a retaining wall in the cafeteria when Mullins finally diverted attention from her to unscrew a light bulb in a lowhanging chandelier.

"She was begging for me to tell her what to do," Lummer said.

Three bullets pierced Mullins' chest and he died as he fell.

Lummer estimated a dozen shots were fired, including three from his own pistol as the police chief ducked behind a table only 10 feet from Mullins.

Other officers reported Mul-

Draws More Protests

Canada Set to Meet Red China

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government has notified Red China it is prepared to open talks on establishment of diplomatic relations.

Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp told the House of Commons Monday the Canadian Embassy in Stockholm was ordered to approach the Red Chinese embassy with a proposal for talks "to be held at a mutually convenient time and place in the near future."

Sharp told newsmen the United States "and our other friends" were told of the decision in advance "so they would not be taken by surprise."

There was no immediate reaction from Washington, but State Department officials were expected to be unhappy with the Canadian move, as they were when Italy announced Jan. 24 that they planned to recognize Red China.

Sharp first announced Canada's intention to recognize Red China Jan. 22, which prompted a protest from Nationalist China. His speech Monday brought a second protest from Formosa to withdraw its ambassador from Rome because of Italy's moves to establish relations with Peking and is expected to do the same in Ottawa if the Canadian government follows through with its intent.

Washington officials on Jan. 25 privately expressed concern about the impact of expanded international contacts with the Nationalist Chinese regime and other non-communist nations in the Far East.

Officials said 45 countries now have diplomatic ties with Communist China and 66 have relations with Formosa. Yet many of the latter conduct more trade with mainland China than with Formosa, and the Italian and Canadian moves could signal a new trend.

Approval Predicted On Missile System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee says emphatically "I know" work will resume on the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system.

Democrat George H. Mahon of Texas, whose committee molds the purse-strings for the $5.5 billion system, made the prediction in an interview Monday although he said he had no direct assurances from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

But, he added, "I know the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and I know Secretary Laird, and I know what their thoughts are on this matter."

Mounting Criticism

The Nixon administration last week halted the work on the system pending a high-level

Pentagon review. The action followed mounting criticism in Congress and from residents of areas where Sentinel sites are planned.

Mahon said the Nixon administration not only will ask for the money to go ahead with the Sentinel, but will get it.

He dismissed congressional critics—who included notably Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.—as representing a minority. And he said that despite opposition in areas where sites are planned, he believes the American people support antimissile work.

"The American people won't stand still to see the Soviet Union perfect an antimissile defense while the United States makes no move in this area," he said.

Thieves Given Golden Chance To Steal Stocks

Confusion Exists In Paperwork of Brokerage Firms

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The nearly incredible behind-the-scenes confusion in some brokerage houses, where stacks of stocks worth millions of dollars cannot be identified with the owners, could become a paradise to thieves.

That is the judgment of a top officer in one of the largest underwriters of insurance for brokers. Paradise might, in fact, already be here, he suggested.

"The chaos is beyond description and is creating enormous opportunities for thieves," he said. "We have been extraordinarily lucky so far, but we're extremely worried."

Insurance rates have risen, some business is being declined by insurers, and informal warnings have been issued that protection might be refused altogether. "Enormous liabilities are hanging over our heads," said the insurer.

Earlier this month representatives of the banking and securities industries formed a committee to study the thefts and are expected to make their report within one month. This would require a rather hurried study.

Despite the apparent need for speed, the public attitude of committee members seems decidedly less anxious than the private worries of insurers.

"My mind is open on the matter," said Gene McHam, vice president of the New York Stock Exchange's Stock Clearing Corp. "There has been some concern voiced in the street. Our position is, 'Let's take a look and see.'"

Frank Zarb, a partner in Goodbody & Co. and chairman of the committee, said: "Thefts definitely are a problem, but we just don't know the scope and depth. We need to determine it."

Millions of Dollars
In the opinion of some financial authorities who were asked for estimates, that figure is going to be well up in the millions of dollars. Nobody cared to name a specific figure or, in fact, felt that they could.

Some thefts may not be uncovered, because some firms are believed to be accepting the losses rather than to suffer the publicity. Some securities may be listed as misplaced until, months later, it is realized they have been stolen.

The certificates may have been spirited out in the inner slit pocket of a worker's suit-coat, then taken to banks by thieves or their cohorts and used as collateral for loans. The loans remain unpaid.

The initial stage of the industry investigation is to define the problem. The second stage, if there is one, will be to set up a program to upgrade brokerage house security.

Some Concerned
Behind the industry activity, however, are several prods.

The New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Crime has set up offices in the financial district to study the same problem. The Securities and Exchange Commission and other public agencies are concerned also. And there are the insurers.

"If corrective action is not taken the roof will fall in on the brokers in six months and then they'll be left without any insurance whatever," said the highly placed insurance executive, who asked not to be identified.

"We're not pulling out of the market yet," he said, "but there will be a radical re-evaluation if they don't correct conditions. It's a race against time."

"The brokers have always relied on the bonding people to pay the losses, and during the past five years the bonding people have been losing money. It's a sick situation."

"Thief's Heyday"
"Right now a professional thief would have an absolute heyday and it would take six to eight months to discover the theft. We might even have $500,000 to $5 million of liabilities we don't even know about."

The situation described by the insurer is a combination of at least two major failures of the brokerage business: disorder in record keeping and inability to thoroughly check the background of new employees.

"Almost anybody can go down there and get a job in a place with all that paper lying around," said the head of a company that conducts "personal audits" for brokers. Even the Mafia, he was asked?

"Almost anybody," he repeated.

Soviet Fishing Trawlers Remain Off U. S. Coast

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Seven Russian trawlers from a Communist fishing fleet rode out high winds and heavy seas less than 12 miles off the Virginia coast today, the Coast Guard said.

The trawlers and some 90 others in the fleet had been warned Saturday that fishing within the 12 mile zone was reserved for U.S. vessels and violators would be seized, but a Coast Guard spokesman said none of the Russian ships in the zone now were fishing.

Winds of 45 knots and 10-foot seas whipped the area between Hampton Roads and the North Carolina border Monday night where five 600-foot factory ships and an estimated 75 trawlers remained concentrated 15 to 30 miles offshore.

Some 65 miles to the north, 15 miles off Chincoteague Island—and its neighboring Wallops Island rocket base—the factory ship Pomorze and 14 trawlers rode out the blow in a second group.

Snowed In by Storm, Woman Gives Birth At New York Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — An expectant mother, prevented from getting to a hospital by the Northeast snowstorm, was rushed to the dispensary of Floyd Bennett Field. She walked the last 300 feet through four-foot drifts, then gave birth to a son.

Sailors at the military air field in Brooklyn dubbed the infant "Mr. Floyd." The mother, Mrs. Frederick George, named him Rod Thomas George. Dr. Cecil Grimes, assisted by three other snow-stranded surgeons, performed the delivery.

"This was better service than I expected," said Mrs. George, "but I don't expect to be back."

United Steelworkers Vote for Chief Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Members of the United Steelworkers Union vote for a president today in an election that could affect the entire labor movement.

The steelworkers cast their ballots at mill gates and union halls in 3,700 locals throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

They choose between the union's current president, I.W. Abel, 60, a soft-spoken former mill worker, and Emil Narick, 52, a crewcut union lawyer and former football player who hopes to follow Abel in becoming the second man in union history to unseat an incumbent.

Tie With AFL-CIO
If Narick should win, he has promised to "re-examine and re-evaluate" the union's tie with the AFL-CIO. Since Walter Reuther pulled his United Auto Workers from the AFL-CIO, the 1.2 million member Steelworkers union has been the largest in the federation, and Abel is considered the No. 2 man behind George Meany.

There have been repeated reports that Narick, who calls himself the underdog, is a Reuther man. Throughout his campaign, Narick has praised Reuther's leadership, contending the auto-workers have shown superior bargaining power to the steelworkers.

If Narick were to throw the support of the steelworkers to Reuther, Meany's AFL-CIO could face a challenge from a powerful alliance.

Narick has also claimed that Abel, if re-elected, will resign from and take over control of the AFL-CIO when the 74-year-old Meany retires.

Abel's lieutenants denied it, saying Abel would win and serve his term. Abel would not comment on the charge, but his attacks on Narick's credentials picked up after it was made.

The AFL-CIO issue and Narick's unsuccessful attempt to have the Department of Labor monitor certain districts to insure fair elections, generated the most excitement of the campaign.

Flamboyant McDonald
In 1965, Abel upset the often flamboyant David J. McDonald by 10,000 votes.

That campaign was much more personal in tone. At one point McDonald said that all Abel—then international secretary-treasurer—did was book hotel rooms for contract talks.

Narick's key house issues have been the need for better wages and the right for locals to strike for concessions at the local level. He is confident these pledges, coupled with what he says is a wave of discontent among the rank and file, will sweep him to victory.

Abel, on the other hand, has argued that the steelworkers have never had it so good and points to last summer's record contract which will give workers an average boost of 51 cents over two years.

They Violate Ethics of Their Profession

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the M.D.'s wife was extremely revealing. The woman was obviously attempting to defend the medical profession against the accusation that some of the Great Healers make passes at women in the examining rooms. She tried to put the blame on the patients by telling about the various types who have propositioned her spouse.

This woman's husband may be gentle and compassionate as she described him — a man in whom a woman would find it easy to confide — but he also has a very big mouth. A doctor who goes home and tells his wife about the patients who propositioned him in the office is violating the ethics of his profession.

I can tell you from experience that the doctors' wives at our club are charming but they drink a lot and they talk too much. If the husbands of these women are taking their professional secrets home, I feel sorry for their patients. — Anti-Clattertrap

Dear Ant: I'm not at all sure that wives of M.D.'s drink more than wives of lawyers or paperhangers, but your point about keeping confidences is well taken, and I thank you for making it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Jay and I have been going together for two years. Next week he is driving me to Louisville to meet his mother. He has asked that I tell her I am 27 instead of 30. Also, he'd appreciate it if I didn't mention my previous marriage. If religion comes up I'm to say I'm an Episcopalian (I'm really a Baptist). And oh yes, he thinks she would be more favorably impressed if I said I taught school rather than admit to being a hairdresser.

According to Jay, these are not lies, they are small distortions designed to make an old lady happy. What do you think?

— Zapped

Dear Zapped: Tell Jay to present you as you are or you're not going — in which case he can find himself an Episcopalian schoolteacher, about 27 years old, who has had no previous marriage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was horrified to read of the secretary who took it upon herself to surprise the boss and straighten a round his desk drawer. One morning she ran into pornography that kept her blushing until five o'clock.

That secretary must be new in the work world or she would have known about the unwritten law: The Boss's Desk Drawers Are Inviolable. How would she like it if the boss decided to surprise her and straighten around her purse? — No Snoop Secretary

Dear No Snoop: The operative word is "surprise." No secretary should take it upon herself to straighten around her boss's desk drawer unless she has his permission. On the other hand, any one of my 11 secretaries is welcome to straighten around my desk drawers any time they wish to do so. I appreciate sharp pencils, a well-stocked paper clip box, and pens that write.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Flared Slacks for Youthful Market

This will be a season for ideas in trousers and slacks, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. For the youthful market, there are the conservative flared models and the out-right bell-bottom that's three or four inches wider at the bottom than at the knee. For all men, there are angled bottom, slightly flared pants, vinyl version of "cuir sauvage" leather and the much talked-about double knit fabrics.

Transplants Banish Baldness

By JEAN DONALD ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — In the past decade medical science has given men new kidneys, eyes, hearts — and even hair. Today, men who are losing their hair no longer need resign themselves to a life of baldness or wearing a toupee—they can have their own hair back again. All a man needs is the desire, money—and a willing plastic surgeon. Many have followed with interest the hair transplants undergone by celebrities like Frank Sinatra and Hugh Downs. But, most people don't realize there is probably someone in their own town who has had this minor surgery performed. According to a physician, who must remain anonymous because of medical ethics, hair transplanting is a relatively easy procedure. It can be performed in an operating room, or in his office, and only a local anesthetic is used. Sometimes the transplant is completed in one operation, other times it takes several sessions. An operation to cover a large bald spot "takes about three or four hours." Smaller ones generally require about an hour and a half. There are two methods of transplanting hair. The first is called a strip scalp graft. A section of scalp one-quarter inch wide is taken from the back of the head and placed in front to form a natural looking hairline. The second method involves taking "plugs" of hair from the back of the head and transplanting them in the bald area. To do this, the surgeon must first remove plugs of scalp from the bald area so there will be room for the plug of hair. Each plug contains from 12 to 15 hairs. These two methods of transplanting are often combined—first creating a natural looking hairline, then filling in the remainder of the bald spot with the plugs.

Spots Disappear
According to the doctor, the area from which the plugs of hair are taken eventually contracts and the spot is completely hidden in three or four months. In the meantime, longer hair surrounding the area covers the small scar that has been left.

One reason the operation is not done on as large a scale as expected ("I only had about six requests last year") is because of the cost. One physician contacted charges $5 per plug and says the entire operation can amount to between 250 to 1000 plugs—the average is 350 to 400 plugs. "My wife thinks it's a good idea. My friends don't pass judgment — they're objective and mature about it. If I want to do it—fine. Men have shown a great interest. I've been able to recommend it to many. All the guys are keeping an eye on me to see what happens."

A man, whom we'll name Ron Abrams, is having his transplants done gradually by a physician.

Explains Procedure
"The first was two long strips to set the pattern and give me a hairline. The strips were done in the hospital—it took about an hour. Now he's filling in the triangle shaped bald spot with plugs.

"Plugs are very simple. You can go right home, or back to work if you want. I usually take the rest of the day off. Sometimes I'll have a little headache for awhile."

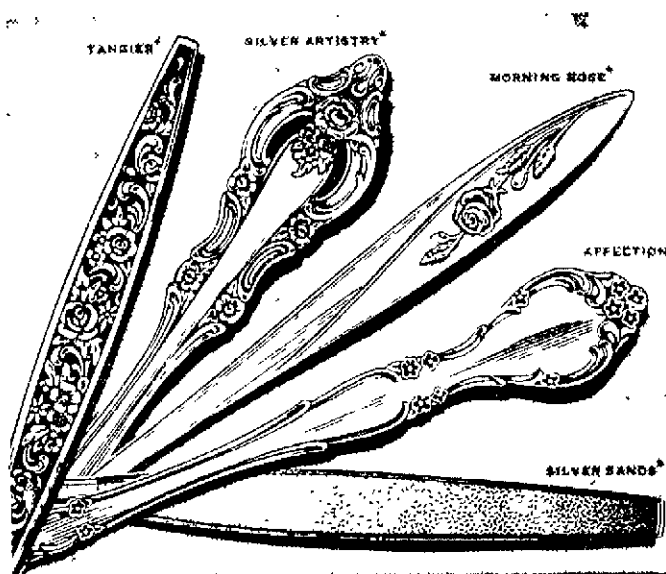

So far, Ron has been well-satisfied with the result of his transplants. "I would recommend it to anyone—particularly if he is young and concerned about his looks and cares enough to go through the inconvenience. So many people discouraged me at first. They'd never heard of the operation. I had to think about it a long time — worrying about how I'd feel if it didn't work after all that time and inconvenience. But now several people who are bald are very interested. They're still a little skeptical, but I think

The First Annual "Appleton Aware Seminar" will be sponsored Feb. 22 at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Campus by the Appleton Branch of the American Association of University Women. Participating in a panel discussion on the conflicts and values of youth will be, from left, Walter Stitt,

Little League Says 'Thanks' to Wives

Appleton Little League "Wives Appreciation" banquet brought Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bork and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heinritz together at the dinner table.

Thomas Kimball Serves His Wife, above, after the social hour which gave Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Reichel and Mr. and Mrs. Rick O'Neill, at right, an opportunity to discuss the coming Little League season.

The women were in the sports spotlight Saturday evening when the Appleton Little League, Inc., held its "Wives Appreciation" banquet at Alex's Manor House.

Anticipating the hours to be devoted without pay to the direction of 270 boys composing the 18 teams, the Little League extended its thanks in advance to the wives whose husbands will be volunteering their time during the 1969 season.

The 6:15 p.m. social hour was sponsored by Northern State Bank and the 7 p.m. dinner, by the League.

Designer's message: The look of hair seems to be straight or curls. Several Paris hair stylists have created the "Peacock" which combines the two; straight hair pulled back from the face, then an explosion of curls all over the back of the head. Remember to comb out the curls separately so the effect is not too full or fuzzy. A great style for girls who have "above shoulder" length hair.

Memo to Reducers

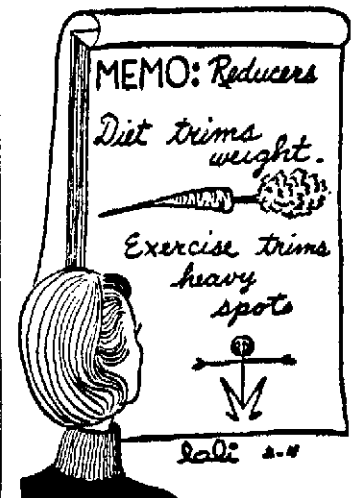

The reducing exercises appearing weekly in this column do a great job of trimming and firming fleshy spots. But, if you need to lose weight as well as a bulge, you must combine diet with exercise.

Diet is the only effective remedy for excess poundage. Our method is painless. So relax! Here's a sample menu:

A typical breakfast consists of tomato or citrus juice, poached egg on lightly buttered toast, coffee or tea. Menus can be varied by substituting cereal for toast, or two slices of broiled bacon for an egg. The invariable is using sugar substitute and skim milk.

The main course at luncheon consists of vegetable salad with dieter's dressing, or grilled hamburger patty and salad greens tossed with lemon juice, or grilled cheese on one slice of rye toast. In addition, menus may include consommé, skim milk and fresh fruit.

At dinner you have a choice of lean meat, fish or fowl (average portion, baked or broiled); two non-starchy vegetables, cooked and raw (i.e. steamed broccoli, raw carrots; small serving, twice weekly, of potato, rice, corn or lima beans; choice of plain dessert, such as dieter's jello or ice cream, sponge cake, unsweetened cooked fruit, or fresh fruit cup.

Why not try the plan? It will take you into spring feeling great and looking better.

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our booklet, Pocket Calorie Count, tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan—a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Europeans Ask Questions About Hippies in America

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A goodwill trip to Europe turned up lots of anxious questions from would-be travelers to America, says Jill Spavin, 26, who holds the title, "World Stewardess Queen."

When Jill went to Europe as sort of an ambassador to invite a girl from each airline to visit the United States, she found that Europeans were worried about conditions in America.

"They wanted to know about hippies and whether they really act like they are shown pictured in news photographs seen abroad."

A grave concern, she says was "are things really as bad in America as newspapers tell us?"

Jill answers honestly, she says, that things are bad in some areas but not as dangerous as they would seem from reading the stories. The United States is a big place, she tells them.

"Basically, everywhere you go, people are interested in the United States. They want to know how the people live, how they work, about our modern conveniences," she explains.

Jill was born in Syracuse and lived in Fort Lauderdale before she became a stewardess with American Airlines several years ago. She has lived in New York City and now lives in California which she prefers because she can run around in shorts and bare feet, if she wishes. She prefers American men to Europeans, but she doesn't like men in New York City.

"But I'm glad that I lived in New York for awhile. I couldn't get along anywhere if I hadn't lived in New York. It taught me how to get along with people. You don't have to stand up for what is right and not be pushed around. I now know when I'm being taken."

Jill competed with stewardesses of 13 airlines of North and South America in a contest held in Uruguay.

"It's the second year a blonde from our airlines has been chosen," says Jill, who who deduces that "Latin men like blondes."

Bake-Off Finalist, Robert J. Ward, Amherst, helps 20-year-old Burma Ann Davis, Miss Georgia, blow out 20 candles to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Pillsbury-General Electric contest being held at the Regency Hotel in Atlanta, Ga. The range represents the 2,000th to be given to Bake-Off finalists by GE since the contest began.

Sometimes You Count Winners

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Counting your losers is a useful short cut when you play a hand at a trump contract. If you expect to ruff a few times, however, you will find that counting your winners will guide you more securely to the best line of play.

Bringing Up Baby.

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

CAN YOU REALLY "SPOIL" A BABY?

The way I look at it, a very young baby needs all the love and tenderness he (or she) can get. Cuddling, baby talk and all the rest help baby develop as a confident, sociable little being.

Later on, when baby gets around on all fours and investigates shelves and closets, you can temper tenderness with a firm "no" when necessary.

Situation under control. Suppose baby likes fruit to the exclusion of meat and vegetables. Why not serve the fruit afterward? Variety is so important in baby's diet—best to let him benefit from other foods first, then let him enjoy his favorite.

A tender story. Would you believe there's a special machine to measure the tenderness of peas? We use one at Gerber, before the peas are picked. When peas are fully ripe, they're shelled, iced and rushed to processing—six hours from field to plant.

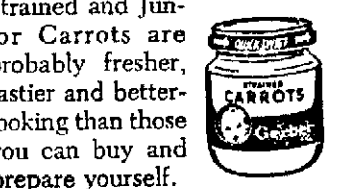

Toddler Sandwich Spread

Mix together 1/2 cup Gerber Strained or Junior Carrots and 2 Tbs. peanut butter. (Vary by adding raisins or bits of crisp bacon.) Good!

Know why Gerber Carrots are so good for your baby? Because carrots have the highest vitamin-A value of any baby vegetable. (Others high in this... Gerber Sweet Potatoes, Squash and Creamed Spinach.)

Dan Gerber on carrots. "The carrots used to make Gerber Strained and Junior Carrots are probably fresher, tastier and better-looking than those you can buy and prepare yourself."

"No 'green shoulders' on the carrots Gerber processes. Our agricultural team selects carrots that are high in vitamin-A value and natural sugar content... bright in color and free from bitterness."

Vegetables galore. From Gerber: 10 strained, 7 junior vegetables for their mineral and vitamin variety. Gerber has 127 nourishing foods... created especially for your baby. Gerber's Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan 49412.

Anti-Secrecy Law Backed By Knowles

Governor Tells City He Supports Open Meetings of Boards

Gov. Warren P. Knowles notified Appleton officials today he supports a bill introduced in the legislature which would make all meetings of school boards and their committees open to the public and press.

Recently, the city council went on record favoring such legislation and sent a copy of the resolution it passed to the governor.

Last year it was learned that under existing law, the board of education can hold meetings. "I believe strongly that the public's business should be conducted in public," Knowles wrote City Clerk Elden Broehm, adding that he supported the principles of Assembly Bill 85-A.

Drafted by Froehlich
The bill was drafted and submitted by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich (R-Appleton), along with David Martin (R-Neenah) and Ervin Conradt (R-Shiocton).

Knowles said as governor he has "become accustomed to living in a fishbowl" and is continually subject to public scrutiny.

"While not always a comfort—

Former State Bowling Association President, Melvin Wegner, Dies

Melvin O. "Bud" Wegner, 57, 1524 W. Spring St., former secretary of the Appleton Bowling Association and a past president of the Wisconsin State Bowling Association, died unexpectedly at his home this morning.

Wegner, who was employed by the Mueller Lumber Co. and Hahn's Lanes, served as secretary of the Appleton Bowling Association for over 20 years. He presently was a director of the Wisconsin State Bowling Association and an associate director of the Appleton Baseball Club.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Catholic Church with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call after 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral Home.

A 'Shocking' Suggestion

Student Smoking Parlors?

Kenneth Sager shocked fellow board of education members and the superintendent of schools Monday night.

He suggested putting smoking lounges in the high schools to help keep students from leaving the school grounds at noon to smoke in cars and on street corners. He cited excessive littering at residences near Appleton High School-West.

To groans from board of education members, he said, "It isn't so far-fetched."

"Let's recognize that this is the 20th century," he said. Supt. of Schools William Spears asked, "How can this possibly be compatible with a curriculum in health?"

"It's adult procrastination," he said. "It doesn't make any sense."

The board made no move to alter the policy which doesn't allow smoking by students on school grounds.

Charles Buchanan, board president, questioned whether lounges would deter youngsters from smoking and whether littering problems could justify such a solution. However, it's worthy of discussion, he added.

Sager contended adults have not done very well in preventing students from picking up bad habits.

"We're not saving their souls by not letting them smoke on school grounds," he said, adding that students may smoke because they are told they are restricted.

Sager, a Lawrence University instructor, admitted his proposal was "liberal" but he would try most anything to develop "an exciting educational program."

Spears said the no smoking policy was constantly being evaluated, and added there were several faculty and administration members involved in studies of drug, smoking and alcohol problems among students.

Sager added: "All these studies attack symptoms, not the causes."

Board member Victor Sumnicht questioned Sager on how he gauged the school's headway on directing youngsters down the proper path of living.

Sager offered no data but stuck to his feeling the present system was not working.

John Schneider, another board member, said: "I think this thing should be dropped like a hot potato."

Police have to vacate the existing station at Morrison and Washington streets by March 15

Town of Menasha Board Opposes County Assessor

MENASHA — The Menasha Town Board Monday night went from 59.4 per cent of full value on record as officially opposing for residential to 65 per cent for any move toward a county-wide assessor.

A county assessor was one of the recommendations of the Tarr Task Force in its report on reorganization of local government.

Town Chairman Roland Kampop cited statistics from the latest state report on assessment rates throughout Winnebago and Outagamie counties, which indicated that the Town of Menasha's variation between the three assessment classifications was lower than any of the surrounding municipalities.

The assessment ratio for the town, according to Kampop, ranged from 44.4 per cent of full value for residential to 51.5 for manufacturing property, resulting in a 7.1 per cent variation.

Compares Neighbors

"This is the best of any of the other municipalities," Kampop said, "and I think this shows that our two part-time assessors are doing a better job than some which have a full-time assessor."

The assessment ratio ranges from 59.4 per cent of full value on record as officially opposing for residential to 65 per cent for any move toward a county-wide assessor.

The range for the city of Menasha rates from 41.4 per cent for manufacturing to 52.5 per cent for mercantile. In the City of Neenah residential property owners are assessed at 90.4 per cent of recommended full value and manufacturing is assessed at 77.5 per cent.

The range in Oshkosh is from 36.1 per cent for manufacturing, to 53.7 for mercantile, while in Appleton manufacturing is assessed at 41.3 per cent and mercantile is at 53.4 per cent.

Cheap Taxes

Kampop's percentages applied against the tax rates for 1969 indicate that property taxes are manufacturing property, resulting in a 7.1 per cent variation.

An east side property owner with a home worth $20,000 would be paying about $338.51 according to Kampop's statistics. On the west side the same home would be taxed $413.36. In the town of Neenah the taxes would be $405.35.

In the four cities the same home would be taxed $552.42; $569.41 in Appleton; $583.80 in Neenah, and $608 in Oshkosh.

St. Mary High to Share Public School Courses

MENASHA — Over the opinion of its attorney that shared time might not be constitutional, the Menasha Board of Education agreed unanimously Monday to go ahead with the program between the high school and St. Mary High School.

One of the deciding factors against seeking more investigation was a statement by Rev. David Kiefer, administrator of the parochial school, that about 89 school districts in the state participate in some form of shared time.

Father Kiefer said he had learned the figure from the State Department of Public Instruction. At least 20 of the shared-time programs are on the high school level, he said.

The plan the board accepted for the 1969-70 school year was set up a special committee on a lesser scale than what Father Kiefer had originally proposed.

Father Kiefer had asked a couple months ago that students from Menasha attending the parochial facility be allowed to enroll in industrial arts, home economics, commercial courses and Spanish courses.

However, Father Kiefer requested last night that the board consider only industrial arts and home economics, since St. Mary's does teach the commercial courses and plans on moving into advanced Spanish.

That will make the commercial and Spanish courses available to St. Mary's students from both Neenah and Menasha, without requiring approval from the two public school boards.

Under the shared-time agreement, only St. Mary students living within the Menasha School District will be permitted to take the industrial arts and home economics courses. They won't be available to Neenah students at the parochial school unless the Neenah School Board approves a parallel shared-time setup.

The reason the commercial and Spanish courses are proposed, Father Kiefer said, is that frequently the classes are small in schools and the idea was to fill out classes from each public school, with St. Mary pupils.

The Neenah school board had first rejected shared time, but at its last meeting, decided to investigate it further.

The board asked Father Kiefer if future enrollments would demand more courses on shared time.

He said it is a possibility, but not "a great probability." He said the enrollment would probably not increase enormously. Besides, he added, the perogative of shared time would be up to the Menasha School Board.

City Atty. Richard Steffens, who told the board in a previous opinion that he couldn't tell the board what to decide, but had said shared time was "constitutionally doubtful," had also warned the board of the possibility of a taxpayers suit.

The suit could stop the program after it got started, causing a hardship in the students involved, he had said.

Father Kiefer said the school would be willing to take the risk. If the program was halted, he said, the students could most likely take other courses offered at the same times to get the necessary credits.

Board member Mrs. Fern Gaertner suggested the board set up a special committee comprised of board members and citizens at large to study the proposal further.

But Robert Bryan said he didn't think a further study would help and moved in favor of shared time.

Commissioner Robert Farrell said he thought Steffens had hit on several good points, but the difficulty was that the Supreme Court has never ruled on the constitutionality.

St. Mary attorney Ray Fink has reasoned that it should be legal unless proven otherwise in a court test.

Joint County, Twin Cities Plans Offered

Services Range From Street Work To Bridge Over Lake

NEENAH-MENASHA — In answer to a questionnaire from a county subcommittee, Neenah has suggested joint planning and construction efforts in phases of municipal services ranging from street paving to the Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge.

In a letter to the long-range planning subcommittee of the coordinating committee, Mayor Donald Hassler proposed county participation in several projects including:

- The railroad separation on Cecil Street.
- Improvement of Harrison Street south of Cecil Street in the event Harrison becomes a major access to U.S. 41.
- Replacement of the Main Street Slough bridge.
- Sharing space in a new city administration building.
- Countywide planning and/or facilities for solid waste disposal.
- Countywide planning and/or participation in sanitary sewer construction and treatment.
- Countywide consideration of possible water supply.
- Countywide participation in transportation studies.

In Menasha, Mayor John Klein said the one project that the city is seeking county help on is the Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge. A meeting is scheduled this afternoon to discuss other possible areas of joint projects involving Menasha.

Some of the Neenah projects are on the city's long-range capital improvements program but most have not progressed past the thinking stage.

Hassler said this morning, "We are just suggesting that planning should be coordinated on a countywide basis.

"Whether it is done on the county level or through regional or metropolitan planning districts does not really matter, but it should be coordinated," he added.

The long-range planning subcommittee, headed by Supv. Mrs. Virginia Nolan, Oshkosh, is investigating proposals from all municipalities in the county concerning possible cooperative projects that should be operated on a joint basis between the county and cities.

From the proposals submitted by the municipalities the subcommittee will set up a priority list.

Professor Speaks to Lions Affluence, Nuclear Threat Cited As Causes of Rebellious Youth

Attitudes and behavior of high school and collegiate youths were explained to the Appleton Lions Club Monday noon by Dr. Walter Peterson, history professor and librarian at Lawrence University.

"I think there is a generation gap," said Dr. Peterson, noting two main causes for the sometimes rebellious attitudes of young people.

First, he said, is "the ever-increasing rate of change in our society" which causes many youths to believe past mores of society are outdated and that future planning is futile.

"We are," he said, "in an age of affluence and of potential nuclear war," explaining that some youths "are beginning to feel time has run out." He said the accelerated pace of our society has forced changes in values.

ty tends to be proportionately greater than the rebellion shown by previous generations.

He said the affluence of our society, a product of our success, has created time for youth to focus attention on the failures of the society.

Three main steps for understanding youth were outlined by Dr. Peterson.

Dow Average Rises to 948.16; Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced moderately in active trading early this afternoon.

Trading opened at 11 a.m. EST—one hour late—because of New York City's snow emergency. It will close as usual at 2 p.m. under the schedule of shortened trading sessions in effect since Jan. 2. The New York and American exchanges were closed Monday because of the snowstorm.

The Dow Jones average at noon was up 0.31 at 948.16.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained 4 at 360.5 with industrials up 16, rails off 8 and utilities up .6.

Advances by individual stocks topped declines by nearly 200 issues on the New York exchange.

The Big Board's ticker tape fell two minutes behind in reporting floor transactions soon after the opening but quickly caught up.

A large number of big blocks crossed the tape.

Aircrafts, chemicals and oils were mostly higher. Steels, motors, rubbers, electronics and tobaccos were generally lower.

Boeing, American Cyanamid and Jersey Standard gained about a point. General Motors, Sears Roebuck and Reynolds Tobacco lost about a point.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Town in Favor Of Bulkhead Line

MENASHA — The Menasha Town Board Monday night decided it would start preliminary work to establish a bulkhead line on the east shore of Little Lake Butte des Morts.

The decision came after Richard Steidl who owns property on Lakeshore Drive asked permission to fill in about 4,600 square feet of land that had been washed away by the lake.

Before Steidl can start the filling, the board must establish a bulkhead line which will be subject to State Public Service Commission approval.

If the PSC gives its okay to what the town thinks the shore line should be, Steidl and other property owners can go ahead with extending the west line of their lots to the bulkhead.

Open Budget Talks Asked by School Board

Members Want Ideas From Community, Government Leaders

Before the board of education and school administration begins serious deliberation on the 1970 budget next summer, an informal discussion will allow leaders of community organizations, city officials and others to toss in suggestions on school budgeting.

Board member Mrs. Helen Heil, who made the proposal, described it as "one great big conversation" where the board and administration "listen" to ideas.

The board approved the plan, but delayed setting a date for the session.

Mrs. Heil suggested invitations be sent to presidents of organizations and city officials, but said it also should be open to the public.

Annual Criticism

The board and administration annually face sharp criticism from city officials and others of ever-growing budget requests.

"These people can express their viewpoints and indicate what they think we should be doing in spending," she said, noting this should give the board some budget direction.

"After the budget has been refined and before it goes to the fiscal control board, these people can be asked to help stimulate community interest," she added.

Board member Ronald Brownson agreed. "Let's try it this year; in past years, other methods have been a flop," he said.

In other business, the board agreed to allow Bibles to be made available in the principals' offices for any students who might want one at no charge. The Bibles will be made available at no charge by the Gideon Society, a group led by a Shawano board of education member.

"Common Practice"

Board members questioned the program, but Supt. of Schools William Spears said that "it's a common practice," noting this school district had done it before.

Charles Buchanan, board president, noted that Percy Menning, of Appleton, was withdrawing his offer to sell about five acres of land next to Einstein Junior High. Indicating the board of education had option on the land for several years, he said the Kimberly and Kaukauna school districts are facing high land prices because they had not secured land sooner for school sites.

On Ald. John Ayers' (12th) proposal that parochial schools consolidate, the board indicated it did not have jurisdiction over parochial schools. However, it agreed to ask the city council's school advisory committee to get more information on the intent of the proposal.

The board went into a closed executive session following the regular meeting to confer with its professional negotiator on the teacher contract bargaining situation.

police chief, the superintendent of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency 8 and the county board chairman, as an ex officio member.

Clarence Brownson, county highway commissioner, said that according to state officials, federal reimbursement for highway-related projects depends on the endorsement by the state coordinator of highways.

"We must cooperate with the state coordinator," he said.

"These additional people are the technical help the state feels is needed (in the highway safety program)," he added.

Further Study

Supv. Nick Karras, Appleton, moved to refer the proposal of the county board's executive committee back for further study.

"It boils down to a cost factor," he said, noting the county should know whether the additional federal reimbursement offsets the added per diem cost of the new commission.

Many supervisors were critical of paying salaried county officials for the night meetings of the commission, noting these

Grant for Elderly

Housing Application Higher on HUD List

Appleton's application for a grant for housing for the elderly "is higher on the list than it was," but impatient city officials said Monday they didn't have the slightest idea where.

The request for a grant was submitted nearly two years ago and Appleton Housing Authority members have called upon the Wisconsin congressional delegation to expedite approval.

The latest to respond was Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., in a letter received by Mayor George Buckley Monday.

Nelson said about two weeks ago he told the mayor he would check into the status of the Appleton application.

"Today the Department of Housing and Urban Development advises me that the economic market analysis has not been made, but should be shortly, hopefully in the next couple of weeks or so," Nelson said in his letter dated Feb. 7.

"They (HUD) tell me the Appleton application is higher on the list than it was," Nelson said.

In the meantime, it was learned that a representative of the HUD regional office in Chicago is in the area gathering data.

Unsolicited Recommendations And in addition to a special housing authority subcommittee, there are others who are starting to make unsolicited recommendations on where a housing project should be located.

No site has been chosen and City Planner Jack Hetu says he has not been asked by anyone whether the comprehensive plan lists any recommended areas for high-rise housing.

bridge expansion and discussed the effect the proposed Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge will have on Menasha and on the Outagamie County Airport traffic.

The committee will meet with representatives from Neenah and Menasha to plan action regarding the proposed Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge.

The representatives also will examine bridge expansion needs at the Ninth Avenue bridge in Menasha.

John Hennessy was named chairman of the committee.

The committee also named subcommittees to be responsible for highway aids, legislation, and routing of highway systems.

The panel discussed highway conditions in Outagamie County and legislation about the proposed highways which is pending in the state Assembly.

vious action of approving purchase of the Automotive building.

Earlier, Mayor George Buckley told Thompson, Bethke and Huismann to "quit fighting Gimbels."

Voted Against

It was also noted that Thompson originally had voted against the Automotive acquisition when it passed the council earlier in the month. However, last week the council voted to reconsider its action when Huismann had the matter referred back for more study.

Ayers repeatedly said he could not understand why some aldermen in the room still opposed the Automotive purchase after firm renovation figures had been presented them.

He charged aldermen, who are asked for more studies, with delaying the move of the police department and putting the Gimbels construction start in jeopardy.

Buckley and Ayers had been in contact with a spokesman for the group which was instrumental in getting the New York-based firm to build a store in downtown Appleton, and said they were advised it would not be prudent to ask for an extension of time for moving out of the police station at Morrison and Washington Streets.

Suggests Extension

But Bethke, who says he favors putting the police department in the old city home as a temporary measure, touched off more fireworks when saying he was sure that if Gimbels was called, the city could get an extension to keep the police department in the existing building through March or April.

"This is no time to be asking for any extension," Buckley declared. "You have to keep in mind that construction costs are increasing and any delay in the Gimbels project is just delaying the addition to the city's retail and tax base that much longer."

Ayers had strong reaction to Bethke's suggestion, declaring, "You're playing with dynamite on this Gimbels project and I want no part of any delay whatsoever."

Consider Community

Ayers told Bethke he should consider what the Gimbels store addition will mean to the entire community.

"The city should be thankful Gimbels decided to come in here," Ayers said in a raised voice. "It's good for everyone and everything. Just think how the city will be benefit in taxes alone."

"Gimbels should be pretty damn happy with the deal it got on buying that police station," able arrangement, it is, I believe, appropriate for a public official to be fully accountable for his activities," Knowles declared.

Knowles assured Appleton officials he would give the bill his signature when it came to him.

Anti-Secrecy Law

The proposed legislation would put school boards and other municipal committees under the provisions of Wisconsin's anti-secrecy law.

It is not known what effect the bill will have on the policy of the Appleton Board of Education and Appleton Teachers Association to keep current salary and contract negotiations secret and closed to the press and public.

Bishop Alton to Talk Nationwide

Madison — The Rev. Ralph Taylor Alton, bishop of the Wisconsin Area United Methodist Church, will be the featured speaker on a nationwide broadcast in the cause of reconciliation, which will be aired in Appleton at 8:05 p.m. Thursday over WAPL-FM.

Bishop Alton, formerly pastor of First United Methodist Church, Appleton, will speak on the theme "Which Side?" which will be carried by 160 radio stations throughout the nation and will be heard by about one million people attending United Methodist dinners in 5,000 locations.

The 25-minute program will be a principle feature of the reconciliation dinners whose chief purpose is to "express and demonstrate the role of the church in the contemporary crises as an agent of reconciliation."

The dinners are part of the church's quadrennial emphasis on "A New Church for a New World."

Zoning Policy Hearing Gets Board Okay

Committee Asks for Full Administrative Responsibilities

Outagamie County board members this morning authorized the zoning committee to hold a public hearing on whether the committee should be given decision-making authority of zoning policy.

After the public hearing, the committee is expected to come in with a recommendation. Under its tentative proposal, the zoning committee would take over zoning administration duties from the zoning board of adjustment.

The committee indicated that "it was the only logical committee to be charged with administrative responsibilities." Under the present system, the board of adjustments also determines zoning policy.

Supv. George Kroes, Town of Vandenbroek, chairman of the adjustment board, said, "We are willing to yield (this responsibility)."

He commented that under the old system, the board of appeals had as much work as the zoning committee.

He said that since the zoning committee can handle policy decisions in regular meetings, it may cost the county less under this new system.

The zoning committee would administer ordinances on zoning, airport zoning, sanitary ordinances and shoreland ordinances, if the county board eventually adopts the proposal.

to make way for a multi-million dollar department store project.

Following the presentation of estimates Monday, Wolff and Gosch agreed it would take less than $15,000 to satisfy the department's relocation needs.

However, Aids Glenn Thompson (13th), James Bethke (9th), Richard Huismann (1st) and William Wachendonk (3rd) still were skeptical after receiving a detailed explanation. They said they wanted more information and more time to study reports.

Wants No Delay

Buckley appointed the ad hoc committee to prepare a report for the board of public works and city council, the mayor taking the position that any delay in getting the police department out of its present building would also hold up the department store project.

Other buildings considered and inspected were: the old city home on Spencer Street, city-owned Congregational Church which will be in the Oneida Street bridge right-of-way route, old McKinley school, Badger Printing Co. building on Washington Street and vacant Van Steen Ford building on Washington Street.

The Outagamie Courthouse annex also was asked to be considered, but city officials got a firsthand report it will continue to house state offices, except the Social Security Administration staff.

Back to Board

Huismann said he had referred the matter of buying the Automotive building back to the board of public works because he heard reports part of the city hall lawn, located across the street, would be blacktopped for police department parking.

Ayers said this would not be the case, declaring the city could not afford such a project. Owners of the Automotive Building said in addition to would suit the department's parking next to the building, they would offer further parking basis.

New Construction Starts in January Total $159,000

New construction starts in Appleton during January amounted to a low $159,019.

The monthly report was released today by Charles Magnette, director of inspections.

In January, 1968, the city issued $213,837 in new construction permits.

Officials are blaming the severe winter for last month's poor showing.

The bulk of building permits were for four commercial properties, $37,300, and six new homes, $101,000.

facilities without charge at a nearby lot they own.

Huismann, along with Bethke and Thompson, also contended the city should not buy any more property. They claimed there is too much city-owned property presently off the tax rolls.

"When we originally came in with our 'baseball park' estimate, it shook everybody up," Inspector Gosch commented at one point. He said the revised figures for relocating represented the barest necessities by which the department could get along in a temporary headquarters.

Not Explained

Wolff added that he never had been given a chance to explain the cuts which could be made in his original building renovation estimates and suggestions.

"The city home was good enough for people to live in a few months ago," exclaimed Bethke. "I believe it is good enough for the police department."

Ald. Ralph Gertsch (19th), chairman of the commerce-industrial development committee, injected that the city had three prospective buyers for the old building and about two acres of land.

The several department heads attending the meeting reported they had inspected several buildings over the weekend.

Wolff also said he had previously considered other locations but felt the Automotive Building would suit the department's needs the best on a temporary basis.

UW Protesters Careful Not to Provoke Police

MADISON (AP) — Angry Negro students and their white sympathizers, being careful not to provoke riot-trained police, boycotted University of Wisconsin classes Monday without achieving their goal of closing down the school.

They scheduled more rallies and picketing today in efforts to gain support for a list of 13 Negro demands, including creation of an autonomous Negro studies department at the university.

Ranks of the demonstrators swelled to about 3,000 at times Monday, or less than one-tenth of the 34,000-student enrollment, which includes about 500 Negroes.

Several Rallies

Protesters held several rallies, picketed classrooms throughout the day, then marched down State Street at night and circled the state capitol before dispersing.

There were no arrests.

At one point during the evening rally, the university administration was burned in effigy at a statue of Abraham Lincoln as Negro leaders spoke nearby.

"Just as this effigy burns and crumbles," a Negro youth said, "so must the racist spirit of the university if it hopes to survive."

At his suggestion, demonstrators then strolled about eight blocks to the capitol with leaders cautioning the crowd to avoid clashes with police.

Meanwhile, a group of about 50 students launched a separate sit-in in the administrative office of the Sociology Building in protest over the refusal of the university to renew the contract of Professor Michael Faia, who had been criticized for his practice of giving only "A" or "F" grades to his students.

The sit-in, not affiliated with the Negro-demands campaign, did not encounter noticeable opposition from the university administration.

Students engaged in the Negroes' campaign similarly were getting a stand-off reaction from administrators while showing signs of respecting officials' warnings about suspension or expulsion should classrooms be disrupted as they were Friday during a march of about 500 students.

About 200 policemen and sheriff's deputies, many of them veterans of a bloody campus antiwar demonstration in October, 1967, were among those rushed to the campus by bus early Monday when it appeared the demonstrators might seek to disrupt university functions.

Protesters interrupted classes Friday, and had sought to disrupt a Wisconsin-Ohio State basketball game Saturday until they were repulsed by police at the doors of the campus field-house.

Police arrived on campus with helmets and riot sticks, but kept them out of sight as they stood guard at entrances to classroom buildings.

"We don't want to do anything to provoke the students," an officer said.

Leaders of the protest cautioned followers repeatedly to guard against provoking police. They issued leaflets outlining what they should say and do if arrested.

Chanting "on strike, shut it down," the picketers left a rally in Memorial Union and trooped to Bascom Hill to parade with their placards before classroom buildings.

Chancellor H. Edwin Young, who warned that disruptions would not be tolerated, issued a statement in which he said that "no one who talks about shutting down a university can convince me that the welfare and advancement of black people is his foremost concern."

Captor Killed After Holding Teen-Age Girl

lins got off a single shot from his .22-caliber weapon.

Police Sgt. L. C. Tidwell said it was about 11 a.m. when he stopped Mullins and a companion, Richard Lauderdale, to check their driver's licenses.

As the licenses were handed back, Tidwell related, Mullins pulled a gun and both youths jumped from their car and ran. Two warning shots from Tidwell halted Lauderdale but Mullins dashed into the cafeteria nearby.

Janie's mother, Mrs. C. S. Lewis from the neighboring town of Forney, told officers that the tall youth in a black leather jacket grabbed her daughter as they stood in line awaiting food service.

The long vigil followed. Limer and others talked to Mullins time and again trying to persuade him to release his hostage. Officers said he never gave a motive for holding her or voiced any conditions for freeing her.

"We felt he wouldn't let her go without hurting her," said the police chief, who said he offered to trade places with Miss Lewis but Mullins would not permit him to do so.

At one point, spectators on one edge of the crowd scattered as a car decorated with paper flowers tried to break through rope barricades.

Its driver, a young girl, told police she knew Mullins and had driven a long way to help him. Her help was refused.

California's Oil Slick Bird Crisis Long Way From Over

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Most of the oil slick off the California coast has broken up but it will be a long time before the bird crisis is over.

Cormorants, ducks, gulls, sandpipers and loons still are dying from oil poisoning despite volunteer and professional efforts to save them.

Three bird-rescue stations reported Monday 1,053 birds brought in since a well on the ocean floor started leaking two weeks ago. Of this number, 297 have died.

Uncounted hundreds more have been found dead on the beaches, their feathers blackened with crude oil, their eyes inflamed, their intestines burned with a purgative far more toxic than castor oil.

The runaway well spewed more than 200,000 gallons of oil into Santa Barbara Channel and along about 30 miles of Pacific Ocean beaches before it was plugged Saturday. The slick once extended over 800 square miles.

The main body of the slick was broken up by winds, waves and chemical dispersants, but great patches also soaked into the sandy beaches, said Paul De Falco, regional director of the U.S. Air and Water Pollution Control Administration.

"The oil still at sea should come ashore in the next week or so," De Falco said.

Round-the-clock efforts continued to suck up the remaining oil with pump boats or to soak it up with tons of straw or similar materials.

Until the ocean and beaches can be cleared of this slime—a task that may take weeks—the slicks remain a trap for wide-winged birds that dive for fish or the long-legged ones that scour the surf for crabs and clams.

Bird Laundries

The rescue stations are bird laundries where the feathered unfortunates are washed in oil-dissolving agents, hand-dried and kept in warm pens.

Upon arrival, the birds are fed butter to cleanse their mouths and crops, and act as a purgative to rid them of poisonous oil. After being cleaned they are put in the sunshine and encouraged to preen.

One station is at the Child's Estate Zoo here, where volunteer townspeople under the direction of Dr. Waldo G. Abbot, curator of birds and mammals at the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History, brave buffeting wings and pecking beaks in a labor of mercy.

At two other stations in nearby Carpinteria and Goleta, similar salvage is under way under the guidance of agents of the State Department of Fish and Game and employees of Union Oil Co., operator of the leaking well.

One problem: Laundered birds can't be put back in the sea right away, says a Fish and Game man, because "they'd sink like a rock. They have no natural oil on their feathers." Experts aren't sure how long it will take this oil to return, but think it might be months until the next moult.

Strange Sight Greets Policeman at Accident

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A county policeman was directing traffic around two wrecked cars Monday when he noticed a familiar vehicle pass by.

It was his patrol car. Patrolman Marvin L. Starnes said he had placed the driver of one of the wrecked cars in his patrol car while he directed traffic and waited for a new truck. The police car was recovered about 3 miles away, but the driver was gone.

Nixon Zeros in on Bank Holding Firms

Legislation Aims to Control Business Empire Conglomerates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call could reduce government revenue. Besides the Ways and Means Committee, the Federal Communications and Trade commissions plan separate looks into the conglomerates as does the House antitrust subcommittee.

Warn Against Growth

The House Banking and Currency Committee issued a 383-page report Monday warning against the growth of one-bank holding companies. No legislation was proposed, but the committee chairman, Texas Democrat Wright Patman, is expected to propose his own bill next week.

The Treasury Department source said the legislation now being written would set down strict boundaries for one-bank holding companies, compelling them to stick to financial activities instead of branching into manufacturing or other fields.

Under the Bank Holding Act of 1956, a company holding 25 per cent interest in two or more banks was barred from control of any nonbanking concern.

But companies holding a single bank were left unregulated. This loophole has allowed conglomerates to take over one bank while at the same time allowing single banks to set up their own holding company which would take control of the original bank and move into any areas it wished.

The Banking and Currency Committee report said these one-bank firms have the potential to "radically change the entire economic structure of the United States by the creation of giant conglomerate cartels around large banking institutions."

Wisconsin's Health
Blood Analysis May Provide Signals to Detect Diseases
BY E. H. JORRIS, M. D., State Health Officer
Many diseases which affect mankind may sooner or later become evident in the blood. At times this only happens after obvious physical symptoms, have developed. In other cases evidence is found in the blood before physical symptoms appear. A third possibility, which interests physicians, is that a detectable condition of the blood indicates a disease not yet present which may be prevented by proper treatment. An example is a high cholesterol level in the blood which, if treated, may prevent the later development of disease of the heart or blood vessels.
Routine Testing
It seems obvious that routine testing of the blood of apparently well people will contribute to finding so that treatment may be effective. Automation has provided a method for mass screening of blood specimens. A mechanical analyzer, the multi-channel auto-analyzer, can quickly analyze blood samples at a relatively low cost with a high degree of accuracy. This equipment can operate at up to 60 blood samples per hour with 12 separate tests on each sample. The State Division of Health has such an autoanalyzer.

The 12 blood tests performed by the autoanalyzer include the blood cholesterol level, uric acid level as an indication of gout, blood sugar level as an indication of diabetes, and other tests that may indicate the possibility of heart, kidney, liver disease and certain kinds of cancer.
The autoanalyzer, when used in a mass testing program, is a screening device and not diagnostic, however. It performs a screening function by pointing to the possibility of disease or pre-disease conditions which must be rechecked and evaluated by the person's physician for a positive diagnosis. Positive findings are sent to the physician named at the time the blood sample is drawn at the screening center.
Blood chemistry tests will be limited at the present time to persons approaching or exceeding age 40 as a part of the screening program offered by the Division of Health in their mobile units. Notices of scheduled visits to state communities are made through the local news media.

The Basketball Appears to be emitting a glow in the hands of the nation's leading college scorer, Pete Maravich of Louisiana State, who moves in for a bucket against Tulane at New Orleans Monday night. Closing in on Maravich is Harold Sylvester (33), Tulane. Maravich doesn't actually possess any supernatural powers as the glow is from a flashgun, however he did manage to score 66 points to break the all-time Southeastern Conference record. But LSU Loses

Maravich Goes on 66-Point Spree

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pistol Pete Maravich shot up Tulane but when the smoke had cleared, it was Louisiana State that came out full of bullet holes.

Maravich set a Southeastern Conference scoring record Monday night, pumping in 66 points but Tulane overcame the one-man show for a 110-94 victory over LSU.

Elsewhere, second-ranked North Carolina and fourth-rated Kentucky—only teams in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action Monday—moved to easy victories.

North Carolina bombed North Carolina State 85-62 and Kentucky rolled past Mississippi State 91-69. In other games, Georgia Tech walloped Air Force 88-67. Duke downed Maryland 93-83. Georgia took Alabama 87-78. Florida edged Vanderbilt 75-73 and Tennessee beat Mississippi 61-45.

Also, it was South Carolina 106-79 over Clemson, Colorado 92, Oklahoma 69, Kansas 45-41 over Oklahoma State, Creighton 94, Oklahoma City 80, The Citadel 79-77 over Virginia Military, Seattle over Portland U. 107-63 and Southern Miss over Spring Hill 110-79.

Balace Brings Win

Tulane's balanced attack led by Johnny Arthurs, Terry Habig and Bob Spurck overcame Maravich's scoring spree and enabled the Green Wave to beat LSU.

Arthurs had 29 points, Habig

26 and Spurck 17 as Tulane shot 56 per cent from the floor.

Maravich, playing on a bad knee and a sore ankle, sank 25 field goals and 16 of 20 free throws, shattering the SEC single game record of 60 scored by Bob Pettit of LSU against Louisiana College during the 1953-54 season.

The 66 points were seven more than Maravich had ever scored before. The floppy-haired junior is the national scoring leader with a 43 point-per-game average.

North Carolina scored 10 straight points early in the game to sprint in front of N.C. State and opened a 39-21 lead by halftime.

Charlie Scott and Bill Bunting led the Tar Heels to their 18th victory in 19 starts. Scott had 22 points and Bunting 21. Joe Serdich hit 26 for N.C. State.

Dan Issel's 26 points led four Kentucky double-figure scorers and the Wildcats rode a fast start to their easy victory over Mississippi State. Issel had 26 points, Mike Casey 18, and Larry Steele and Phil Argento added 13 apiece.

Manuel Washington led Mississippi State with 30 points.

Randy Denton, a 6-foot-10, 240-pound sophomore, scored 30 points and pulled down 10 rebounds leading Duke to its sixth straight victory over Maryland.

Will Hetzel hit 23 and Mickey Wales 21 for the losers.

Hayes Still Top Scorer; Wilt No. 19

NEW YORK (AP) — Elvin Hayes of San Diego is the National Basketball Association's scoring leader. That's old hat. But what about that new guy in 19th place—Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles

Chamberlain scored 66 points Sunday night against Phoenix—a season high for the league—and cracked the top 20 for the first time in about two months, with 1,209 points for a 20.5 average, according to NBA statistics released today.

Hayes leads the scoring parade with 1,793 points for a 30.0 average. Bob Rule of Seattle is second with 1,473 and 23.8, followed by Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati with 1,465 and 26.2 and Earl Monroe of Baltimore with 1,441 and 24.8

Chamberlain leads in rebounds, 1,233, and field goal percentage, .580, while Robertson leads in assists, 531, and Larry Siegfried of Boston is tops in foul shooting percentage, .878.

Registers First 1969 Sturgeon

Gordon Schwartz, Rt. 1, New Holstein, has registered the first sturgeon of the 1969 Lake Winnebago spearing season.

Schwartz registered his 42-inch, 14-pound fish Monday afternoon at Pipe. He speared the sturgeon at Calumet harbor.

Final Standings

1—Mineral Point 11-0; 2—Richland Center, 11-0; 3—Racine Park, 10-0; 4—Iowa-Grant, 14-0; 5—Watertown, 13-0; 6—Amery, 9-2; 7—New Richmond, 11-2; 8—Portage, 10-1; 9—Stoughton, 12-1; 10—Franklin, 12-1; 11—Wisconsin Rapids, 11-1; 12—Pulaski, 10-1; 13—Milwaukee Washington, 12-0; 14—South Milwaukee, 11-1; 15—Hortonville, 10-1; 16—Auburndale and Valders, 10-0 tied.

Fans Stay Home

Three New York Rangers players, stranded in the snow on the way to the city Sunday night, missed the National Hockey League game against Philadelphia—only about one third of the 17,250 ticket holders showed up—but finally arrived at 2 a.m., Monday.

The Rangers, who stayed in a midtown hotel after the game, scheduled practice at a suburban rink today and then hoped to board an afternoon flight to Oakland—provided the logjam at the airport is broken.

Purdue, virtually unbeatable at home, has fared well on the road this season. In addition to Northwestern, Wisconsin and Minnesota are numbered among Purdue's victims on the road.

While the spotlight is on the Purdue - Ohio State game tonight, two other contenders will be in action. Illinois is at Michigan and Iowa (3-3) takes on Northwestern at Iowa City.

In still another Big Ten game, Wisconsin is at Minnesota while nonconference action finds Michigan State at Notre Dame.

That will mark the final outside game of the regular season for Big Ten teams who hold a 67-31 edge over intersectional foes.

MADISON (AP) — Mineral Point High School, with a 11-0 record, heads the final Sweet 16 Wisconsin prep wrestling ratings for the 1969 season.

Final standings were reported today by the State Wrestling Coaches Association.

The Pointers, season-long leaders of the poll, completed their campaign last weekend by beating Iowa-Grant, the state's 4th ranked team, 95-88, in the Southwestern Wisconsin Athletic League tourney.

Richland Center and Racine Park continued in the No. 2 and 3 spots in the final ratings.

Prep wrestling interest now will center on regional meets this week, followed by sectionals that lead up to the state tournament in Madison Feb. 28-March 1.

Final ratings:

1—Mineral Point 11-0; 2—Richland Center, 11-0; 3—Racine Park, 10-0; 4—Iowa-Grant, 14-0; 5—Watertown, 13-0; 6—Amery, 9-2; 7—New Richmond, 11-2; 8—Portage, 10-1; 9—Stoughton, 12-1; 10—Franklin, 12-1; 11—Wisconsin Rapids, 11-1; 12—Pulaski, 10-1; 13—Milwaukee Washington, 12-0; 14—South Milwaukee, 11-1; 15—Hortonville, 10-1; 16—Auburndale and Valders, 10-0 tied.

Bays, Browns Again Set Exhibition

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packer executive committee "will have some informal meetings this week" to consider selection of a successor to the departing Vince Lombardi as general manager, Packer President Dominic Olejniczak indicated Monday.

He said, however, that no date had been set.

Head Coach Phil Bengtson and Tom Miller, assistant to Lombardi the last three years, are believed to be the leading candidates, although the Los Angeles Rams' Elroy Hirsch also has received considerable mention.

The Packers again will take part in the annual pre-season doubleheader at Cleveland, it was announced today. The Packers will meet the Browns in the nightcap of the twin bill, scheduled Saturday night, Aug. 30. The Chicago Bears will face the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League in the first game, which will match the Bears' Gale Sayers, with the Bills' O. J. Simpson.

Lombardi, about whom rumors have incessantly swirled in recent weeks, has clarified the record on at least one pertinent point.

Speaking at a press conference in Milwaukee prior to Sunday night's Wisconsin chapter, Professional Football Writers Association dinner in Milwaukee, he confirmed the report that several baseball owners had contacted him about his possible interest in becoming baseball commissioner before he accepted the Redskins' offer.

"Naturally, I was flattered and gave it some serious thought," Lombardi said. "But two weeks ago, I made the decision to stick with my first love, football. I always loved baseball. However, football is the name of the game for me."

"Football has been my life for 30 years. I couldn't just cast it aside, although the baseball post was very tempting. Of course, no one knows whether I would have been accepted."

Another former Packer coach, Gene Ronzani, made one of his first public appearances since recent heart surgery and received a substantial round of applause at the banquet.

Ronzani, down to a trim 197 pounds, reported, "I feel pretty good. . . I've lost about 35 or 40 pounds."

Phil Esposito Closing in on Scoring Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Phil Esposito is closing in on the alltime National Hockey League point scoring record and could become the first player in history to score more than 100 points in a season.

Esposito, the shifty Bruins' center, picked up nine points in four games last week, running his season's total to 87—14 more than Detroit's Gordie Howe, who is in second place in the scoring race.

The 87 points match the total Chicago's Stan Mikita had when he won the scoring title last year. And Esposito has 23 games remaining in which to top the one season record of 97 shared by Mikita and teammate Bobby Hull.

Esposito also has 53 assists and had a good shot at shattering Mikita's record of 62 for a season.

Mikita, fourth in the scoring race behind Esposito, Howe and Hull, has 69 points including 50 assists. Howe shows 29 goals and 44 assists for 73 points while Hull is 34-37—71.

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"We're real happy so far," Neenah Cage Coach Ron Einerson admits, "but we know it's far from over."

"It" is the Rockets' struggle to gain the Fox River Valley Conference championship, and you can't blame Einerson for adding the note of caution. With a narrow, 1-game lead to protect down the stretch, his club faces its greatest challenge of the season in upcoming games against Manitowoc, Green Bay West and Green Bay East.

The Rockets, who last Friday climaxed a surge back into sole possession of first place in the FRVC, grabbed a share of the limelight with rated powers Kimberly and Appleton Xavier in recent Fox Cities hardcourt action.

While Neenah was taking over the top spot with a 72-56 triumph over Preble on the road, the state's No. 3-rated Papermakers and the No. 4-ranked Hawks were cementing their grips on first-place in their respective leagues with runaway victories.

Kimberly became the first team in the Fox Cities to go over 100 points in a game this season as it rattled Kaukauna, 111-64. Jack Wippich's charges have now won nine straight contests in the Mid-Eastern Conference and 15 in succession overall.

4 Are Over 20

The display of Papermaker scoring prowess was heightened by the fact that four starters collected over 20 points apiece and the fifth tossed in 15. Jeff Wildenberg's 25 was tops.

Xavier tucked away its 14th and 15th consecutive Fox Valley Catholic Conference wins and assured itself of the loop title at the same time in pasting St. Mary, 89-38, and then Marinette Catholic Central, 84-46. Coach Gene (Torchy) Clark's quintet remains unbeaten through 19 games overall, with one regular season start against Little Chute St. John left Sunday.

Xavier stretched its offensive average to 77.1 points per game in the twin triumphs. Mike Clark was the pace-setting Hawk with 39 points, including 20 against Marinette.

Neenah has its own winning skein to boast — a 5-game tie that has come on the heels of the Rockets' only two losses of the season. The Rockets now stand 13-2 for the year, 11-2 in the league competition.

"When we lost the two games to Green Bay West and Green Bay East back-to-back," Einerson recalls, "we made a lineup change. We're not big in center at all now, but we run better and we handle the ball better than we did before. This helps our running game."

The starting group of Rockets is comprised of 6-3 Tom Kopitzke and 5-11 John Arpin at the forwards, 6-1 Tom Koepke at center, and 5-11 Pat Hawley and 5-9 Tom Ponto at the guards. The key reserve is 6-7, 240-pound junior Jim Hoelzel.

GREEN BAY (AP) — One of the first steps by coach Phil Bengtson in the absence of Vince Lombardi was to get star tackle Forrest Gregg back on the Green Bay Packer payroll.

Gregg, 35, after 12 years as an offensive lineman with the National Football League club, was hired Monday as an assistant coach. He had retired as a player Jan. 23.

Bengtson announced his hiring of Gregg, but did not outline specific duties, although it appeared Gregg would be filling vacancy that had existed while Lombardi was Packer general manager.

Gregg expressed delight that he is staying in Green Bay. Lombardi, who quit the club a week ago to join the Washington Redskins, had praised Gregg, and said in way of compliment that it was too bad agreements prevented his taking Gregg with him to Washington.

"I've had a long and wonderful relationship with Green Bay," Gregg said. "My family and I both like Wisconsin, and I'm happy that we'll be able to remain in the state."

Gregg, noting that Bengtson hadn't formally outlined his new duties, said he presumes he will be assigned to the offense.

He is a former Southern Methodist standout who joined Green Bay in 1956.

Lombardi had hinted Sunday at a Milwaukee farewell dinner that Gregg would be remaining in Green Bay.

He called Gregg "a player's player, a coach's player."

"And some day," he added, "a great coach. And I just hoped I could take him with me."

One of the stipulations reportedly involved in the Packers' release of Lombardi is that he won't raid the Green Bay roster during his search for Redskins personnel.

In Washington, Lombardi was busy Monday beginning a reconstruction of the Redskins staff.

The former Packer boss said he had hired one of his former assistants, Bill Austin.

Pittsburgh fired Austin as coach last season after a three-year record of 11 victories and 28 defeats.

Austin becomes Washington's offensive line coach, a position he held in Green Bay under Lombardi from 1959-64. He played offensive guard under Lombardi with the New York Giants prior to that.

Billy Casper Belongs With Golfing Elite

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Okay, mom, throw another buffalo on the fire! Defrost the rhinoceros. See if the guys want their yak meat medium or well done. Fry up an eagle.

Or, maybe, you'd all rather have some leftover mountain lion? How about roast leg of hippopotamus? Are we all out of zebra stew?

Billy Casper, the last of the buffalo eaters, the only man in the world who habitually eats like a lion — literally — won his 42nd golf tournament down here, his eighth in the last 13 months, and is well on his way to another $200,000 a year.

Splits Fairway
Billy played the round of golf Sunday you never play till your head hits the pillow — you know, where every drive splits the fairway, every shot, the pin. It came out a 66, but Billy was putting in some bad luck. The birdie putts he missed by leaving the ball in the lip of the cup wouldn't have totaled more than 30 inches all together. One more turn of the ball on seven holes and Casper might have shot the finest round of golf since Sam Snead broke 60.

Billy plays the game like a man running for a train. Some guys stand over a shot until spider webs begin to form. Billy just waits for the ball to stop rolling. He goes down the fairway like a guy getting out of town in front of a lynch mob.

He is so good with a putter, he could eat spaghetti with it. If it were on his diet, that is. The only spaghetti he'd be able to eat would be with noodles made out of dinosaur eggs.

Vagrant or 2
It is the conceit of the world of golf that their game belongs to Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, with an occasional seat at the table, set for a vagrant or two now and then. But the bare facts of the matter are that, by any yardstick — tournaments won, recently or historically, scores shot, greens and fairways reached in regulation — no one currently plays the game of golf better than Casper.

No one hits the ball straighter, or less often, or with more minimum of fuss. It is time the game recognizes he is a superb striker of the ball — and not just a putt. He went 48 hours without a bogey here. If he gets any better, he may go 48 tournaments. He hasn't missed a cut since several presidents ago.

The golf courses down here are kind of painted strumpets. You'd have to get close before you see the crows feet, the varicose veins, and the skin blemishes, and realize that their challenges are mainly cosmetic.

The 14th hole at Indian Wells is a case in point. On the card, it's listed as a par five. It is a lie. A playable lie. The pros play it for a 3. Nicklaus habitually hits a 5 iron to its green for his second shot.

Casper could see right through the lipstick, the boa feathers, and the dusting powder of this old bawd. He had just passed a "leader board" which told him that his principal competitor, Art Wall, was one shot behind.

Pauses Briefly
Billy ran up behind his tee shot, paused briefly for it to stop moving, to snatch a four wood out of the bag, stepped up, waited till his body stopped rocking, then slammed it into the middle of the green, 18 feet from the hole. He rolled the putt in so easily that you had the feeling he could have done it left-handed. It was an eagle 3.

Wall knew what he had to do. Art's boldness cost him not only first place, but, ultimately, second and third. Some $7,000 lay scattered around that tree.

Casper saved the tournament some embarrassment. The next several players in contention, save Wall, contained such household names as "Jack Montgomery," "Dave Hill," and "Orville Moody." Since they had Spiro T. Agnew making the award, Casper spared the country having to ask, on TV, "Which one's Spiro Agnew?" This way, it came out: "Who's that guy up there with Casper?"

By $2,000
The Mormon church is richer by $2,000, since Billy tithes, right down to the 1 dollar Nassus he wins with his friends. But there wasn't anybody in the first 10 of this tournament that National Distillers was pulling for. With Casper, Wall, Littler, Charles and Beard, carting home the money, the topless joints would have to look elsewhere for their ringside customers.

Only three guys were under par for all five rounds of this tournament — Casper, Wall, and Bobby Nichols. For day-in, day-out ability to play the game the way the Scots intended when they invented it — for ability to bring a golf course to its knees on a final round when pins are cut everywhere but the top of trees — I think it's time the game began to squeeze the portraits of steam, Hogan, Nicklaus, Palmer, Player and Cotton, to make room for the quiet churchman from San Diego, William Earl Casper, Jr., gentleman, scholar, and fine judge of good putts. To say nothing of four woods.

Fights Last Night
PITTSBURGH — Joe King, 139, Akron, Ohio, outpointed Leroy Youngblood, 140, Charleroi, Pa., 6; Billy Morris, 265, Uniontown, Pa., stopped Gene Hunt, 195, Akron, Ohio, 2.

At Appleton East

Bill Radke has been named athletic director at Appleton East High School, effective with the 1969-70 school year. He succeeds Keith Kohlman, who announced his resignation recently.

Radke is a graduate of Oshkosh High School and Oshkosh State University. While attending OSU, he was a basketball teammate of Kimberly's Jack Wippich and Appleton West's Gene Vandenberg. Radke served four years in the Navy. Radke coached basketball at Wilson Junior High School, and some of the players under his direction became AHS stars. They include Marty Schultz, Brian Bock, Bruce Miller and Neil Weber. Players on the current AHS-W team that he coached at Wilson are Mark Catlin, Steve Carlson and Scott Hanson.

In the last two years, Radke has taught American history at AHS-E and has coached the East JV basketball team. He was also assistant track coach in 1968.

Here's one to bring back some memories for you... Here were the All-America college basketball players of exactly 5, 10 and 20 years ago... The All-America team of 10 years ago was Jerry West, Oscar Robertson, Walt Hazzard, Coffey Nash, Gary Bradds and Dave Stallworth... The All-America team of 10 years ago was Jerry West, Oscar Robertson, Bob Boozer, Bailey Howell and John Cox... And the All-America of 20 years ago had Easy Ed McCauley, Alex Groza, Tony Lavelli, Ralph Beard and Vince Boryla... How many of those names do you remember?

Here's one that's hard to believe... In all the years that baseball has been played in the National League, there has been only ONE season in which there were no 20 game winning pitchers!... The only season in the NL when there were no 20-game winners was 1931.

Here's an oddity... When Montreal originally built its hockey arena in 1924 it cost 1.5 million dollars — but when they just REMODELED it last summer, it cost 9.5 million dollars!

No Worry Right Now Survey Team Finds Central Wisconsin Deer in Good Shape

By DAVE VAN WORMER
Wis. Rapids Daily Tribune

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP)— "Unless we have another bad sleet storm or excessive amounts of snow before the winter's over, there's absolutely no cause to worry about the Central Wisconsin deer herd."

So says Ben Hubbard, district game manager at the Sandhill Wildlife area near Babcock.

He and three other conservation officials just finished tramping the woods of central Wisconsin. Others in the survey crew were Bob Dreis, area game management supervisor from Black River Falls; John Kubisiak, research biologist stationed at Sand Hill, and area forester Marly Kodrich.

"They all agreed on one thing—the central Wisconsin deer herd is in good shape with plenty of food available."

On Top of Snow

"The deer are walking on top of the snow now," said Hubbard. "We had a good freeze right after the thaw that put a lot of moisture in the snow... and it formed a good crust."

This means that food unavailable prior to the thaw is now in easy reach of even the smallest white-tails.

"There's enough food readily available to last the deer well through the winter," said Kodrich.

And it's good food. There's plenty of oak as well as pine and oak is real good food for deer.

The deep snow so early in the season alarmed a lot of people interested in the fate of the white-tailed deer. A sleet storm followed that coated everything with a layer of ice. Then came the blessing, the nearly annual "January thaw."

Down to 16 Inches

"Our snow level went from 24 to 30 inches down to around 16 inches," Hubbard said, "and the freeze that followed really helped."

Although the deer are able to walk on top of the snow now, they break through when they run. This means possible trouble with dogs.

"The dogs can run on top of the snow and the deer can't," said Hubbard. "I think this is the big danger right now. Dogs and snowmobiles. If the people with snowmobiles stay out of the deer areas it'll help a lot."

(The Department of Natural Resources has urged dog owners to confine their pets, and noted that the law authorizes wardens to shoot dogs chasing deer.)

The central Wisconsin deer herd has concentrated in some areas but so far they have not yarded. The deer are sticking mostly to trails, which the survey crew was happy to find were only about 11 inches deep.

Enough Food

By far the most encouraging thing learned by the survey crew was the presence of an abundance of food in almost all areas where the deer are concentrated. The heavy snow and sleet bent many trees over so that even the topmost branches are within easy reach of the deer.

"And most of them weren't just bent over... they were broken. They won't be springing back up when the snow falls off," Kubisiak said.

Not only is this heartening news to the nature lovers and deer hunters, but to those who are keeping a wary eye on the winter progress of the ruffed grouse or partridge, as most people call them.

The bent-over trees have formed perfect sheltered areas for the grouse, which, according to Kubisiak, need a minimum of seven inches of fluffy snow for good protection. The birds can no longer burrow into the crusty snow left from the thaw, but they can roost in these sheltered areas of the fallen trees.

Kodrich said that there are cutting units out now, but there is no need to go into any emergency browse cutting in this area at this point, with the abundance of food now available.

Cutting Crows

Conservation officials have been offered help from various clubs and individuals and will keep them in mind should conditions worsen as winter stretches into the critical months.

March is by far the most critical month for deer. By this time in a hard winter they have established a browse line and have consumed nearly all available food in their area. It's at this time that they will have lost all their body fat and are in a weakened condition. For the deer, carrying fawns this is an especially hazardous time.

"The warm days and cold nights of March are very hard on deer," according to Hubbard. "Most of the dead deer we find then have congested lungs and have died of pneumonia rather than starvation."

Excellent Shape

There haven't been many car-cubed deer in these parts lately, but the last ones checked by

Omro '5' Bids For Share of Title Tonight

Duels Winneconne; Reedsville Set To Face Freedom

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

	W	L

Friday's Games:
Brilliant at Omro
Hilbert at Denmark
Shiocton at Winneconne
Hortonville at Reedsville

The unbeaten Omro Foxes can lay claim to at least a share of the Little Nine Conference championship if they can get past unpredictable Winneconne on the Wolves' floor tonight.

A victory for coach Allen Knurr's cagers would give them an 11-0 record with two games to play. Reedsville, which lost to the Foxes, 63-54, in last week's important game, will try to improve its 8-2 mark at home against Freedom.

Third-place Brilliant, the only other team with a mathematical chance of catching the Foxes, puts a 7-3 record on the line at home against Hilbert. In other games, Denmark goes to Wrightstown and Shiocton journeys to Hortonville.

Should Omro stumble in its bid tonight, the Foxes could still claim a piece of the crown this week, since the Little Nine offers a double-round. The Lions invade Omro in the league's headline game Friday.

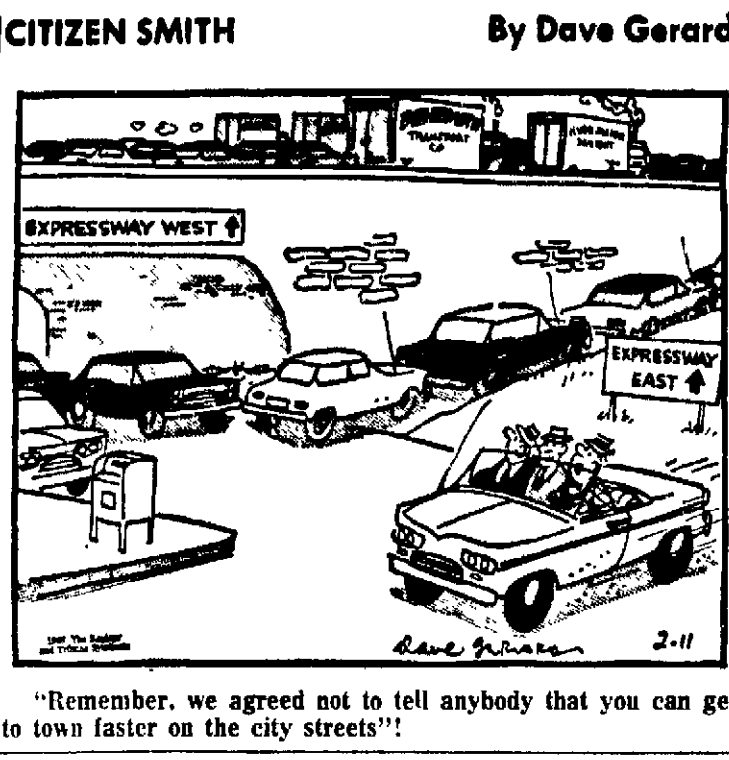

Gets 22 Rebounds

Tight defensive play along with balanced scoring helped Omro down runnerup Reedsville last week. Steve Hoeft's 18 points and 22 rebounds paced the Foxes' attack.

The Panthers, who were held 23 points under their offensive average, got off to an abnormally slow start on their home court. Still, they trailed by only a 27-24 margin at the half, but a 19-12 surge by the Foxes in the third period decided things.

In other recent outings, Brilliant outlasted Freedom, 91-80; Hilbert edged Winneconne, 68-63; Hortonville socked Wrightstown, 91-59; and Denmark dealt Shiocton its 10th straight loss, 77-58.

Peak individual scoring efforts were turned in by Freedom's Mark Romanesko, 31 points; Hortonville's Dave Riggles, 29; Denmark's Bruce Lange, 27; and Brilliant's Bob Behnke, 22.

"Remember, we agreed not to tell anybody that you can get to town faster on the city streets!"

Women Should Stay Out of Racing, Jockey's Wife Says

MIAMI (AP) — Wives of jockeys riding at Hialeah don't think much of girls competing against men on the race track—too dangerous, they say.

"I know how sick my husband gets when he sees another fellow get hurt in a race," said Evelyn Adams, wife of jockey Larry Adams. "He'd feel so much worse about a girl."

"There's nothing wrong with girls racing... against other girl jockeys."

3-Point Goal Tries Misfire For LA Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Basketball Association's three-point basket has aided the Los Angeles Stars many times this season but it was at least one of the reasons the Stars lost to Miami.

The Floridians pounded Los Angeles 125-112 in a Monday night game that was more of a rout than the score indicates.

It was the only game played in both pro leagues.

The snowstorm which hit the Northeast caused the postponement of a scheduled National Basketball Association double-header at Philadelphia because two of the four teams failed to arrive on time.

With seven players in double figures, the Floridians built a 30-point lead late in the third quarter. The Stars made a late comeback but fell short.

Andy Anderson scored 20 points to lead all Miami scorers. Larry Miller got 30 for Los Angeles.

Trailing most of the game, the Stars resorted to the three-point field goal attempt. But only one, by Bob Warren went in. Twelve others misfired.

The triumph put Miami in a tie for third but just one-half game back of Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

125 Complete In Kaukauna Skating Races

Four Youngsters Capture Two Titles Apiece

KAUKAUNA — Marvin Wiedenhaupt and Steve Huss finished in both the 3-lap and 4-lap teen skating races sponsored by the recreation department Sunday afternoon. A total of 125 youngsters participated.

Others winning two events were Mark Van Abel, in the junior boys class, and Jim Verbeten, senior boys, while Cathy Lopas won two events in senior girls competition. Runnerup to Miss Lopas in both a 2-lap and 3-lap race was Molly McCarthy.

Paul Grissman and John Gerrits finished second and third behind Verbeten in both events while Dena Giordana was second and Don Phemal third behind Van Abel in the 1-lap race and McPhelan second and Tim Huss third in the 2-lap event.

Trophies were awarded the winners of the various races.

Other winners were:
PeeWee 1-lap: Randy Harvey, 2. Jim Busse, 3. Joe Hennes.

City Becomes Human Thanks to Snowstorm

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The big city is at its best when things go wrong with it.
It takes an emergency of some kind—a hurricane, a blackout, a major transportation strike or, as at present, a great snowstorm—to bring out the human brotherhood latent in New York City.
One reason is that it makes people feel more important than machines.
It isn't that way usually here. Machines are paramount. They may not have the legal right-of-way, but they have the power—and the power is what counts. There are so many machines of all kinds here doing so many intricate things that people get a feeling of inferiority. They begin to think their only role in life is to feed a machine, dodge a machine, repair a machine, park a machine or put a coin into a machine.
But a 13-inch weekend snowfall changed all that briefly. The man in the street, not the machine in the street, became king for a day.

Gave Up Struggle
Machines by the hundreds were stalled throughout the city. Others tire-chewed at the soft clinging snow for a while and then they, too, gave up the struggle. Cars by the thousands never even ventured from the curb. They just stayed there until the trillion-fingered snow turned them into long lines of vehicular ghosts, haunting the city in pale silence.
Peace, peace, peace—it was a city dweller's heaven, a pedestrian's paradise.
The city never looked more lovely, serene and desirable.
Most of the airplanes weren't flying, so there was no noise in the sky. The restaurants weren't crowded, because most of the commuters were stuck in the suburbs, where presumably they spent the day watching their wives shovel a path from the garage to the roadway.
Few buses were running, almost no taxicabs could be seen. Both buses and taxis in Manhattan are born cowards, and rarely venture out of their garages unless the U.S. Weather Bureau gives them a written guarantee they won't get their tires wet.

Clear Air, Lungs
That means there were few car fumes to cloud up the atmosphere and clog up a fellow's lungs. How clear and beautiful was the city when the snow ceased falling and dawn came!
The streets belong to the people, and the people used them. They were little dots of purple moving down the rutted lanes like infantrymen going to battle across a wintry landscape. Small clouds of breath-steam marked their march.
Some were plodding to work, some were walking their dogs, some were just out for a stroll. But they did not move with the withdrawn, half-sullen, let me alone and I'll let you alone air so typical of New York.
There was a red-faced jollity about them, a comradeship in trouble. They laughed, they nodded, they made little jokes to each other, shaking their heads in mock exasperation and exclaiming, "Only in New York! What next?"
Children Free
Freed from school for 2 day, the kids, nearly a million of them, flowed out in juvenile torrents to go sled riding, hurl snowballs, build snow forts and snowmen.
The trees, burdened with great blobs of fleece, bent down their limbs, and the parks were a crystal, glittering gallery of strange and wondrous shapes.

Everywhere it looked as if Christmas had made a return visit—to the eye of man, to the heart of man.
"If only the city was like this all the time," said one man.
Then, one by one and two by two, the machines—the buses, the taxis, the trucks, the cars—began to come out into the streets again and take over the city from the people and force them back upon the sidewalks and grind the soft sweet white snow into gray grime and slush.

Farmers Union Hopes to Sway Nixon, Hardin

President Dechant Invites Both to National Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union says it will start "at the top," with President Nixon and Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, in bargaining for a better deal for rural people.
NFU President Tony Dechant announced he is inviting the President and the secretary to attend the organization's convention next month, "to hear their assessment of the situation. And we hope to let them hear ours."
Dechant says the NFU is interested not only in farm bargaining legislation, but also wants to "open the entire subject of the welfare of people who live in rural America."
The union, Dechant vows, "will be bargaining—not just for better prices for commodities—but for more effective programs of supply-management, and for more favorable and equitable relations with those who buy from and sell to farmers."

Long Beach Has Wounded Whale In Its Harbor

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A 14-foot pilot whale swam to within a few feet of shore Monday in Long Beach harbor. Lifeguards said that it appeared to have been shot in the back and was too weak to return to sea.
They said the 1,500-pound whale seemed shot near its dorsal fin and "might have been mistaken for a shark by some boater or else someone has a morbid sense of humor."
"I doubt he'll survive," said Bill Ward, a lifeguard.
Attempts to guide the whale out of the harbor failed.

Pickets for Pike Not Part of Protest

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was winding up a town meeting, held to discuss his $6.4 billion state budget, when he decided to recognize one more questioner.
He pointed to the rear of the auditorium where a group had sat throughout the 3-hour meeting holding aloft a sign that read: "Why not the pike?"
Most assumed it was some sort of protest but when the governor inquired, 11-year-old Christopher Noble and 8-year-old Bill Eaton had a simpler explanation: "We want the pike to be the state fish."

was winning twice on the week-end following the twin setbacks. Neenah beat Sheboygan South by 12 and Fond du Lac by 10 after breaking each game open in the last period.

Needed Lift
"I felt that weekend gave us a big lift, and we needed it badly," the former Plymouth mentor said. "Another loss at that time would have hurt us."

Another area team continued to make its presence felt in the FRYC. Appleton East hiked its league record to 9-4 and overall mark to 10-5 by getting past South, 62-57.

East's Tom Jones, still the Fox Cities top point-maker with a 22.8 average, hit 30 points against the Redmen — the fifth time this season he has reached that same total.

St. John ran its victory string to three with 65-53 and 66-51 weekend wins over Manitowish Roncalli and St. Mary respectively. Junior guard Gary Vandehy was the Dutchmen's big gun with 51 points in the two outings.

Little Chute, over the 500 mark at 9-8, received a 30-point performance from Mike Fitzpatrick in downing New Holstein, 81-70, Saturday night. Steve Mollen added a personal high of 15 points to the Chute's cause.

Haack Scores 24
Menasha overcame a 30-25 halftime deficit to beat Two Rivers, 77-64. The Bluejays had four players in double figures, led by Ron Haack's 24 markers.

Appleton West dropped its fourth tilt in the last five games in a 78-63 licking at Sheboygan North. The Terrors got 19 points from Rick Reitzner, who shook off a concussion suffered the week before. West is 6-9 for the season.

Fox Valley Lutheran split a pair of weekend encounters in the Midwest Prep Conference, beating Concordia, 57-43, but then bowing to Wisconsin Lutheran, 64-56. Beck Goldbeck's 17 points paced the victory, while Kurt Troge's personal high 18 points were not enough to prevent the loss.

Al Borchardt and Dave LaBorde each collected 14 points in the Ghosts' loss to Kimberly. Kaukauna never got going against the powerful Papermakers, falling behind, 26-7, in the first quarter.

St. Mary's woes continued as they fell to Xavier and St. John. The Zephyrs have lost nine straight. Dave Lotzer, the club's leading scorer, was held to 10 points against Xavier but hit 17 versus St. John. Pat Hermus' 18 was the team's best against the Chute.

Matting, Kindlin Win Crown at Racquet Club

Craig Matting and Pat Kindlin recently won the men's doubles handicap tennis tournament at the Fox Cities Racquet Club by beating Leigh Ford and Dave Hofkens, 25-16, in the finals.

Kindlin and Matting had reached the finals with a 25-5 win over Lee Judy and Heath Reeves. The Ford-Hofkens duo reached the finals by beating Jack Bradley and Bill Oleson, 25-10.

In the second-place playoff, Frank and Rick Hardt edged Ford and Hofkens, 25-23.

Home Tavern Retains Valley Pool Loop Lead

Home Tavern (34-20) lost five of nine matches to Log Cabin (30-24) but retained the lead in the Valley Pool League after Sunday action.

Techlin's (30-24) took eight of nine from Stammers.

Lappen Slams 669 Set During Sunday's Action

Harp Fires 11 Strikes, Posts 279 Line

BY JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It was like being on Cloud 9.

The pins, the lanes, the lights — everything was just a blur when the last ball was released. It moved up toward the pocket and in one quick shattering all the pins left the lane. It was the 11th strike out of 12 frames and the 279 game was history.

Years of bowling frustration dominated by a good game here and there and an occasional series of respectable note, went out the window. Your reporter had done something he thought bearing on the impossible — came within a whisker of a perfect 300 game.

The occasion was the Footbal Couples League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes Monday night. After a dismal 141 start which saw easy spares missed with regularity, the "Blue Apple" started off the second game with four strikes in a row.

Didn't Connect
Bowling on Lane 1 in the fifth frame, the ball came right into the pocket with a solid hit and a pun came off the sidebar, swept across the lane but didn't connect with the 7-pin. Following the spare, came seven more strikes in a row.

There's no doubt in my mind at all that the spare in the fifth took a lot of pressure off. It was something just throwing the last two strikes of the game the way it was and I can't imagine throwing the 12th after 11 straight.

After the big game, your correspondent came back with a 198 and another barrier was broken. It was the first better-than-600 series in a bowling career that goes back to pin-setting days at the same establishment. The final total was 618. Dick Wyngaard had a 557 series in the Footbal Couples League for the only other honor score.

Ray Lappen jolted a 264 game and 669 series to pace the All-Weather Couples League at the Twin City Bowl Sunday night. Dick Lindquist was next in line with a 638 series which included games of 236 and 234.

Diane Marx led the women with a 207 game and 547 series. Marilea Hoptensperger rolled a 195 line and 516 series. Other high scores included Glenn Creapo 235-568.

Jim Errington smacked a 229 game and Larry Techlin fired a 225 line and 625 series to lead the Bird Couples League at Hahn's Lanes Sunday.

Nina Rehfeldt hit a 209 game. Doris Vander Velden had a 203 and Helen Dessort rolled a 507 set.

Floyd Flanagan smacked a 226 game and 617 series to lead the Nutty Couples League at the Village Lanes, Little Chute Saturday.

Jim Laux rolled a 587, Gene Reohl had a 232 line and 577 series and Bob Bobber hit a 563 set. For the women, June Oltman had a 200 game, Esther Boeking had a 192 line and 511 series and Ruth Ruppel rolled 505.

Dan Schuh jolted a 255 game and Carol Felton slammed a 207 line and 558 series to set the pace in the Comic Couples League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly Sunday. Schuh finished with a 559 series.

Patti Allenbert rolled a 210 singleton and Gary Sweetella had a 556.

Fritz Anderson slammed a 228 game and Dick Melcher had a 609 series to lead the Nutty Couples League at Hahn's Lanes Sunday.

The Chestnuts rolled the high team game of the season for the Saturday loop with 806 which included 291 Earl Tumm had a 553 and pins handicap. Florence Haugen had a 202 game to help the lead the women keggers.

Ankersen smacked a 606 and leading the women in series was Delores DuChateau with a 522 which included a 194 game.

Howard Rosenow smashed a 243 game and 565 series, Bob Kroll had a 231 line and 587 set and Phillis Kessler slammed a 197 line and 530 series to lead the Newcomers League at the 41 Bowl last week.

Joe Reynebeau's 569 series placed the Fish Couples League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes Jack Lammers had a 567 and "Duce" Weyenberg counted a 551.

Ed Schultz smacked a 598 and Glen Nau rolled 564 in the Beer Couples League Sunday. For the women, Emily Grest had a 196 singleton.

Dennis O'Connor fired a 560 series to lead the Valley Freight Haulers League at the 41 Bowl Saturday.

Paul Seib hit 555. Sally Hjerstedt slammed a 199 game to lead the women keggers.

In the Comic Couples League at the 41 Bowl Sunday, Jim Fischer rolled a 566 series.

Ray Quella had a 227 game and 561 series while Dave Blahnik rolled 578 for leading scores in the Candy Bar Couples League at the 41 Bowl recently.

Denny Huhn counted a 226 game and Jim Griel rolled a 575 series to share honors in the Swingers Couples League at Sabre Lanes Saturday.

Huhn finished with a 557. Jerry Wolff had 574, Don Wessel slammed a 567 and Ruth Potratz paced the women with a 199 game.

Russ Krueger fired a 584 series for the leading total in the Footbal Couples League at the 41 Bowl Sunday.

In the Cocktail Couples League at the 41 Bowl, Vy Dickrell hit a 508 series and Dick Dickrell rolled 578.

600 Series Bowled By Lois Schmidt

A kegler who had never before rolled higher than a 557 series in eight years of bowling became the 33rd woman to fashion a national honor count in the Fox Cities this season.

Lois Schmidt, an Appleton mother of four, fired an even 600 series in the Queen's Classic League at Sabre Lanes Monday night. She included a booming 245 middle game.

"It's quite a thrill," she beamed this morning. "I never figured I would get one. My bowling has been going down lately."

Mrs. Schmidt started with a 174 singleton, then used six strikes to help her to the 245 count — also 16 pins higher than her previous high game.

"That second game really boosted me," she said. Needing a 181 to reach the 600-pin mark, Mrs. Schmidt thought that she would have to settle for "a nice 5" but then came through with nine pins, a spare, and nine more pins in the 10th frame.

"I never expected to get it," she repeated, "because I had two blows in the last game."

Has 155 Average

Mrs. Schmidt bowls regularly in the 41 Bowl Classic League, in addition to the Monday night sessions at Sabre Lanes. She also bowls every other Friday in a couples league. She owns a 155 average.

Other high counts in the Classic circuit were posted by Evie Myers, 202-535; Addie Crane, 525; Celia Zelinski, 524; Dee Breuer, 191-523; Phyllis Ludwig, 201, 522; Sue Schroeder, 521; Ruth Schmidt, 521; Elsie Ross, 519; Joan Kolosko, 517; Marie Suttner, 190-516; Marcy Kobs, 193-511; Eva Nagan, 510; Julie Hidde, 503; Pat Hooymann, 194; and Darlene Beyer, 190.

FVL Jayvees 12-6 After Twin Wins

Fox Valley Lutheran's jayvee basketball team hiked its record to 12-6 for the season with a pair of victories over the week-end.

The junior Foxes swept past Concordia, 69-52, at home Friday night, and then topped Wisconsin Lutheran, 56-49, on the road Saturday night.

Jeff Grow's 16 points paced the first win, with Dennis Kasten adding 12 and Bill Lecker 10. Kasten was high scorer in the second encounter with 18 points, and Dave Romberg hit 11.

Delores Post, 196; and Barb Derks, 195.

Rosie Greiner's 191-530 combination set the pace in the Ladies League at Colonial Lanes in Freedom. Shirley Vandenberg came in with a 200 game.

Pat LaCount's 199-521 aggregate took the spotlight in the H. C. Prange Co. League at Twin City Bowl.

Sylvia Strey's 519 along with a 196 singleton bossed the Precious Gems League at Twin City Bowl.

Bernice (Beanie) Resch cracked a 195 game and finished with 518 for the top scores in the Alley of the Dolls League at Twin City Bowl.

FVL's Mat Team Beats Oostburg

The Fox Valley Lutheran High School wrestling team scored a 38-18 victory over Oostburg recently.

Six members of the Dave Umnus-coached FVL team registered pins. Each school won once on forfeit — the Foxes at 95 pounds and Oostburg in the heavy weight classes.

Other results:

103 — Wilke (F) pinned Schumelink 3-22.

112 — Lammers (O) pinned Glasel, 1-32.

Mollie Pfeffer, 45-Year County Employee, Dies

Former Outagamie Clerk Suffered From Leukemia

The woman who held the unofficial title of "dean of Outagamie County employees" died Monday night after a 1½-year illness.

Mollie Pfeffer

Outagamie County more than 45 years, 13 as county clerk.

Ill health forced her to retire as clerk at the end of her latest term, in January.

Miss Pfeffer, a native and lifelong resident of Outagamie County, served 32 years as deputy county clerk under the late John Hantschel, who resigned for health reasons in January, 1955. The county board appointed her to fill his unexpired term.

She won election in 1956 and was re-elected every term since, as a Republican. Miss Pfeffer, who was active in Republican Party circles, also was a member of the Wisconsin County Clerks Association.

Longest Tenure

She worked for the county longer than any other present or recent employee. Close behind her, in years of service, was Sydney M. Shannon, who resigned as clerk of Circuit Court last fall after serving more than 40 years.

Miss Pfeffer received her high school and business college education in Appleton.

The courthouse flag flew at half staff today in tribute to her, and a short prayer was said for her before the county board started monthly business this morning.

Miss Pfeffer is survived by her sister, Mrs. Ella Rusch of Menomonee Falls, three nieces and a nephew.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday from St. Pius X Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Joseph Cemetery. Friends may call at Wichmann Funeral Home from 4 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Approval Predicted On Missile System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee says emphatically "I know" work will resume on the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system.

Democrat George H. Mahon of Texas, whose committee holds the purse-strings for the $5.5 billion system, made the prediction in an interview Monday although he said he had no direct assurances from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

But, he added, "I know the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and I know Secretary Laird, and I know what their thoughts are on this matter."

Mounting Criticism

Bank, Landlord Disagree $1 Million Apart

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "Bring it back," said the bank officials.

"Come and get it," said Ed Bartunek. "It was your mistake." Neither side wants to give in.

The mistake was for $1 million.

Bartunek's tenant, Mrs. Otis Spears, asked for a $70 money order and a bank machine error made it out for $1,000,-

070. She didn't notice and mailed the money order to Bartunek.

Bartunek can't cash it and he's out the $70 rent until the mistake is corrected. But he's having fun flashing the big amount to his friends and adds:

Set Stage for Hard Line at Peace Talks

HONG KONG (AP) — The Viet Cong's official news agency rejected today U.S. proposals for mutual de-escalation of the Vietnam war and mutual withdrawal of troops from South Vietnam as "completely unjustified and completely unacceptable."

"If the United States wants peace in Vietnam," Liberation News Agency said, "it must first unconditionally end its war of aggression, unconditionally withdraw its troops and destroy its bases, and unconditionally accept the principle that the Vietnamese people be allowed to settle their own affairs without any foreign interference."

The agency's commentary, broadcast by Viet Cong radio and rebroadcast by Radio Hanoi, echoed North Vietnam's demand a day earlier that the United States unconditionally meet all enemy terms for ending the Vietnam war.

The one-two demand for unconditional acceptance obviously was intended to set the stage for Thursday's session of the Paris peace talks and lay the groundwork for refusal of any American proposal for mutual de-escalation or mutual withdrawal.

'No Other Way'

"There is no other way for the U.S. to end the war," Liberation News Agency declared. "If the United States refused that way to peace, then the Vietnamese people will never lay down their arms but will continue fighting as long as necessary until the last U.S. aggressor is killed or driven from our country."

Meanwhile the chief adviser to Hanoi's peace conference delegation is on his way home again.

Hidden Progress?

On the surface there are no symptoms of progress in the peace talks. But the circumstances of Tho's last two trips home give support to speculation that his trip may be due to some hidden, significant developments.

After arriving in Paris last June 3 to supervise the North Vietnamese delegation, Tho returned to Hanoi on June 29. This was at the start of a summer-long lull in major Viet Cong and North Vietnamese ground action in South Vietnam and of a period of intensive secret diplomacy in Paris.

During Tho's absence, a ranking North Vietnamese official confided to the French Foreign Ministry that the lull was Hanoi's response to the American demand for reciprocity in negotiations for a total halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Throughout July, Washington debated whether the lull in fighting was really initiated by Hanoi and whether it was sufficient reason to halt all bombing above the 17th Parallel. But the Johnson administration decided against halting the bombing then, and Tho came back to Paris Aug. 13.

End of Bargaining

His next departure on Oct. 14 was in the midst of terminal bargaining over a bombing halt, when proposals were being exchanged between the Americans and the North Vietnamese in private meetings outside the conference hall.

Early in October, Ambassador Xuan Thuy hinted that Hanoi would agree to enlarged talks with Saigon and the Viet Cong participating even if U.S. reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam continued. This was a significant modification of Thuy's stand in the preceding five months of bilateral talks.

While Tho was home reporting to President Ho Chi Minh, the North Vietnamese signalled their acceptance of the U.S. bombing halt package. On Oct. 31 President Johnson announced the cessation of bombing.

Tho returned to Paris Nov. 23 and the first session of the four-party talks was held Jan. 18.

New Jersey Returns to Action, Destroys Bunkers Near Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — The battleship New Jersey returned to the Vietnam war after a month off the firing line and smashed 64 enemy bunkers south of Da Nang, military spokesmen reported today.

For four hours Monday, the 56,000-ton battleship hurled 1,900-pound shells at North Vietnamese fortifications which an air spotter said "have been impervious to previous strikes."

The New Jersey's bombardment was in support of South Korean marines and killed at least five enemy soldiers, a spokesman reported.

"We were at extremely close range, about 10,000 yards," said a member of the ship's crew. Boatswain's Mate 3c, James Swan, "and I could follow the trajectory of the rounds and see them impact. The bursts sent smoke and debris about a thousand feet in the air."

The battleship had been in Japan for routine maintenance and replenishment of her supplies.

Helicopter Downed

The U.S. Command also announced another American helicopter was shot down and destroyed near Pleiku, in the Central Highlands, but there were no casualties. It was the 2,356th U.S. helicopter lost during the war.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces stepped up their ground war during the night with attacks on three provincial capitals, two allied bases, a pacification team and a government infantry battalion. The North Vietnamese also fired on a small U.S. observation plane over the southern half of the demilitarized-zone but missed it.

South Vietnamese troops were hard hit in two of the attacks, suffering 24 dead and 53 wounded while accounting for only 14 known enemy dead. The rest of the attacks caused only a handful of American and South Vietnamese wounded and light damage.

In the Mekong Delta, 102 miles southwest of Saigon, Viet Cong soldiers ripped into a South Vietnamese infantry batalion with withering machine-gun and small arms fire. After the action, 12 South Vietnamese soldiers were dead, 35 were wounded, and only seven enemy bodies were counted. The South Vietnamese soldiers may have been ambushed in the canal-laced delta, but no other details were available.

Allies Likely To Gather for Spring Talks

Troop Withdrawals Expected Subject Of Bangkok Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first high-level meeting among the United States and its allies in the Vietnam war since the advent of the Nixon administration is expected to take place this spring in Bangkok.

U.S. officials said the session probably will follow immediately after the ministerial meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. No date has been announced for the SEATO meeting, but in the past such sessions were held in April.

Such a meeting would precede any summit session that President Nixon would hold with the Vietnam allies—the heads of government of Thailand, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and South Vietnam.

One of the prime subjects expected to be discussed at the allied meeting would be the sequence of troop withdrawal if and when the peace talks show positive results.

The United States and South Vietnam have been discussing the possibility of substantial American troop reductions in the relatively near future as the Saigon forces increase their ability to take over more of the fighting.

The spring meeting will involve the foreign ministers of the involved countries with the United States to be represented by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Besides the more than half-million Americans fighting in Vietnam, South Korea has 50,000 troops, Thailand 12,000, Australia 8,000. The Philippines a combat engineer battalion and New Zealand less than 1,000.

Ministerial meetings among the allies have been held every year since the foreign troops were sent into South Vietnam. And there was one summit meeting involving President Johnson and the other allied heads of state.

That session at Manila in 1966 resulted in a formula for withdrawal from South Vietnam calling for all foreign troops to leave the country within six months of a settlement.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Monday that Marine Pfc. James M. Donstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Donstad of Edgerton, Wis., had been killed in action in Vietnam.

Girl Saved, Captor Dies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A blonde schoolgirl cheerleader, held under threat of death for 10½ hours, darted to safety Monday night as police gunfire killed her pistol-waving captor.

Janie Lewis, 17, escaped harm as the tense drama ended in a cafeteria where a longhaired parollee had confined her in a booth, rejecting repeated pleas to free the young woman.

Officers identified the slain man as Freddie Robert Mullins, 21, of Dallas. They said he had served a term for armed robbery in Minnesota.

As many as 500 persons assembled at times to watch what was taking place at the Big Town shopping center in suburban Mesquite, just outside the East Dallas city limit. Heavily armed police kept the crowd at a safe distance.

Mesquite Police Chief L. H. Limmer, 33, said he motioned with his eyes for Miss Lewis to run behind a retaining wall in the cafeteria when Mullins finally diverted attention from her to unscrew a light bulb in a low-hanging chandelier.

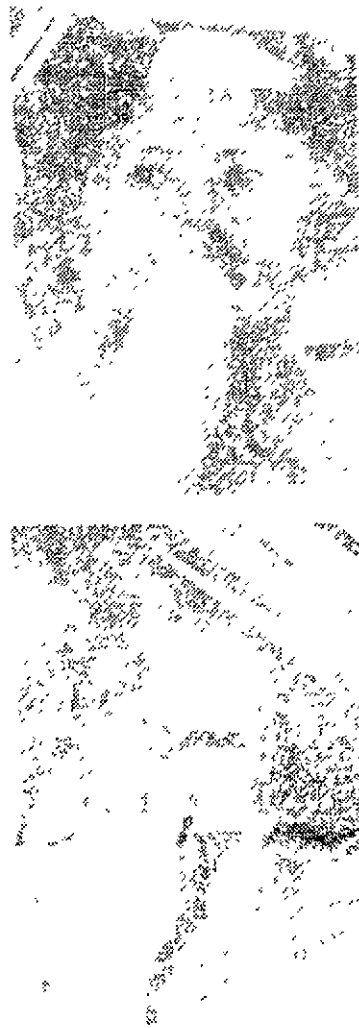

"She was begging for me to tell her what to do," Limmer said.

Three bullets pierced Mullins' chest and he died as he fell.

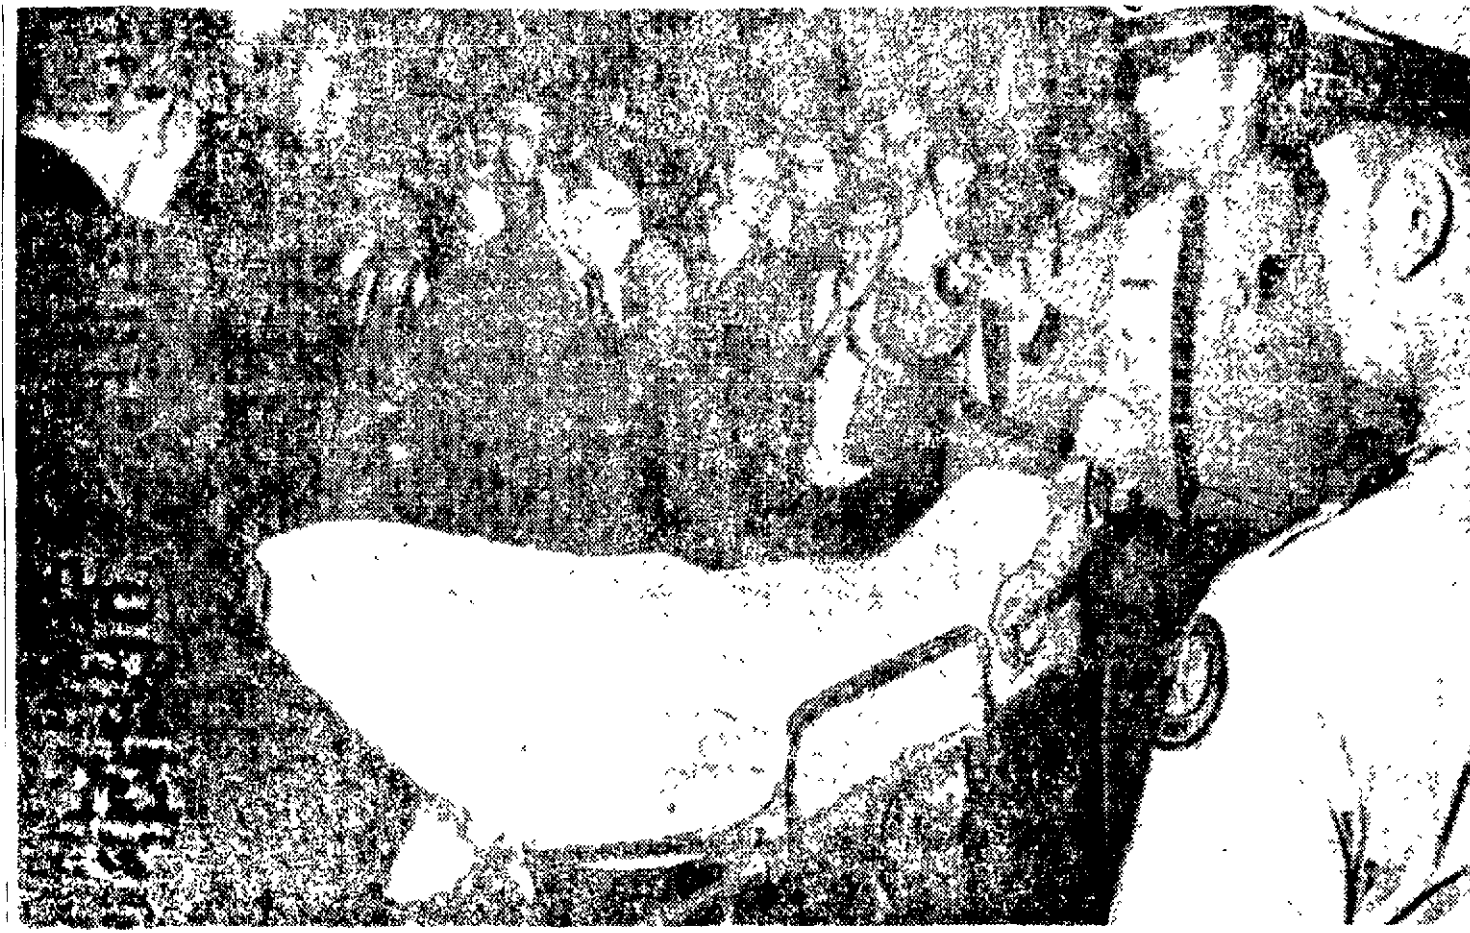

Limmer estimated a dozen shots were fired, including three from his own pistol as the police chief ducked behind a table only 10 feet from Mullins.

Other officers reported Mullins' last words were "I'm sorry."

Draws More Protests

Canada Set to Meet Red China

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government has notified Red China it is prepared to open talks on establishment of diplomatic relations.

Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp told the House of Commons Monday the Canadian Embassy in Stockholm was ordered to approach the Red Chinese embassy with a proposal for talks "to be held at a mutually convenient time and place in the near future."

Sharp told newsmen the United States "and our other friends" were told of the decision in advance "so they would not be taken by surprise."

There was no immediate reaction from Washington, but State Department officials were expected to be unhappy with the Canadian move, as they were when Italy announced Jan. 21 that they planned to recognize Red China.

Sharp first announced Canada's intention to recognize Red China Jan. 22, which prompted a protest from Nationalist China. His speech Monday brought a second protest from Formosa's ambassador in Ottawa from Rome because of Italy's moves to establish relations with Peking and is expected to do the same in Ottawa if the Canadian government follows through with its intent.

Washington officials on Jan. 25 privately expressed concern about the impact of expanded international contacts with Peking on the positions of the Nationalist Chinese regime and other non-communist nations in the Far East.

Officials said 45 countries now have diplomatic ties with Communist China and 66 have relations with Formosa. Yet many of the latter conduct more trade with mainland China than with Formosa, and the Italian and Canadian moves could signal a new trend.

Opposition spokesmen in Commons welcomed Sharp's announcement as "realistic" and wished the government "every success."

R. G. L. Fairweather, a Progressive Conservative, said he hoped the negotiations would not exclude Nationalist China from the world community, but added, "I personally hope the day will not be too far removed when the People's Republic can take its place as a member of the United Nations."

Driver Injured Critically in Car-Train Crash

Scandinavia Man's Auto Tossed 75 Feet By Collision Impact

WAUPACA — Ole Bergen, 65, route 2, Scandinavia was critically injured at 4:45 p.m. Monday when his car collided with a Green Bay and Western Train at the Gillman Road crossing about four miles west of Scandinavia.

Bergen, was taken by Boie Ambulance Service to Iola Hospital. Bergen's condition was diagnosed as serious with all ribs on the right side broken, a punctured lung, and severe head lacerations.

He was then transferred to St. Michaels Hospital, Stevens Point, where his conditions has been reported as critical.

Waupaca County Police said Bergen was traveling south on Gillman road when his car collided with the Green Bay and Western train.

Landed on Top

The impact threw the car about 75 feet north along the railway right-of-way and the car came to rest on its top.

According to reports Bergen was thrown through the car's windshield.

Engineer Charles R. Renk, 971 Coppen Road, Green Bay, told county police that he whistled at the crossing and the car appeared to hesitate as if to stop but then proceeded to cross the tracks. The right side of the engine struck the left side of the automobile.

The engineer told police the train was traveling about 40 miles per hour at the time of the crash.

Seymour's Phone Area To Expand

SEYMOUR — General Telephone Company of Wisconsin plans to provide extended toll-free service from here to Green Bay by the last quarter of 1970.

A post card survey conducted by the telephone co. to determine desire for the proposed service resulted in 89 per cent returns of acceptance.

The new service will save customers here an estimated $10,000 annually by enlarging the toll-free calling area to include Green Bay's nearly 35,000 phones.

Wittenberg High Students Collect $1,000 for Polio

WITTENBERG — High-school students have collected $1,128 in the Teens Against Polio Campaign during the past several weeks. The student council was in charge of the drive.

The junior class won with a collection of $390 which entitled their representative, Linda Keidrowski, to receive the queen's crown from the junior representative Dennis Voelz.

In second place was the senior class, with a total of $305; then the freshmen with $220; and the sophomores with $194.

Class representatives in the court of honor were seniors Suzette Dombrowski and Laverne Stoltz; sophomores Jane Ringstad and Kenneth Albrecht, and freshmen Sue Jagler and Roy Crick.

The balance of funds was collected at a basketball game. Of the proceeds, 80 per cent will be sent to the March of Dimes and 20 per cent will remain at the school. Last year $449 was collected.

Ways and Means Committee

Byrnes Supports Revision Of Federal Tax System

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Congress should revise present tax provisions which allow persons with adjusted incomes of $200,000 a year and more to pay no federal income taxes, 8th District Rep. John W. Byrnes has proposed.

The congressman, who is the top Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said during an interview that there are some 155 such persons, more than 20 of whom have incomes of over a million dollars a year, who use "well intended tax law provisions both to reduce taxable incomes and the rates at which income is taxed."

Results Unfair

"Our Ways and Means Committee has decided to undertake a reform of the aspects of our revenue code which have produced the results that I have mentioned," Byrnes said. "These results are inconsistent with fairness in tax legislation."

If the situation where those persons with incomes of $200,000 and more can legitimately refuse to pay taxes persists, Byrnes predicted that "our whole tax system will become a victim to a lack of confidence and abuse."

Bishop Alton to Talk Nationwide

Madison — The Rev. Ralph Taylor Alton, bishop of the Wisconsin Area United Methodist Church, will be the featured speaker on a nationwide broadcast in the cause of reconciliation, which will be aired in Appleton at 8:05 p.m. Thursday over WAPL-FM.

Bishop Alton, formerly pastor of First United Methodist Church, Appleton, will speak on the theme "Which Side?" which will be carried by 160 radio stations throughout the nation and will be heard by about one million people attending United Methodist dinners in 5,000 locations.

The 25-minute program will be a principle feature of the reconciliation dinners whose chief purpose is to "express and demonstrate the role of the church in the contemporary crises as an agent of reconciliation."

The dinners are part of the church's quadrennial emphasis on "A New Church for a New World."

Byrnes also wants the job of filing income tax returns simplified.

Option Taken On McKinley Property

Red Owl Operator May Purchase New London School

NEW LONDON — An option to purchase the McKinley School and property has been granted to Alfred F. Lenz by the board of education.

Lenz, operator of the Red Owl Agency store here, is out of the area on vacation and could not be reached for comment.

The 90-day option calls for a purchase price of $25,000 for the eight lots and building.

The property is zoned residential and it is expected a reclassification for commercial purposes will be sought.

Lenz contacted the board after no bids were received in January when the property was advertised for sale.

The school district will retain usable school equipment. McKinley School will be closed at the end of the current school year. Pupils will be transferred to the Lincoln and new Park View elementary schools.

Calumet Plans Immunization Clinics for Tetanus-Diphtheria

CHILTON — The Calumet County Medical Society and Health Committee of the County Board of Supervisors will sponsor a diphtheria-tetanus (lock-jaw) booster immunization program for children enrolled in kindergarten and grades 1 and 2 in all Calumet County schools.

The immunizations will be given at various centers throughout the county. Children from outlying schools will report to one specific center as scheduled by the county nurses' office. Parents will receive a letter of explanation from the county nurse's office and a schedule of the time, date and location of the clinics. This material, along with a "Request ard deduction up-to-date, for one thing," he declared. "Now set at 10 per cent of the adjusted gross income, it should be made to conform to the itemized deduction claimed by the average taxpayer, which would bring it up to around 20 per cent, with the current cut-off of $10,000 gradually raised to $20,000 annually."

Fewer than 60 per cent of the taxpayers use the standard deduction table today, according to Byrnes, who added that this should be raised to about 90 per cent.

"Except for the most unusual taxpayer, a greatly simplified return should make this possible," Byrnes said.

7th District COPE Aids Obey Bid

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP)—The 7th District Committee on Political Education (COPE) of the AFL-CIO voted Sunday to support the candidacy of Assemblyman David Obey of Wausau for Congress.

Obey is one of three Democrats who have announced for the March 4 primary. The others are Will Sandstrom of Wausau and Robert Hack of Mosinee.

Vault Smashed, Money Taken At Landwehr's

From $70 to $150 was taken during a burglary at Landwehr's, Inc., sometime between Saturday night and early Monday.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators said entry into the quarry office was gained by prying a west door.

Burglars knocked a 24 by 18-inch hole in a concrete vault. The money was in a cash box in the vault, investigators said. They explained that an inventory will have to be made to determine the exact amount of money that is missing.

Complete Study of Airport Revenues, Costs Ordered

Outagamie Board Committee Calls for Cost Analysis to Seek Ways to Up Revenues

Outagamie County Board airport committeemen called Monday for an analysis of all airport costs and revenues, as they began to search for ways to increase revenue production.

Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, said he wanted "everything" on expenditures and revenues, noting many voucher summaries had not been made available to the airport committee.

He directed Charles Olson, airport manager, to gather the data in preparing for a long and complete look at revenues.

Committeemen agreed there has been a shortage of revenues because lower rates were charged to airport users while the new airport operation was getting on its feet.

They hinted every user, including Air Wisconsin Inc., would be charged higher rates in the future. More revenues should be produced at the airport, Olson said.

With the complete financial figures, the committee will embark on a study to find new sources of revenue, as well as increasing present ones.

Wussow made it clear that he was unhappy that all vouchers and revenue data had not been given to the airport committee. Olson noted the committee had not specifically asked for some information but added he would contact county Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler's office to get the data.

Wussow said the last voucher summary he had received was one for January of 1968. He brought out voucher summaries he had back to November of 1966.

Wants to Know Costs

He indicated that he wanted to know exactly what each construction project costs were, noting he had information on only a recent one.

There has been no significant adjustment in charges to airport users since the county relocated west of Appleton in 1965. During the budget hearings last fall, county supervisors expressed concern that the airport was not paying its way.

Airport committeemen indicated they agreed, noting that first they must get a complete financial picture.

Steiger Says Welfare Ways 'Inadequate'

Representative Says Reform Measures Already Underway

OSHKOSH — Calling the federal welfare system "inadequate and outmoded," Rep. William A. Steiger told a crowd attending a county social service building dedication here Sunday that reform measures are underway in Washington.

The Oshkosh Republican congressman who serves on the House education and labor committee, was among several speakers who addressed a crowd numbering between 400 and 500 at dedication activities for the new Winnebago County Social Services Building adjacent to the courthouse.

Criticizing federal "reluctance to question the validity and usefulness of any established program," Steiger said he believes, "The welfare system is in need of major overhaul in a number of areas because of serious deficiencies."

New Day Dawning

He continued, "A new day is dawning in Washington," with several Presidential and congressional study groups involved in studies.

National standards for eligibility and welfare payments and federalization of the entire welfare apparatus are two alternatives being considered, Steiger said. He also referred to proposals for a negative income tax and a credit income tax.

He said the current system tends to encourage continued dependency on welfare payments, excludes great numbers of needy persons, and sets benefits well below amounts needed for minimum existence.

"In short, the current system is a custodial system that perpetuates dependency and despair, destroys families and discriminates most viciously against those who need help the most," Steiger said.

Services for Lent Are Set In Amherst

All Churches Plan Worship Series Starting Next Week

AMHERST — Lenten services will begin in local churches next week.

The Methodist Church will hold the first of a series of services at 8 p.m. Feb. 18, with subsequent services being held on Thursday evenings.

At St. James Catholic Church the Rev. Ernest Kaim will hold masses on Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m. starting on Ash Wednesday. Lenten devotions will be on Fridays, also starting at 8 p.m.

The Rev. A.P. Tideman, pastor of Peace Lutheran and Nelsonville Lutheran Churches, will conduct joint services, the first at Nelsonville on Ash Wednesday. Services will alternate between the two churches each week.

The theme "What Would Jesus Do?" will be followed in sermonettes and chancel dramas. A related film strip series, "In Our Stead," will also be used.

Communion services will be at St. Paul Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. Ash Wednesday, with subsequent services each Wednesday during Lent. The Rev. John Muller is pastor.

Department Head Reports

Fewer Students Take Classes in Business, Board Told in Chilton

CHILTON — Student interest in the field of business education is at a low point now, Mrs. Glen Flemming, department chairman, told the board of education Monday.

Mrs. Flemming explained that interest probably will be revived, however, after students become familiar with the new program. She said she hopes soon to further update the program by including data processing in the courses.

Business education classes currently are geared both for the student who is preparing for semi-professional work and for the one who wishes to get a job directly after high school.

Home Economics

Mrs. Flemming also gave a breakdown on enrollment in the home economics program. The largest numbers are on the seventh, eighth and ninth grade levels, she said.

Norman Pautz, chairman of the agriculture and industrial arts department, recommended that the board give serious consideration to construction of an insulated steel building on the property adjoining the school which could be used for the entire industrial arts program.

New courses in electricity and in metals are both popular, Pautz reported.

He also said that interest still is strong in agricultural classes.

A decline in the popularity of physics courses was noted by John Augsburg, science department chairman. Though two and three sections have been provided in past years, he said, this year there are enough students for only one section.

He recommended that a research course be considered for the student who has had the required biology and chemistry classes.

In other business, the board approved the annual fund raising sale of garden seeds by the Future Farmers of America.

Snowmobile Operators Get Warning

Officials Complain Vehicles Operating Near Air Runways

Snowmobiles will not be tolerated operating around the Outagamie County Airport runway, county board airport committee members agreed Monday.

Their reaction was to the report of Charles Olson, airport manager, who said a large fox hunting party, including "about 25 snowmobiles," were in the vicinity of the runway last weekend.

Committeemen agreed to propose an amendment to a 1965 county ordinance, if necessary, to make it clear snowmobiles cannot be operated where they may endanger air traffic.

Runway Light Damaged

Olson reported a week earlier that about $150 in damage to runway lights apparently was caused by a snowmobile. He expressed concern the problem was growing worse in recent weeks.

The committee directed Olson to "call the sheriff" if further snowmobilers operate in the runway vicinity.

Olson said a man leasing land near the airport was heading the fox hunt. In a confrontation Saturday with the party, Olson said he gave the operator the warning about the ordinance.

Semester Honor Students Listed At Seymour High

SEYMOUR — Twenty-five Community High School students have been listed on the first semester high honor roll.

Those receiving high honors include: Seniors: Randall Bubolz, Arend Bulder, Luane Chambers, Lynnda Coisman, Carolyn Halam, Nancy Jochman, Greg King, Shirley Krahn, William Kuehne, Robert Schnabl, and Jean Wussow.

Juniors: Michelle Jenquin, Robert Lubinski, Elene Mullen, James Niespodzany, Nancy Peters, and Christine Schaumburg.

Scouts Stage Honor Court At Clintonville

Scoutmaster Given Round-Up Award By Valley Council

CLINTONVILLE — Boy Scout Troop 28 held a court of honor Sunday night at the Parish Hall of Christ Lutheran Church.

Scoutmaster Lester Osterloth welcomed the Scouts, their families and guests following a supper under the direction of Mrs. Harry Steckbar. About 150 persons were present.

Doug Brown, Scout executive, presented Scoutmaster Osterloth with a Round-Up Award from the Valley Council for recruiting boys into Scouting and meeting a set goal.

Skits were given by two patrols.

It was announced that six scouts plan to attend the National Boy Scout Jamboree in July at Farragut, Idaho. They are Fred Olk, Howard Christianson, David Gleason, Burr Tolles Jr., Robert Poole and Michael Gericke. Brown and Ted Jozwiak also plan to attend.

The court of honor was conducted by LeRoy Faehling, advancement chairman. Receiving the rank of Life Scout were Tolles and Arthur F. Kulibert Jr.; Star Scout, Gleason, Christianson and Daniel Jannusch; first class Scout and office of junior assistant Scoutmaster.

Pooler, second class, Gericke, and Tenderfoot, Randall J. Bue-low, Matthew C. Cousineau, Ronald Gast, Douglas Olk, Gregory A. Pasch, Jeffrey J. Rosnow, Todd Steckbar, Michael Voss and Mark P. White.

Merit badges were presented to Poole in leatherwork; Gleason, camping, cooking, first aid, pioneering, and swimming; Christianson, citizenship in the community, fishing, home repairs life saving, music, personal fitness and reading; Tolles, automotive safety, citizenship in the community, citizenship in the home, citizenship in the nation and safety; and Kulibert, automotive safety, camping, dramatics, and office of assistant Scoutmaster.

Parents of the boys accompanied the Scouts when they received their awards and the parents were presented with Scouting pins.

Winter Campout To End Hilbert Boy Scout Week

HILBERT — A winter campout Friday and Saturday will conclude Boy Scout Week in the village.

Some 28 scouts will sleep overnight in the scout hall Friday and spend Saturday hiking and cooking. The group will experiment with dehydrated food in preparation for a Michigan camping trip this summer.

A window display emphasizing "Scouting Rounds a Guy Out" has been assembled in Weiting Furniture Store. It illustrates camping, cooking and hiking.

All scouts attended church services en masse Sunday at St. Peter Lutheran and St. Mary Catholic Churches here and will wear their uniforms all week.

K of C, Masons Set Joint Dinner At New London

NEW LONDON — A large crowd is expected for the third annual "Brotherhood Banquet" at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Most Precious Blood School gymnasium.

Final arrangements for the prime rib dinner have been completed by the New London Free and Accepted Masons and Father Herb Council, Knights of Columbus.

Brother Brooker T. Ashe, administrator of the House of Peace, Milwaukee, will be the featured speaker. William Mork, Waupaca County Sheriff, also is scheduled to address the group.

Tickets are still available at Your Standard Station, New London National Bank, First State Bank, New London Savings & Loan Association or by contacting any Mason or KC.

Construction is proceeding on schedule for the new United Methodist Church being built along State 76 west of the community of Greenville. The new structure became necessary with the merger of the Methodist and the Evangelical United Brethren churches. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Rural Clintonville Woman Pays $50 On Driving Count

CLINTONVILLE — Diana Roepke, route 1, signed a stipulation of guilt and forfeited $50 plus fees on a charge of inattentive driving which resulted in an accident Feb. 2.

According to city police who made the arrest, the accident occurred about 11:45 a.m. on Waupaca street where Sharon Brauer, route 1, Bear Creek, was attempting to turn into a driveway, and had her directional signals turned on. Miss Roepke attempted to pass and struck the left side of the Brauer vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the Brauer car and at $50 to the Roepke car.

Amherst Youths Plan Church Skating Party

AMHERST — Young people of the Methodist Church are planning a teen-age skating party Feb. 23 at the LoNor Skating Rink near Hancock.

Other area church youths are invited to attend.

Clintonville Concert Group Schedules School Program

CLINTONVILLE — The third meeting of a group interested in starting an area concert series was held Thursday night at the junior high school cafeteria. Carl Hensel is chairman.

Hensel said a ticket campaign will be held from March 12 to 19. A limited number of tickets are available because the group decided to use the junior high school auditorium. The decision was reached after discussion about acoustics.

Only 500 tickets will be sold including 350 adult tickets at $8 each and 150 students tickets for $4 each. No reserve seats will be held.

The name of the organization was discussed, and Don Heisch suggested "Area Concert Theater."

A 24-member board of directors was accepted for one, two and three year terms. This board will meet Feb. 20 to choose talent for the theater.

Elected directors for one year terms were, Paul Kieffer, Hensel, Mr. and Mrs. Heinisch, Dennis Carter, Dr. and Mrs. William Krueger, and Dave Thomas; elected for two-year terms were, Mrs. G. R. McCauley, Mrs. Ed Buss, Caroline, Mrs. Earl Paape, Mrs. Pope, Marion, Mrs. Hoffman.

Mrs. Hagen will be assisted in the town's house to house canvass by Mrs. Russell Joubert, Mrs. Robert Erickson, Mrs. Robert Klabunde, Mrs. Lloyd Watter, Mrs. Evelyn Newcomb, Mrs. Oscar Falstad, Mrs. Rueben Balke, Stuart Bowman and Fred Aggen.

Five High Schools to Participate in Music Clinic at Amherst

AMHERST — The high school here will be host to a music clinic Saturday.

Band and chorus presentations, along with various ensembles will be presented in preparation for spring concerts and contests.

Participating in the clinic beside the host school are Wittenberg, Manawa, Iola and Waupaca.

641 Leads Major Loop Bowling in Wittenberg

WITTENBERG — Art Liesch cracked games of 229, 197, and 215, for a 641 series in Major League Bowling Tuesday night. Hoppes Bar was high with their 2,787 series and a 977 game. Other highs were singles by Don Seefeldt, 239, and his son Gary Seefeldt, a 238. Frans Lumberjacks lead the league with a 10 and 2.

Ted Deruchowski slammed the highs for the year in the Wednesday night 820 League. His series was 666, with games of 269, 197, and 200. Bernies Body Shop leads the league with 12 and 3. Gentle Ben's rolled the high series, a 2,488 and the high team game, an 882.

Rescue Squad to Benefit From Party

LEEMAN — Proceeds of a public card party sponsored by the Chatty Neighbors Homemakers Club will be used for the benefit of the Rescue Squad of Clintonville.

The party will be at 8 p.m. Thursday at Diemel's hall.

Altar Society Plans Annual Card Party

CLINTONVILLE — The annual St. Patrick's Day luncheon and card party sponsored by the St. Rose Christian Mothers Altar Society will be at 1 p.m. March 17 at the St. Rose school hall.

Plans were discussed at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Patrick Soufal, chairman, with her co-chairman, Mrs. Julius Stanislawski of Circle Six; and Mrs. Herman Oesterreich and Mrs. Herb Orr of Circle Five, along with other members of the two circles. Plans were made for publicity, tickets and decorations.

Circle Two with Mrs. Gordon Rindt and Mrs. Robert Gehling, chairmen, is arranging the menu. Members met at the home of Mrs. Rindt Friday afternoon for a planning session. Tickets now are on sale for $1.75. There will be advance ticket sales only. They may be purchased from Mrs. James Westphal or Mrs. Soufal.

Advisory Group To be Totally Reorganized

Federal Government Recommends Size be Cut for Efficiency

The Appleton Citizens Advisory Committee — formed two years ago with 86 members — is expected to undergo a complete reorganization in the near future, it was learned today.

Mayor George Buckley appointed the group almost two years ago to meet a requirement of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in getting the city's workable program certified.

Basically, the committee's charge was to concentrate on urban renewal, code enforcement and other projects connected with the city's relationship to the federal government and grants.

Unwieldy Size

But there have been observations that the size of the group has made the committee unwieldy, resulting in a recommendation by federal officials that it be scaled down to about 15 to 20 members at the most.

The prime purpose of the citizens' group is to maintain a liaison between the municipal government and residents of the community, in keeping with community development and implementation of the comprehensive plan.

Some committee members have criticized the mayor's office in the past, claiming it has provided no direction.

Buckley in turn has indicated the city planner was his official representative, referring to Walter Rasmussen, former planner.

He has now appointed Planner Jack Hetu to be his official representative and adviser to the citizens' group.

The committee will meet at the city hall Thursday at 8 p.m. when its specific obligations will be outlined by Hetu.

Recently, HUD prepared an updated handbook to serve as a guide to citizen advisory committees.

Former State Bowling Association President, Melvin Wegner, Dies

Melvin O. "Bud" Wegner, 57, 1524 W. Spring St., former secretary of the Appleton Bowling Association and a past president of the Wisconsin State Bowling Association, died unexpectedly at his home this morning.

Wegner, who was employed by the Mueller Lumber Co. and Hahn's Lanes, served as secretary of the Appleton Bowling Association for over 20 years. He presently was a director of the Wisconsin State Bowling Association and an associate director of the Appleton Baseball Club.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Catholic Church with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call after 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral Home.

Appleton Man Arrested In UW Demonstration

MADISON — William W. Rentz, 24, Appleton, pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct Monday after being arrested in Saturday's demonstration at the University of Wisconsin field-house.

Rentz, who is not a student at the university, is free on $107 bail. A pre-trial conference has been scheduled for him for Feb. 27.

A 'Shocking' Suggestion

Student Smoking Parlors?

Kenneth Sager shocked fellow board of education members and the superintendent of schools Monday night.

He suggested putting smoking lounges in the high schools to help keep students from leaving the school grounds at noon to smoke in cars and on street corners. He cited excessive littering at residences near Appleton High School-West.

To groans from board of education members, he said, "It isn't so far-fetched."

"Let's recognize that this is the 20th century," he said.

Supt. of Schools William Spears asked, "How can this possibly be compatible with a curriculum in health?"

Bobbie DeVrucht did his best to fill the larder for the Chilton Cub Scout's annual fish fry. He with the remainder of the troop and several fathers spent a recent Sunday on Long Lake fishing for trout. However, the young angler, including the fathers, made the only catch of the day. (Connors Photo)

No Changes Made

The board made no move to alter the policy which doesn't allow smoking by students on school grounds.

Charles Buchanan, board president, questioned whether lounges would deter youngsters from smoking and whether littering problems could justify such a solution. However, it's worthy of discussion, he added.

Sager contended adults have not done very well in preventing students from picking up bad habits.

"We're not saving their souls by not letting them smoke on school grounds," he said, adding that students may smoke because they are told they are restricted.

Sager, a Lawrence University instructor, admitted his proposal was "liberal" but he would try most anything to develop "an exciting educational program."

Faculty Evaluations

Spears said the no smoking policy was constantly being evaluated, and added there were several faculty and administration members involved in studies of drug, smoking and alcohol problems among students.

Sager added: "All these studies attack symptoms, not the causes."

Board member Victor Sumnitch questioned Sager on how he gauged the school's headway on directing youngsters down the proper path of living.

Sager offered no data but stuck to his feeling the present system was not working.

John Schneider, another board member, said: "I think this thing should be dropped like a hot potato."

However, an inspection of the heating plant at the Automotive building became the center of controversy last week when a $38,000 figure was mentioned.

Good Investment

The city intends to purchase the building and then sell it on street, would be blacktopped for the open market in two to three years. Officials look on the building acquisition as a good investment, claiming the city will more than get its money back on a resale.

Police have to vacate the existing station at Morrison and

Lombardi in Kaukauna

Housing for Aged Dedicated

KAUKAUNA — "Your greatest reward will be seeing the happiness of the people living here and it will bring tears to your eyes."

With these words Vince Lombardi participated in the dedication of Kaukauna's 74 apartment housing development for the elderly Monday afternoon. Lombardi is chairman of the board of Public Facilities Associates, builders of the $1 million Golden Venture Apartment complex.

He congratulated the housing authority, mayor and city officials for their efforts in behalf of the community and indicated he would continue to serve as Public Facilities chairman. He said this would give him the opportunity to get back to Wisconsin and maintain his interest in the communities of the state.

Mixed Emotions

Lombardi expressed mixed emotions about leaving Wisconsin to become head coach of the Washington Redskins but indicated he was happy to return to coaching.

David Carley, president of Public Facilities, said the Department of Housing and Urban development reported the Kaukauna turnkey project was built more rapidly than any other in the United States.

Carley paid tribute to city officials and the housing authority and said the apartments would stand as a tribute to Lombardi and all who contributed to their building. He then presented a plaque to the housing authority.

He commended Democratic Assemblyman William Rogers of Kaukauna, and credited him with being partial author and designer of the building. Referring to the objections raised while the building was under construction, he termed them a "classic lesson in American democratic action."

History of Project

Mayor Gilbert Anderson told how Rogers began promoting such a building in September, 1966, and of the progress since that date. He, along with others could not credit Leland Scherer, chairman of the housing authority, and its members enough for their efforts in the project.

Scherer introduced housing authority members, Joseph Sadlier, Carl Engerson, Norman Foxgrover, Mrs. Edward Oliva and Mrs. Wayne Carr, past members, and Mrs. Lawrence Van Zummeren, executive director.

Sadlier served as master of ceremonies. The invocation and closing prayer were given by the Rev. Roger Wentz, pastor of Immanuel United Church of Christ, and the Rev. Lester Ott, pastor of the Kaukauna United Methodist Church.

buildings over the weekend. Wolff also said he had previously considered other locations but felt the Automotive Building would suit the department's needs the best on a temporary basis.

Intoxicated Youth One Of Six on Drinking Spree, Police Charge

A 16-year-old youth, who was found intoxicated in the vestibule at Sacred Heart School early Saturday, was one of six teenagers who had a drinking party with stolen liquor. Appleton police said today.

The youths, ages 15 through 17, were released to their parents pending further action by juvenile authorities.

The drinking spree took place in the basement of one youth's home, following a basketball game. A detective said the youth who was found in the school "chug-a-lugged" a half bottle of liquor and became sick.

Police said the youths were drinking liquor that had been stolen late in January from Alex's Manor House.

Bake Sale Scheduled

MANAWA — The Jayettes here will conduct a bake sale attending the meeting reported starting at 4 p.m. Friday at they had inspected several Ferg's Electric Store.

To Okay Purchase

Board Meets Again On Police Quarters

A special meeting of the board of public works was called today to reaffirm its recommended purchase of the Automotive Supply building for the Appleton Police Department.

The board will be told that city officials have received assurance it will cost less than $15,000 to convert the heating plant and get the department settled in its temporary headquarters.

Previously, the city council had approved purchasing the Automotive building for $80,000 with the understanding the renovating would cost between $12,000 and $14,000.

But a $60,000 renovation figure entered the picture recently when Police Chief Earl O. Wolff and Inspector John Gosch suggested what would be "an ideal situation."

Ald. John Ayers (12th), chairman of the public safety committee, had contended from the outset it would not cost more than $15,000 to provide the department with the facilities suitable for the two to three years it might be located in the Automotive building.

A complete inspection of the building by a heating contractor, who submitted informal bids to the building owners, backed up Ayers' original claim Monday.

The cost of upgrading the heating plant at the Automotive building became the center of controversy last week when a $38,000 figure was mentioned.

However, an inspection of the heating plant over the weekend by a local contractor resulted in the estimate the work could be done for $7,940.

Back to Board

Huisman said he had referred the matter of buying the Automotive building back to the board of public works because he heard reports part of the city hall lawn, located across the street, would be blacktopped for the open market in two to three years. Officials look on the building acquisition as a good investment, claiming the city will more than get its money back on a resale.

Police have to vacate the existing station at Morrison and facilities without charge at a nearby lot they own.

Huisman, along with Bethke and Thompson, also contended the city should not buy any more property. They claimed there is too much city-owned property presently off the tax rolls.

"When we originally came in with our 'baseball park' estimate, it shook everybody up," Inspector Gosch commented at one point. He said the revised figures for relocating represented the barest necessities by which the department could get along in a temporary headquarters.

Not Explained

Wolff added that he never had been given a chance to explain the cuts which could be made in his original building renovation estimates and suggestions.

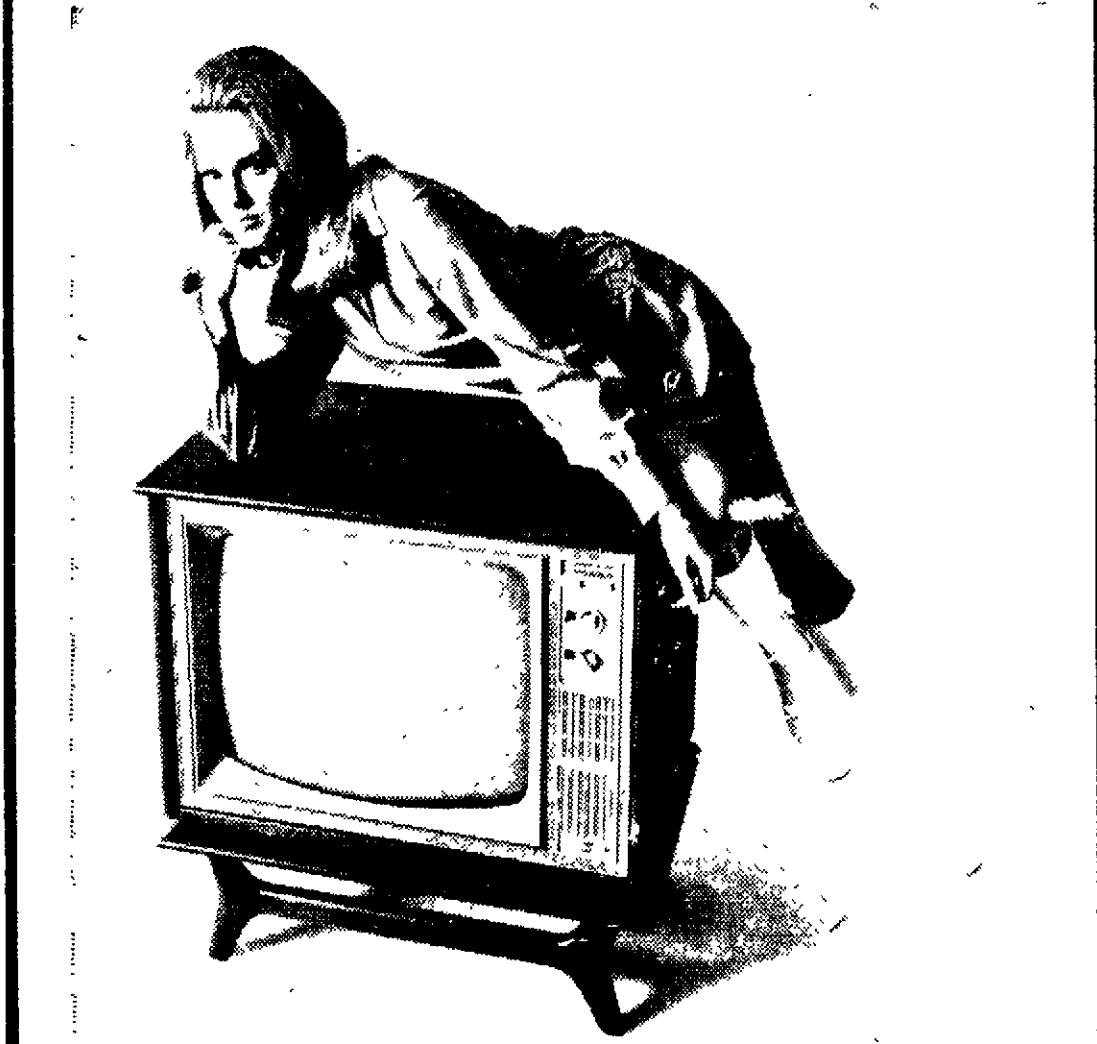

"The city home was good enough for people to live in a few months ago," exclaimed Bethke. "I believe it is good enough for the police department."

Ald. Ralph Gertsch (19th), chairman of the commerce-industrial development committee, injected that the city had three prospective buyers for the old building and about two acres of land.

The several department heads here will conduct a bake sale attending the meeting reported starting at 4 p.m. Friday at they had inspected several Ferg's Electric Store.

Zoning Policy Hearing Gets Board Okay

Committee Asks for Full Administrative Responsibilities

Outagamie County board members this morning authorized the zoning committee to hold a public hearing on whether the committee should be given decision-making authority of zoning policy.

After the public hearing, the committee is expected to come in with a recommendation. Under its tentative proposal, the zoning committee would take over zoning administration duties from the zoning board of adjustment.

The committee indicated that "it was the only logical committee to be charged with administrative responsibilities." Under the present system, the board of adjustments also determines zoning policy.

Supv. George Kroes, Town of Vandenberg, chairman of the adjustment board, said, "We are willing to yield (this responsibility)."

He commented that under the old system, the board of appeals had as much work as the zoning committee.

He said that since the zoning committee can handle policy decisions in regular meetings, it may cost the county less under this new system.

The zoning committee would administer ordinances on zoning, airport zoning, sanitary ordinances and shoreland ordinances, if the county board eventually adopts the proposal.

Seminar on the Fox Cities

Metropolitan cooperation in the Fox Cities may have tough sledding in future years if the reactions of industrial and community leaders at a recent Lawrence University seminar correctly interpret sentiment in this area.

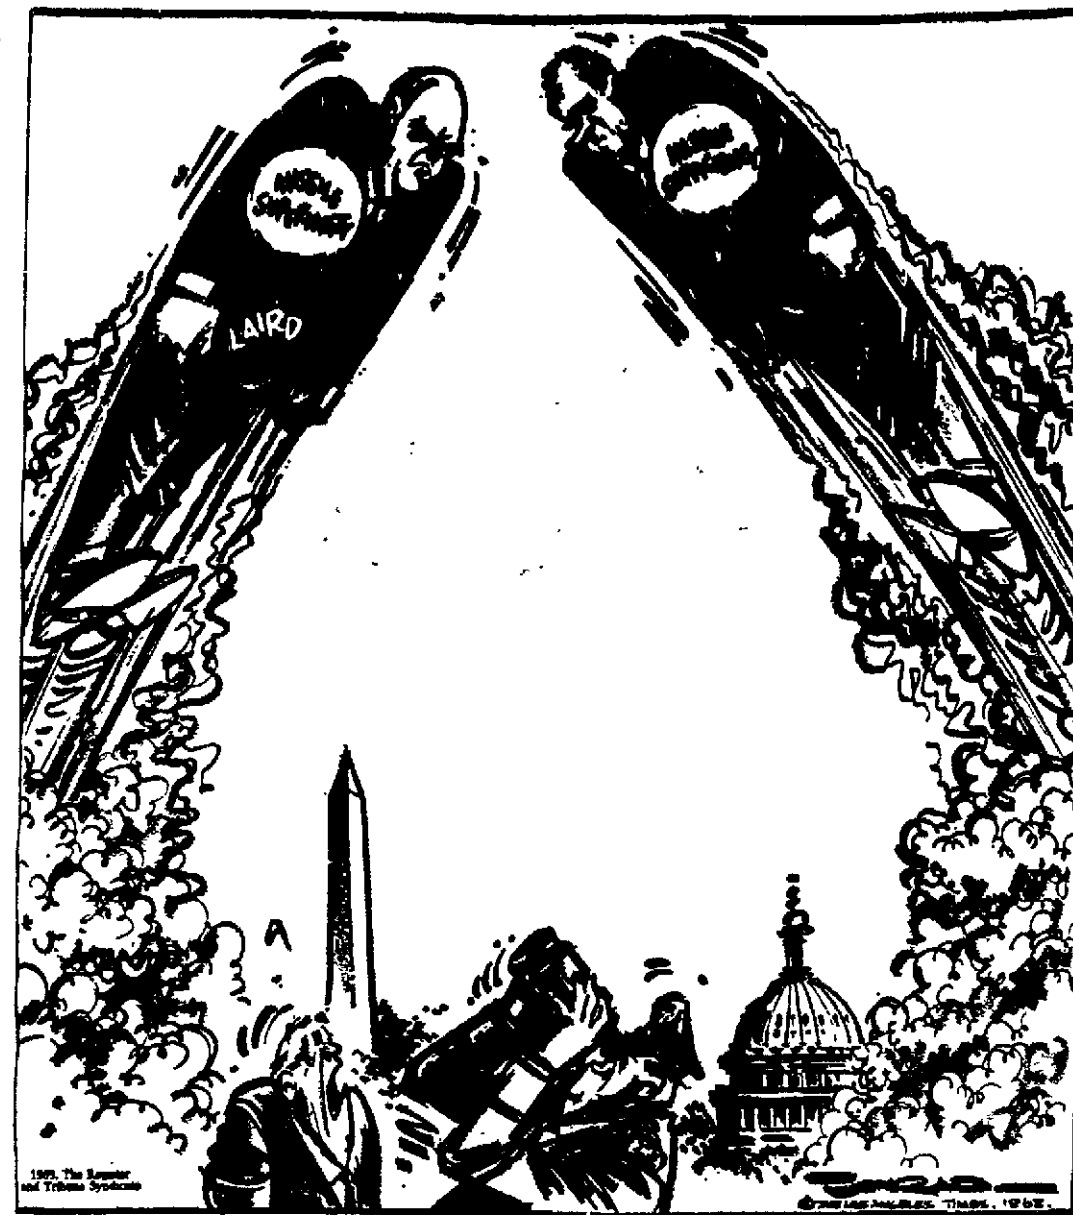

Several participants in the seminar claimed that unification on the regional level was being forced by the federal government. They wisely cautioned that this was not a true unifying force. Political scientists noted many obstacles to a more cohesive, integrated metropolitan unit in the Fox Cities. Emotional and social identification with one's own community was cited as a stronger factor than outside pressures from the federal government.

This may well be the case at present. Home rule has long been a practice which Wisconsin municipalities have guarded jealously. There are many emotional and cultural ties in each of the municipalities, large or small, which are involved in the term "Fox Cities." But if those businessmen and community leaders who attended the seminar are as practical and level-headed as their business success would seem to suggest, they must realize that it is only a matter of time before the metropolitan area which is developing around the northern end of Lake Winnebago will be forced — either by economic necessity or tightening of federal regulations for funding municipal projects — into some kind of closer working arrangement.

It was stated at the meeting that many persons do not know what the term "Fox Cities" means, some thinking that Oshkosh or Green Bay are included. It is conceivable that within the lifetime of today's children there will be one megalopolis stretching from Oshkosh to Kaukauna and even to Green Bay in the north and Fond du Lac in the south. Whether or not natives of the Fox Cities consider that term as a designation of the present metropolitan area an artificial one, as one seminar participant suggested, it is a fact that cooperation is a thing which must come. The term "Fox Cities" may cause some people irritation now, but they will be much more irritated if their municipalities are unable to get funds in future years because they have remained gloriously independent and have not cooperated in more efficiently providing municipal services.

There will be six seminars in the series to discuss what possibilities would lie ahead if the Fox Cities formed some type of cooperative, metropolitan unit. They will provide a good chance for local leaders to express their doubts and have their questions aired. Then perhaps we can get down to business and step up preparation for cooperation which must come. It is time to examine why planners tell us that metropolitan cooperation is a necessity, to get that message across to our citizens and then to proceed to implement cooperation voluntarily in our own way before it is forced upon us with conditions we may not like.

... You say they're BOTH ours. ... ?

Tax Reform Offers Republicans Chance to Tackle Inequality Issue

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The prospect of a Republican tax reform is more than just a piece of legislative news. It marks a turning point of historic proportions.

After years of dormancy, the potent issue of inequality is at last coming alive. And just as the Republicans stand to get the peace issue because they are not on the defensive about making a settlement cratic Party safe for the rich."

Instead of harping on the heated theme of social inequality, they came on with antiseptic talk about "growth" and "consensus." Instead of stressing a larger slice of the pie for the poor, they talked about expanding the pie as a whole. And with the Democrats not hitting on the issue of inequality, the Republicans also left it severely alone.

As a result, distribution of income throughout the postwar period has stayed almost constant. The poorest fifth of the population received 3.7 per cent of total income in 1966 as against 3.5 per cent in 1947. The richest fifth received 45.8 per cent of the total in 1966 as against 43.8 per cent in 1947.

In theory this unchanging distribution of income was acceptable because a steady growth of the economy meant everybody was getting richer. In practice, however, gross inequities developed at the two extremes of the income structure.

At the base, very low incomes were set in concrete, especially for those barred by discrimination or other reason from participating in the work force. Thus, Negro males averaged less than half the income of white males. And welfare payments — at as little as $35 monthly for a family of four in one state — have lagged way behind the growth of the economy.

At the other end, the super-rich developed substantial exemptions from the income tax. According to figures prepared by the Treasury, there were 155 tax returns last year where no tax was paid on gross incomes of over $200,000. In 11 cases, no tax was paid on incomes of over $1 million.

From the outset, the new Administration has moved to help those at the bottom of the pile. Instead of making a thing about the level of total employment, its economic advisers have stressed training and job programs aimed at the disadvantaged. And last week Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch expressed support for Federalization of the welfare system which would raise at least the very lowest level of payments.

With tax reform, the Nixon administration addresses itself to the top of the pile. Whatever details may emerge, any reform will have to narrow the most egregious loopholes. In a New York speech on Jan. 30, for example, Congressman John Byrnes, the Republican tax expert on the Ways and Means committee, suggested tightening exemptions for the super-rich in seven different categories including income derived from capital gains, real estate, and the extractive industries.

Individual Democrats, to be sure, have pushed hard for tax reform over the years, and it was part of the platform adopted at the Chicago convention last year. But with their man in the White House, the Republicans are in strong position, for the first time in decades, to get hold of the inequality issue.

Kraft

with the Communists in Vietnam, so they may also capture the inequality issue because they are not afraid to put a modest touch on the super-rich.

The potency of the inequality issue finds its classic expression in the success of Franklin Roosevelt and the New Deal. Economically, the New Deal may have been bad or good. But politically, it was sure-fire stuff because it worked to plane away inequalities between rich and poor.

Thus in the decade of the 1930s, the share of the poorest fifth of the country in total income went up by more than one-quarter. The share of the richest five per cent fell by nearly a third.

DEMOCRATS ON DEFENSIVE

The postwar reaction to the New Deal made the Democrats defensive about the inequality issue. Adlai Stevenson, John Kennedy, and Lyndon Johnson all tried, as James Sundquist put it in his brilliant book, "Politics and Policy," "to make the Demoboth of route 2, Neenah. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Annunson, route 2, Neenah, won the prize for the most comic costumes with the best juvenile costume honors going to Nancy Behnke and Donna Stahl.

Jack McKeon, the new Fox Cities Foxes manager, was welcomed to the area at a Lions Club dinner in his honor.

John Tomsyck was elected president of the Credit Union of the Lakeview Division of the Neenah mill of Kimberly-Clark. Other officers were Melvin Miller, vice president; Frank Wilton, secretary, and re-elected Ivan Stulp, treasurer.

However, it is quite unlikely that the Soviet Union would ever trust an Eastern European nation with nuclear weapons in the light of the dissent and unrest in that area. France, which built its own limited nuclear force partly to demonstrate French independence and l'honneur and partly to force nuclear intervention in case of a conventional attack upon France, would hardly help any other nation to develop a striking force. Peking remains in touch with no one except Albania and, to a lesser degree, Cuba, and both are thoroughly under the guns of either Russia or the United States. The ratification of the treaty by the United States could help allay the fears of small nations since included in the treaty is the promise of assistance, both in atoms-for-peace projects and in case of attack.

Clearly there is no magic solution to the problems of nuclear power. But the American, Russian and British leaders and perhaps French and Chinese ones, have come to realize that there would be no victory in a first strike and that the nation which launched it could expect retaliation on a level never experienced in the worst of the world's wars. The danger in the spread of nuclear weapons is that a small nation, unsophisticated in international affairs, politically fanatical and perhaps believing it has nothing to lose, might launch a nuclear war in which the big powers would be inevitably drawn just as they were by the Serbian unrest and the assassination at Sarajevo in 1914.

There is bound to be widespread discussion in the Senate over the ratification and there should be. But in the interests of the United States and the rest of the world the treaty should be approved.

Nixon on the Non-Proliferation Treaty

In requesting the United States Senate to ratify the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, President Richard Nixon explained that such action would serve to implement his goal "of negotiation rather than confrontation with the USSR."

Last fall Mr. Nixon expressed reservations about ratification of the treaty because of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia although he expressed his belief in the treaty. Last week in Washington he said that "my request at this time in no sense alters my condemnation of that Soviet action. I believe that the treaty can be an important step in our endeavor to curb the spread of nuclear weapons and that it advances the purposes of our atoms-for-peace program, which I have supported since its inception during President Eisenhower's administration."

There have been doubts expressed by many Americans, including members of the Senate, about the treaty which would pledge the signatories not to make nuclear weapons available to other countries or to develop nuclear striking capability. Critics have pointed out that the Soviet Union does not necessarily abide by treaties and might break it and make such weapons available to other Communist countries. Opinions have also been expressed in some of the non-nuclear nations that they have qualms about relying upon the protection of the United States and the Soviet Union against nuclear attack. Japan, Israel and India have been most doubtful as to whether ratification of the treaty would be in their national interest. And since two nuclear nations, France and China, currently have no intentions of ratifying the treaty, the spread of nuclear weapons could not be completely halted.

Bird Banding and Germ Warfare

Senator Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania said on a television program recently that a United States Army bird banding project in the Pacific was really a move to find "a relatively safe place to conduct chemical and biological warfare testing."

But why should the United States Army be financing bird banding projects in any case?

It seems that for the last six years scientists of the Smithsonian Institute have been studying the ecology and migratory habits of the Pacific marine birds with funds supplied by the Army Research Office. When the project is completed this June, it is estimated that it will have cost almost $3 million. The Defense Department's Public Information Office says the research was justified to investigate "the natural distribution of disease and the problem of birds flying near landing strips." The Defense Department has denied that it has had anything to do with chemical or biological warfare projects but the New York Times reported that several C.B.R. officials in the Army at least were among those directly interested in the sponsorship of the project. Dr. E. W. Pfeiffer, professor of zoology at the University of Montana, said that he had learned "the purpose of this project... is to attempt to locate an island in the Pacific on which pathogens (disease causing germs) can be tested without the danger of being spread to other islands by migratory birds."

Actually it appears to us that such a purpose could be the only justification for the Army to finance such a project. But the implications of chemical and biological warfare experiments are so widespread, morally and ecologically, that their authorization certainly should not be left to the military mind alone.

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Feb. 10, 1869.

The brazen impudence of the Democratic party would be amusing if it were not disgusting!

This political harlot, all tricked out in all the apparel of honest zeal for the welfare of the country, speaks of purity, patriotism, and equality. Her painted cheeks blush with indignation at whatever might soil the escutcheon of our country!

Bearing an honored name, and having once been virtuous, this strumpet seeks to shelter her infamies behind honor and virtue. She preaches truth in order that she may propagate lies, honesty that brigands may thrive, and equality that slavery may be cherished.

Wisconsin Report

Black Protests Harm Most Precious Asset: Education Opportunity

By JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It is difficult for any person to fail to perceive the elements of tragedy, perhaps travesty, in the continuing story of the relations of black students and the higher education institutions of Wisconsin.

A couple of months ago 90 black students enrolled at the state university at Oshkosh, many of them with tax funded

EFFORTS TO HELP

At the University of Wisconsin during the last couple of years there has been a long and costly and patient effort not only to recruit black student, but to give them special guidance and help when they arrive on the campus with its perhaps awesome contrasts with their accustomed environments.

Among the officers in charge of the program was Mrs. Ruth Doyle, whose credentials as a strong-minded liberal are not easily challenged. The other day Mrs. Doyle, the news stories related, "resigned." There has been a difference of view about how blacks should be counseled.

Mrs. Doyle believes in integration of the races in the campus community, which until lately had been supposed to be the goal of the Negro leadership in America. But the black students want segregation. Watching Mrs. Doyle, the liberal, getting the sack for advocating what most persons believe is what the Negroes have wanted and what is their own best hope for full membership in American society, thousands of Wisconsin taxpayers must be utterly confounded.

A month ago the university regents were discomfited when a crowd of young people, including black students, crowded into their meeting room at the Capitol, and attendants including Capitol guards had some trouble keeping order.

LEARNED FROM EXPERIENCE

Learning from the experience, and perhaps with the counsel of Capitol security officers, they held their February meeting a few days ago in a remote, crowded, basement room a couple of blocks from the Capitol, with police guards at both entrances. There was reason to believe that there was a reserve force of policemen in an adjacent room, as an emergency protective force. A ranking officer of the Madison police department sat in the room in plain clothes and grimly alert.

What must the anonymous taxpayer in North Oshkosh, Wis., reading dispatches that he will be required to dig ever more deeply into his purse to support higher education, think of such goings-on? What must the middle-aged business and professional man who remembers the way he scratched his way through school in the Great Depression era be muttering to himself? Tragedy, travesty, perhaps both, and they augur ill for the cause of tax-paid higher education.

Wyngaard

subsidies in addition to the public tax contributions represented in the operation of the institution, were expelled en masse after they were found guilty of unlawful assembly in their confrontation of the university president to demand that he consent to their notions about how the school should be run. Before the expulsion decision was ratified by the Board of Regents, one of the most respected lawyers in the state and a man who once held a seat on the Supreme Court, explained how he had conducted the fact finding hearing he was retained to hold.

GAVE STUDENTS ADVICE

J. Ward Rector, known and respected in his profession as an earnest and fair-minded man, said he had repeatedly advised the students involved that they could speak for themselves as individuals, or could have a representative speak for them, so as to remove themselves from the mass of the students in the disciplinary proceeding. The implication was clear. There was a possibility that some of the students might have been innocently involved.

But with only one exception, they decided to stand as a mass.

One suspects that if some of them had accepted the invitation of the hearing examiner, who said in his report to the regents that he had repeated patiently, the number of expulsions might have been fewer. Will some of those possibly innocent students return to their classes when they are again eligible? The chances are that many of them won't, and that for the sake of ill-conceived bravado or mistaken notions about the need for political solidarity, they have wasted the most precious opportunity that is likely to come to them. ### Death of Merton Is Shocking Tragedy

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

By one of those coincidences that always, when they happened, gives us a frisson of mortality, I was in the midst of reading his latest book when news arrived of the death of Thomas Merton in a literally shocking accident.

He had long been one of my favorites, this Trappist monk, born in France of an English father and an American mother, who took himself to a monastery in Kentucky, where from his vantage of seclusion he became one of the most perceptive observers and objective commentators on the malaise of our time.

The book I happened to be reading is "Zen and the Birds of Appetite," which is Merton's unique dialog between our Judeo-Christian tradition and the religious experience of the East, especially the dazzling precepts and tremulous insights of Zen Buddhism.

Zen has become quite fashionable in the West today, particularly in upper-class American society, where it has gained a certain intellectual cachet, like sporting Cardin clothes or toting Gucci luggage. But, as Don Marquis wryly observed many years ago, "An idea isn't responsible for who believes in it."

One of the most splendid qualities of Merton was his intellectual and emotional "openness," devout Catholic and a deep respecter of the "rationalism" of Thomas Aquinas, he was also catholic in the lower-case sense of the word — he found much of value in Zen, in the Protestant mystics, in the Hebrew hasidim, in Freud and even in Marx.

He knew how to draw out of these contrasting and conflicting philosophies what was best and most useable; unlike most advocates of a cause, he was not interested in what was wrong with other causes, but in what was right with them. He knew that there are more questions than there are answers, and that, in his own words, "a man is known better by his questions than by his answers."

Father Merton's life was tragically cut short at the age of 53, while on a trip to the East to visit with the Dalai Lama. He was continually inquiring, probing, reflecting, dissatisfied with traditional answers merely because they were traditional, and seeking some newer synthesis of ideas and feelings to help mankind out of the morass of anomie into which modern civilization has fallen.

The best way to honor the memory of this fine man is to buy his book, "Conjectures of a Guilty Bystander," a culling from his notebooks of the last 10 years, to learn what questions we ourselves should be asking, of society, its institutions, and our own placid consciences.

Your Money's Worth Shopping-Down Saves $18 on Food Basket

BY SYLVIA PORTER

You, as the family food shopper, know you can save big money when you go to the supermarket simply by choosing less expensive varieties of each item on your list. But do you know just how much you could save by trading down instead of trading up to the highest quality, most convenient, fanciest label foods?

I doubt if you do and thus, to illustrate how much your savings could be, I asked a housewife to take a list of 25 items for me through a typical suburban supermarket. I asked her to use two shopping carts: one for the least expensive version of each item and the other for the most expensive available in the store. She avoided advertised specials, ignored quality and convenience, although for each item, the nutrient value was similar.

For "steak," she chose porterhouse for the splurge, chuck for the bargain baskets; for milk, it was regular fresh milk against a box of powdered milk; for potatoes, the fanciest Idaho potatoes against locally grown spuds, etc.

The Savings

When she checked the two carts out for me, the bargain cart came to $23.05 while the splurge cart came to $41.26, a full 79 per cent more. My savings on the inexpensive basket totaled $18.21 — which could have added up to $946.92 over a 52-week period!

And mind you, these savings don't count what you can save by buying advertised bargains; stocking up your freezer with meat specials, substituting entirely different kinds of foods to cut your marketbasket's cost.

Four-Installment Plan Presented for Property Tax Bills

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The pain of real estate tax levies may be alleviated slightly if the legislature enacts a bill that would give taxpayers the option of paying their tax bills in four installments, instead of two as the law has permitted for many years.

The measure would not affect the payment of personal property taxes in a lump sum on or before the last day of February. The four installments would be due on Jan. 31, April 30, July 31 and Oct. 31, under the terms of the measure offered by seven legislators.

Permission to Change Supervisory Boundaries Sought in Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin County Boards Association and the League of Wisconsin Municipalities are collaborating in sponsoring legislation to permit county supervisory districts to be altered between federal censuses, which is now forbidden by law.

The purpose of the bill by Sen. Myron Lotto, R-Green Bay, is to permit county boards at their discretion to alter supervisory districts for the purpose of recognizing new ward lines and changes in municipal boundaries that may occur between the censuses.

of the splurge items cost twice, three, even more than four times the bargain foods. On big-ticket foods (meats) the savings can be enormous.

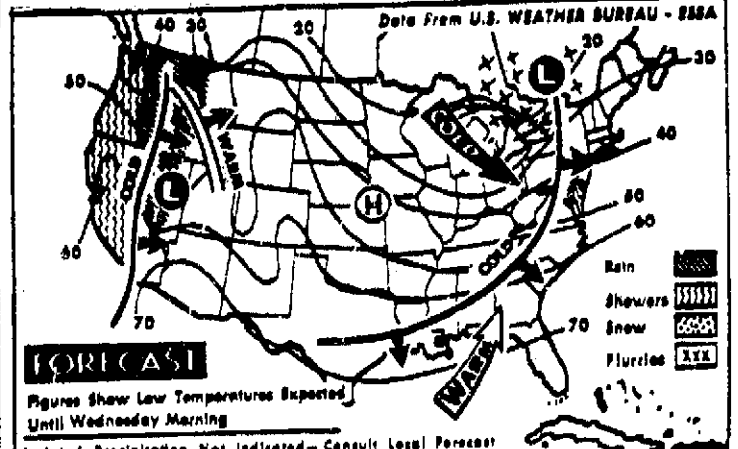

Of course I'm not even suggesting you stick strictly to the cheapest available foods or other items. Most of you don't want to nor do you need to in this era. But even though you can afford to splurge and consistently trade up, not down, isn't it fascinating to realize how much you could save if you tried?

Expansion of Jobless Coverage Will Involve 40,000 Employers

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — To make all employers of one or more persons subject to the unemployment compensation program would require about 40,000 persons now excluded to pay an average of $5.5 million yearly for at least three years, the legislature has been advised by the administrators of the compensation fund.

Coverage now applies only to employers of four or more. After the first three years, employers' contribution rates would vary according to their unemployment experience, it was explained.

Report Incorrect in 2-Car Crash

WAUPACA — An accident that occurred Feb. 22 was incorrectly reported because the investigating patrolman reversed the drivers of the vehicles in making out his report.

Capt. John F. Penney, county highway patrol, in clarifying the accident said a car operated by David Schmidt, 24, route 1, Weyauwega, was headed east on Landing Road about 5:45 p.m. Feb. 22 and skidded while negotiating a curve and struck a car operated by Clarence Miller, route 1, Weyauwega. The original story had the drivers reversed.

Panel to Discuss 'Junior High Years' At ACEC Program

"The Psychology of Early Adolescents: Junior High Years," will be the second in a series of programs on youths for adults sponsored by the Appleton Catholic Education Council (ACEC) at 8 p.m. Thursday at St. Bernard Catholic Church.

A panel composed of educators from Wilson Junior High School will discuss the topic. Included are Kenneth Johnston, principal; John Belonger, counselor; and Norman Tebo, a teacher.

Admission is 50 cents per individual talk.

Other adult series planned by ACEC include an introduction to mass media and contemporary theology.

ACEC was organized by all the Catholic parishes in Appleton to set up education programs for adults and youths not attending Catholic schools.

Summer Schedule Valley Council Scouts Plan Camp Activities

Two one-week camps on for opportunity to fulfill their troop leadership obligations. There will be a limit of 20 boys per troop and a one-week camp on Indian lore and a one-week camp on aquatics have been scheduled by Valley Council Boy Scouts for their summer program at Gardner Dam.

These programs will be offered to boys who are interested in working on merit badges and who also are attending camp with their troop. This means that older boys attending camp with their troops will be able to come for a second week for $23 to participate in these special courses.

Specialists from fish hatcheries as well as game wardens, foresters and conservationists will talk at the conservation session.

Wilderness and camping will emphasize rough and ready outdoor camping. Most of the camping will be at Boulder Lake, but there will be short excursions and a survival hike.

Indian Lore

For the first time, Indian lore will be included in the summer sessions. Included in the program is Indian camping, cooking, shelter making, dancing, games, legends, weapons, stalking and other related activities.

Also for the first time, there will be an opportunity for older boys to concentrate on the entire aquatics field.

Merit badges include swimming, life saving, rowing and canoeing. Scout life saving, mile swim and junior red cross lifesaving will be available.

This will give older boys the

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their willpower thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 573-F, 276 Park Avenue South, New York City, 10010.

It is sufficient to send your name and address. Just a postcard will do.

"I wouldn't touch a brandy that wasn't aged in oak."

Ask any expert. One sure way to make a brandy smooth is to age it in oak. That's why we age Almadén Brandy in oak barrels. Little oak barrels. We keep it in touch with the wood, because that's how a brandy gets mellow and creamy and smooth. Try Almadén Brandy. You'll see: A little barrel makes a big difference.

Racism Seen Figuring In Steel Union Vote

Some Members Oppose I. W. Abel for Part in Kerner Commission Findings

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — A revealing clue to why a labor leader so well regarded as I. W. Abel faces any challenge at all for re-election as president of the United Steelworkers Union (USW) today can be found in the tempestuous mail he received last year.

Steel workers are not prolific letter writers. But they kept Abel's mailbox filled last year with abusive — often obscenely abusive — letters protesting his support of Negro political candidates and his condemnation of white racism as a member of the Kerner Commission on Urban Riots. A favorite form of correspondence was to mail Abel clippings from "Steel Labor" (the official USW publication filled with praise for such extracurricular activities) after scrawling outraged comments in the margin.

The same Negrophobia responsible for this prison-penalty activity explains the alarm that seized the USW hierarchy when a little-known union functionary challenged Abel for the presidency with indications of a close race. Since then, only prodigious efforts by the Steelworker establishment has insured a comfortable margin for Abel.

Resent Pro-Negro Policies
But quite apart from the size of Abel's victory, this much is clear: rank-and-file union members are showing deep resentment of what they consider pro-Negro policies of their leadership.

Racial feeling is not the only and probably not the most important factor behind the campaign against Abel by Emil E. Narick, an assistant general counsel for the USW when he announced his candidacy last September (since demoted to the union's research department). The fact that Narick, unknown to USW rank-and-filers, could frighten Abel, considered by many as heir-apparent to AFL-CIO president George Meany, cannot be explained only in racial terms.

Narick has benefited in part by the alienation between membership and leadership throughout the labor movement (which, ironically, benefited Abel when he unseated David McDonald as USW president in 1965). Specifically, Narick has capitalized on down-to-earth complaints against the Abel leadership over such issues as letting management schedule vacations in winter.

Beyond this, Abel has suffered from what one labor intellectual calls the "philistinism" of rank-and-filers who resent Abel's taking time off to serve President Johnson as an ambassador to the United Nations or as a member of the Kerner Commission.

It is only a short hop from philistinism to racialism. Irritation with time spent by Abel on the Kerner Commission is aggravated by the commission's leniency toward black rioting. Furthermore, USW members in Gary and Cleveland still resent Abel's 1967 trips to those cities in behalf of successful Negro candidates for mayor.

While not meeting racial feeling either directly or through codewords, Narick's campaign literature nevertheless craftily recalls the Kerner Commission and Abel's Gary-Cleveland trips by pledging "Mr. Emil Narick will be a full-time president and will not become involved or preoccupied with assignments or projects that are not related to the best interest of the total membership."

Moreover, Narick's vote is expected to run highest where resentment over Abel's civil rights activity is most intense — particularly in Alabama's Bessemer mills.

With cool heads calculating last Christmas that Narick could roll up 45 per cent of the vote, the USW machinery hurriedly organized a detailed campaign that should limit Narick to 30 per cent at most, and perhaps down to 10 per cent. For instance, although Abel won only 9 per cent of the election committee's vote in Local 2227, Braddock, Pa. last Nov. 26, he now is expected to carry that local.

But in breaking down Narick support, USW leaders skirted the racial issue rather than meeting it head-on — just as they did in diverting steelworker support from George Wallace to Hubert Humphrey instead of defending Abel's civil rights record, they stressed his lateness of paychecks without a strike.

Indeed, some USW functionaries — such as Orval Kincaid, anti-Negro sub-district director for Gary — have supported Abel against Narick despite vehement disapproval of Abel's racial liberalism. Even more liberal USW chieftains prudently advise that "Steel Labor" should play down Abel's civil rights activities.

The question thus remains whether a labor leader strongly for civil rights can withstand the future challenge from a formidable adversary supported not only by rank-and-filers but by the Orval Kincaids.

Strict Birth Control Laws Could Cost State $16 Million

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Unless the state Legislature is willing to enact a more liberal family planning bill than now seems likely, the state may be penalized through the withdrawal of about $16 million a year in federal aids to families with dependent children, according to the State Department of Health and Social Services.

The comment came from the department in a memorandum discussing the changes in the original family planning bill sponsored by several groups when it came before the joint Legislative Council for Action lately.

According to the state welfare administration, the substitute measure endorsed by the Council in a recommendation to the Legislature is more restrictive than the present state law which the federal government seeks to change. The legislative council scuttled a report by one of its interim study committees, after a series of hearings which brought heated condemnation of all birth control legislation from groups of Milwaukee women.

The state agency said that the national government gave "special dispensation" to Wisconsin and Massachusetts on compliance with its new rules favoring counsel by social service departments on family planning, because those states had laws on the subject that could not be changed until the Legislature reconvened.

But the present Wisconsin proposal falls short of the federal requirements, it noted. It would permit such counseling only to the married, and only by physicians.

The original bill, endorsed by the interim committee and suting the requirements of the federal government, would have allowed such counseling by social workers, to the unmarried, as well as the married."

The postponement of the federal requirements "cannot expect to be continued" if the Legislature declines to put Wisconsin laws into harmony with the federal standards.

COG Support Is Asked for State Administrative Centers

Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) officials will be asked Wednesday night to go on record supporting statewide uniform administrative districts for administering state agencies' services.

The recommendation from the COG policy committee will be presented at the meeting in the Oshkosh city council chambers.

Under the proposal, which was tentatively approved last year by the governor's cabinet of department heads, services of all types would be administered for the same area from the same headquarters.

This would eliminate duplication and permit long-range efficiencies of operation, the committee agreed. COG would be in one administrative district.

In other business, COG officials will be asked to approve naming three persons to a joint COG - Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission committee to investigate the need for a water management program.

A request for studying regional health planning needs also will be offered for approval.

Dairy Fan Also Backs Tourism

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Sen. Gordon Roseleip, R-Darlington, the state Legislature's best known foe of margarine and champion of butter, believes that the tourist industry as well as Wisconsin dairy produce should be boosted on the state's motor vehicle registration plates.

He has offered a bill that would replace the "America's Dairyland" inscription that has been carried on the plates for many years with "Vacation in Dairyland."

Police in Kaukauna Investigate Thefts And Damage to Car

KAUKAUNA — Police are investigating weekend thefts and break-ins.

Ben Goldin, 1032 Riverside Drive, reported a glass in a rear door broken sometime between 7 p.m. Saturday and 12:15 a.m. Sunday and $13.50 in 50-cent pieces taken.

Henry Lucht of Lucht Brothers Fuel, 220 E. Second St., reported a wheel and tire, valued at over $10, stolen, and Walter Verhagen, 816 Jefferson St., Little Chute, reported a vent window on his car broken while it was parked near the Grignon Home.

Suggestion to Lower Bus Driver Age Hit

Limit for School Vehicle Operators Now 21; Stricter Physical Requirements Urged

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Proposals to lower the age limits and to boost physical fitness requirements of school bus drivers are being studied by the Governor's Highway Safety Advisory Committee.

Wisconsin law now sets a 21-year-old limit as the minimum age for official drivers of school transportation equipment, but has only partial physical qualification requirements, the advisory unit has been told.

William Redmond, state highway commission chairman, suggested that persons under 21 be permitted to drive the vehicles if properly licensed, but his comments drew opposition from representatives of the state Department of Public Instruction and others.

Redmond pointed out that in some other states, persons under the Wisconsin age limit are permitted to drive such school vehicles, and that there are safety statistics to indicate that unnecessary risk is not involved if the drivers are chosen carefully.

Allowed Elsewhere

Federal work laws prohibit youngsters under the age of 18 from doing such work, despite the fact that some states allow youths of that age to drive school buses, Redmond was told.

Increasing discipline problems make it difficult for many young drivers to maintain order on school buses, and youths just out of high school would probably have even more difficulty, education department officials argued.

John Thompson, head of the driver licensing division of the state Transportation Department, said that state law requires drivers licensed for such work to have basic physical and visual abilities.

But the law does not cover the "occasional" driver and does not cover other physical ailments, such as heart conditions, said Thompson.

James Karns, of the State Motor Vehicle Commission, reported that his department has received complaints from some parents about drivers hired to convey their youngsters. If a basic question, such as a heart problem is involved, he said, the state will require a physician's statement backing the driver.

Morals complaints are not checked out by his department, said Karns. In some cases known alcoholics have been hired in some school districts to drive school buses, he said.

William Kahl, state superintendent of public instruction, pointed out some school districts and some private firms run excellent bus services. Flat rules demanding school board operation or private bus service cannot be laid down, he stressed.

Kahl's department runs training programs on a voluntary basis for such bus drivers. Last year they reached about half of the 7,200 bus drivers in the state, said Kahl.

The system transports about 600,000 students a day to and from school and a life has never been lost on a school bus, the advisory committee has been told.

Federal Rules Expected
The committee is looking into the safety conditions because federal school bus safety standards are expected soon.

"We'll always have problems with people pushing for more safety," said Kahl. "I think they should," he stressed.

Wisconsin safety standards are higher than those which will be promulgated by the federal government for the nation, Karns suggested. The problem is, he said, that there is no uniformity within the state on what safety standards are required.

The committee agreed that the subjects will be pursued by technical subcommittees.

College Story

Interests Vary With Campus Groups, Students

The following report by four Eau Claire State University students—Allen Hagopian of Racine, Patrick Culbert of Eau Claire, Barbara Luebke of West De Pere, and William Thon of Cornell—begins a major Associated Press series.

The series, an innovation suggested at the fall meeting of the Wisconsin Associated Press Association, has enlisted the energies of a score of undergraduates in telling the campus story from the student viewpoint.

'Generation Gap'

The politics of shock and confrontation, the so-called "generation gap," the relevancy—some say irrelevancy—of the curriculum are just some of the themes the students touch upon.

The series embraces the full range of campus life as the students seek to shed light on the conflicts and contradictions comprising one of the major that lasts through the night—the result of cooperation among students, staff, and faculty.

Females seem to be mainly interested in males.

Even those whose hunting here has been fruitless probably have their sights set on finishing school and entering more fertile surroundings.

But, for reasons as diverse as their personalities, others have withdrawn from campus social life and buried themselves in their textbooks and dormitory rooms.

Dorm Life

In describing dorm life, one female resident has referred to a passage from Dicken's "Hard Times."

"Inhabited by people equally like one another, who all went in and out at the same hours, with the same sound upon the same pavements, to do the same work and to whom every day was the same as yesterday and tomorrow."

A fixation with success and power is another part of values held by some students. The fraternity members want to make their organization "best," and tremendous energies are expended to outdo rival groups. Fraternities are continually creating imaginative methods to assert their masculinity. They bind together at athletic contests and other social or school functions mainly to show their "strength."

One group has its own chant that includes "hit 'em on the head," and buttons are proudly displayed declaring "Teke is Tuff."

Legal Complication

Yet, other students study the legal implications rising out of an arrest of a student for selling an underground newspaper. They are concerned about constitutional rights. Elsewhere, a group of students lays the groundwork for an experiment in communication, and hundreds of people attend a "Teach-In" the world. Their main objective could be said to be the politicalization of the university.

Some tend to be dogmatic in their views—"all businessmen are exploiters." Others strive to see things in black and white—"Ho Chi Minh is all good and LBJ all bad."

Some have genuine concerns about poverty, war, and racism, and honestly feel that revolution is the only cure. Others are only personally rebelling against the fraternity—athletic—grade-striving groups.

The diversity of activism on this campus keeps it fragmented enough so that no one philosophy has been able to enlist the support of more than a handful of the total student enrollment.

Does Not Join

With the exception of these activists, the Eau Claire student who is interested in issues is one who generally does not commit himself to membership in an organization devoted to currently popular students' rights. Instead, he follows the activities of these groups mainly as a spectator, discussant, and only occasionally as a participant.

If a group could harness, through some unifying agent, the latent force of talent and numbers of this segment of the student population, certain aspects of student unrest might change at Eau Claire. These students, however, are just too interested in the plentiful balance of other academic and social pursuits to pass them up while they are available to them.

The young blacks on campus are proud, and well versed on the history of the black man in America. They are generally resentful toward whites as a collective group because of what history records.

Separate Objectives

The more political of the blacks align with the white activists but still feel that the two groups have separate objectives that should be strived for in somewhat separate groups.

But, other blacks see a challenge that leaves no time for such political activity. They strive for grades and because many come from inferior high schools, achieving passing grades is difficult.

There is no schism between the two groups of blacks, and nearly all of them want to go back to the ghettos after graduation.

The white students' feelings on racism are purely a day to day matter for most. History is disregarded. Black students are evaluated entirely on what they do today and not by what they have had to face for the last 300 years.

Important Matters

These are matters important to Eau Claire students that relate to unrest on the campus. These are their values, and values are politics.

Many are political in a passive way. The atmosphere is not yet that of a Madison. The football supremacy debates are still essential to some; organizational power and prestige are primary for others; the social milieu is vital to another segment of the enrollment.

But, the nihilists, or activists, concern themselves with the upheaval of the institutional structure, and hopefully regard other students as potential fuel that could be ignited by a radicalizing experience—like being clubbed on the head by an enforcer of the law.

Spell Finally Broken

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Over the past two years, 23 members of Walnut Creek's 53-man police force became fathers—every offspring a son. The spell was broken Saturday when officer Sherwood Smith's wife gave birth to a 7-pound, 12-ounce daughter.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Feb 11, the 42nd day of 1969. There are 323 days left in the year.

On this date in 1945, a wartime conference in the Crimea ended with the signing of the Yalta agreement by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin.

On this date—

In 1744, an English fleet was defeated by French and Spanish men-o'-war off the Mediterranean port of Toulon.

In 1808, hard coal was first used as fuel—at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

In 1874, inventor Thomas A. Edison was born in Milan, Ohio.

In 1920, the first business session of the League of Nations was held in London.

In 1922, the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Japan signed a treaty in Washington limiting the size of their navies.

In 1942, during World War II, it was disclosed that American troops had gone ashore at the Dutch Islands of Curacao and Aruba in the West Indies.

57 Deaths Blamed on Storm

Northeast Starts Returning to Normal

NEW YORK (AP) — With snowplows working around the clock, the Northeast is digging out from the big weekend storm that paralyzed transportation, cut off food supplies in some areas and throttled the flow of commerce.

At least 57 deaths were attributed to the storm which blanketed an area from New Jersey to Maine. They included three persons apparently asphyxiated while trapped in a stalled auto at New York's Kennedy Airport.

Air, rail, bus and auto traffic began to move sporadically late Monday. But a return to normal schedules appeared some time off as gusty winds continued to pile drifts after the storm moved out to sea.

Stranded Passengers
Helicopters proved invaluable in supplying food to 6,000 passengers stranded at Kennedy Airport Monday. They also made a number of ambulance runs, carrying several heart attack victims who otherwise could not have been aided.

An estimated 4,000 persons remained marooned at the airport overnight. They bedded down on floors, benches, chairs and in some cases in planes. When one line ran out of diapers for infants, mothers made do with pillow cases.

Flight operations at Kennedy were expected to resume this morning and at LaGuardia this evening. Newark Airport reopened Monday afternoon and Logan International Airport in Boston Monday night.

Throughout the snowbound section, the failure of delivery trucks to get through drifts of up to 10 feet led to a shortage of milk, bread and other staples.

Both the American and New York Stock Exchanges closed Monday and the city's Commerce and Industry Association reported that absenteeism at commercial establishments ran at 73 per cent.

As the cleanup operation got into high gear, the Massachusetts Department of Public Works asked the assistance of the National Guard to remove an estimated 2,500 abandoned cars on state highways.

Most of the 1,000 cars that stalled on the three-mile-long Tappan Zee Bridge at Tarrytown, N.Y., were removed during the day but the six-lane span remained closed to traffic because of clogged access roads.

Appeal by Lindsay
Mayor John V. Lindsay made a helicopter tour of New York and then called on commuters to leave their cars at home if they tried to make it in today. However, the outlook for commuter train service was at best intermittent.

A threat to the city's cleanup was lifted when Lindsay soothed the ruffled feelings of the sanitation union leader who had charged the city refused to hire his men on overtime at the height of the storm.

New York figured to spend $350,000 on snow removal. Boston officials estimated they would spend $400,000 before the streets were made passable.

Of the deaths attributed to the storm, nearly half were the result of heart attacks while shoveling snow. In the Boston suburban area 27 persons, mostly youngsters, lost fingers in rotary snow machine mishaps.

The weather bureau said the immediate outlook for most of the affected area was for no more snow although temperatures were not expected to get above freezing. Some snow flurries were possible tonight in upper New York State, Vermont and New Hampshire, the bureau said.

The storm left 15 inches of snow in New York City. Up to 30 inches was reported in Connecticut and Boston. Weather Bureau chief Oscar Tenenbaum said the blow "was one of the fiercest winter storms of the past decade."

Zoo Lights Decrease Vandalism but Jump Animal Expectant Rate

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — An attempt to stop vandalism has turned the local zoo into a veritable maternity ward, according to zoo Director Charles T. Clift. Lights were installed at the Burnett Park zoo to discourage vandals, but the increased "daylight" has fooled several animals there into thinking it's spring already.

Clift says the cougars fell in love all over again and are expecting their fourth litter by the end of next month. He has collected five goose eggs. Big Lizzie is expecting a bear cub. The wallaby should have a new minikangaroo by Easter. The chimpanzee is expecting in August. At least eight lambs are on the way, and the deer population will be increased by 20 if current indications materialize.

Board Hears Secret Testimony on Crew's Attempts to Destroy Papers

By RICHARD E. MEYER
CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — More intelligence crewmen were summoned to tell the Navy today how much of the USS Pueblo's classified material was destroyed before the ship was captured by North Koreans.

Their testimony was secret, the Navy said, "because of the sensitivity of much of what they're talking about" and because its disclosure could harm national defense.

The intelligence crewmen, called communications technicians, were summoned to a court of inquiry investigating the Pueblo's capture last year. Of the 83 aboard, 29 were communications technicians.

The head intelligence detachment was Lt. Stephen Harris, who told the court last week his staff didn't destroy all of the secret material because of North Korean gunfire, "a painfully slow" burning process, what he described as excessive amount of material and heavy smoke.

Today's testimony would be similar, the Navy said, to testimony Monday from the Pueblo's chief communications technician, Ralph D. Bouden, of Washington, D.C., and a member of his team, James Francis Kell, of Honolulu.

Bouden and Kell testified with "particular emphasis on what took place within the research intelligence spaces on the Pueblo when the ship was captured," the Navy said.

"We tried to tear up the publications," Harris has told the court. "We reduced them to confetti. There was paper all over the place. We were feverish."

Much Confusion
"We tried to keep it as orderly as possible, but it actually resulted in a great deal of confusion."

When it was over the North Koreans boarded the Pueblo and there were some secret papers in his intelligence compartment, Harris said.

He didn't volunteer in open court how much classified material fell into North Korean hands. But Rear Adm. Edward Grimm, a member of the court, asked how many bags were jettisoned.

"At least one bag went overboard," Harris said.

"One of 12?"

"Yes, sir."

What about the secret electronic equipment on board?

"It was reduced virtually to powder."

Harris estimated it would have taken 10 to 12 hours to destroy all of the Pueblo's secret papers.

Wouldn't Burn
An engineman, Peter Bandera of Carson City, Nev., said some of the ship's classified papers were so soaked with blood that they wouldn't burn.

The Navy says Vice Adm. Harold G. Bowen, president of the court, has directed that summaries of unclassified testimony during the closed sessions be made available periodically to newsmen.

The Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr Lloyd M. Bucher, said he would take the stand again near the end of the court of inquiry to give further testimony about his imprisonment with his crew.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said today that if there is an attempt to make scapegoats out of Bucher and his crew it will "provoke a most vigorous reaction" in Congress.

His comment came in a speech prepared for a Republican gathering in Nebraska.

Hruska said "Several members of the Senate Armed Services Committee have indicated that the committee will proceed to look into the matter."

"What is causing so much concern is the fear that the result will be to make Commander Bucher and his crew the scapegoats of abysmally poor planning by higher authorities," he said.

"The courage and stamina they showed during their long imprisonment have earned them commendation and gratitude," he said, "certainly not disciplinary action."

Castro May be Easing His Hijacking Policy

MIAMI (AP) — The 110 passengers hijacked to Cuba Monday were allowed to fly to Miami five hours later aboard the pirated plane—touching off speculation that Fidel Castro has changed his policy toward the unscheduled Havana hops.

Return of the passengers marked the first time in 27 hijacks—dating back to last July—that all the passengers were allowed to return with the crew.

In New York, Eastern Airlines Vice President Jonathon Rinehart said prompt release of the hijacked crew and passengers indicated a "slight thaw" in the Cuban government's attitude toward hijackings.

The pilot of the hijacked plane said he didn't know why the Cubans let the passengers return with him, but officials who asked not to be identified said it was the result of negotiations between the U.S. and Cuba.

In the past, crews have brought back the planes while passengers were bused to Valadero, 90 miles east of Havana, and retrieved by smaller prop-driven planes.

The Cubans said this was necessary because Jose Mari Airport outside Havana was too short for today's airliners.

However, U.S. pilots have unanimously agreed the 10,000-foot runway is ample.

The crew of the Eastern Airlines stretchjet hijacked Monday—the 14th plane diverted to Cuba this year—said the sky-jacker was a fat man who hid an automatic pistol in a shirtbox on his lap.

The plane, EAL Flight 950, was an hour out of San Juan bound for Miami when the man walked to the rear of the craft, nudged stewardess Susanne O'Connor with the pistol, and said "I want to go to Cuba."

Capt. William Latimer said he was 350 miles northwest of San Juan in the southern tip of the Bahama chain when he received word from the rear "a man has a gun on Suzzy" and, turned for Havana.

The trip was uneventful except for a tense moment when two burly Canadian wrestlers announced they were going to disarm the hijacker who was alone with Miss O'Connor in the rear of the craft.

"They were cursing and said they wanted to get at the hijacker," said Steward Vincent Doccolo. "But I stepped in front of them, told them the man was armed and there were too many people aboard to risk their lives."

TEEN-CRIER WANT-ADS

The "Teen-Crier" Column in the Classified Section of The Post-Crescent is provided solely for Teenagers who wish to sell a variety of items, from a walkie-talkie or go-cart to beagle hounds and Siamese cats.

There will be no charge for these ads as placed by teenage youths — for teenagers — and ads will run for five consecutive days unless cancelled sooner.

SO-O... young men and young ladies — whatever you've got to sell — with a maximum price of $50.00 — tell your friends about it in the Teen-Crier Want-Ad Column of The Post-Crescent. Follow the simple regulations below...

TEEN-CRIER REGULATIONS

- All ads must be placed by teenagers, age 13 through 18.
- Only For-Sale ads will be accepted.
- All articles and/or items (such as pets) must be priced at no more than $50 total value.
- Prices must be stated on all For Sale items.
- Seller's name, age, address and/or phone number must appear in all ads.
- No guns, ammunition, furniture or appliance articles will be accepted.
- Ads will run for five consecutive days unless cancelled or otherwise disqualified.
- Ads may be phoned in or brought to the Appleton or Neenah-Menasha offices of the Post-Crescent between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Phone calls will be accepted from toll-free areas only.
- All discrepancies should be reported to the Classified Advertising department of The Post-Crescent.
- Ads quoting prices lower than actual prices of articles will be cancelled immediately and the advertiser charged for insertions at the regular existing rates for other classifications.
- This, and other abuses of the privilege of using the Teen-Crier column free of charge will subject the advertiser to possible refusal of further use of the Teen-Crier column.

PLEASE NOTE: The Post-Crescent reserves the right to refuse any Teen-Crier ad we feel does not qualify as truly a teen age item or items.

Survivors Face Future After Mine Disaster

BY TV SCOUT
9:30-10 Channel 2 — How often have we been touched by the stricken faces of miners' families and friends as rescuers bring the bodies to the surface after a fatal cave-in? But what happens to these families afterwards is rarely revealed. Who, What, Where, When, Why examines that phase of life in one of most dangerous jobs in the land. The program shows the mine disaster at Farmington, W. Va., last November in which 78 miners lost their lives. We see what the survivors are doing today, watch how fatherless families are rebuilding their lives, and hear proposals for making mining conditions safer.

8:30-9 Channel 11 — James Earl Jones, the brilliant actor who found instant success as the star of the Broadway hit, "The Great White Hope," stars in a two-part drug addiction story on N.Y.P.D. He plays the director of a rehabilitation center for addicts, which is manned by ex-addicts.

6:30-7:30 Channel 2 — After viewing the opening of Lancer, you'd never guess that Frank McHugh is the guest star. A bruising barroom brawl begins it, during which five Lancer men get hurt. A decision is then made to send for a marshal to clean up the town.

6:30-7:30 Channel 5 — Soul singer James Brown brings his own brand of electricity to The Jerry Lewis Show. He is joined by Nanette Fabray, who does a spoof with Jerry on the "new morality" and other controversial topics of the national scene.

6:30-7:30 Channel 11 — Gloria Foster, the real life wife of series star Clarence Williams III, stars on The Mod Squad and steals the show from the regulars. She plays the difficult role of a young lady, blind from birth, who is savagely attacked. Since she is unable to identify, or even describe her assailant, there seems to be little the police can do.

7:30-8:30 Channel 2 — Bobby Rydell stars on The Red Skelton Hour. Red is seen as Freddie the Freeloader, wandering about Las Vegas looking for a handout and for a break for his buddy, a singing busboy. When his appearance and mannerisms are mistaken for the eccentricities of a local billionaire, Freddie takes full advantage of the situation.

7:30-8:30 Channel 11 — Keep your eye on the small fry in It Takes A Thief's concluding episode to its two-partner, "A Matter of Grey Matter." Mundy has been ordered to get a chemical formula from an eccentric multi-millionaire recluse who is marketing the deadly fuel, but refuses to allow the United States to bid for it.

The Two Stage Actors who helped bring acclaim to the triple-prize hit drama, "The Subject Was Roses" by Frank D. Gilroy, recreate their roles of father and son in the movie which co-stars Patricia Neal and marks her movie comeback. Here Jack Albertson and Martin Sheen, right, have a night on the town. The movie opens for the first time in the Fox Cities area at the Neenah Theater Wednesday night.

Jingo Sees Possible Oscar for 'Roses' Film

Movie Follows Story Line of Hit Drama, Opens Wednesday Night at Neenah Theater

BY JINGO
"The Subject Was Roses" has a lot of things going for it in the way of a nomination for this year's Academy Award. The MGM film version of the Frank Gilroy play opens for the first time in the area Wednesday night at 8:10 p.m. at the Neenah Theater.

In the first place, talented actress Patricia Neal plays the embittered mother of an Irish-American family living in the Bronx. Secondly, Miss Neal makes a strong comeback to her first movie since she was stricken with massive strokes a few years back. Her recovery and subsequent role in "Roses" both have been called phenomenal.

Then, too, remember that Miss Neal already has shown her Oscar winning talents in "Hud."

Besides all that, the drama was a triple winner, sweeping the boards as it were. The play won the Pulitzer Prize; it was given the Tony Award and it took the New York Drama Critics Award. This is truly an awesome threesome.

Re-enact Roles
Then to top the list, the excellent Jack Albertson and Martin Sheen, who play father and son, respectively, did the same roles onstage when the drama was winning all its honors.

Timmy (Martin Sheen) comes home from the wars after his stint in the Army during World War II. He finds that things are not the same in his Bronx home where he grew up.

Timmy's welcome home starts off with a bang with a gala night club tour of the town with his parents, but disillusionment soon sets in when he becomes aware of the discord between John and Nettie Cleary (Jack Albertson and Patricia Neal).

Quarrelsome Pair
A marriage in which an ebullient and ambitious John Cleary had swept Nettie off her feet has turned sour. Self-educated and hard-working Cleary's hopes of becoming a rich man were shattered by the stock market crash. Nettie, yearning for affection from a husband who soon took her for granted, spent much of her time at the home of her mother and Timmy's mentally retarded cousin, and John turned to other women. Most of their life is spent in quarreling and recriminations.

There is a memorable scene in which Nettie repulses the drunken advances of her husband and smashes a vase of roses which she believed he had tenderly brought her only to discover that it was Timmy's idea.

Timmy at first tries to make peace between his parents without siding with either, but gradually comes to feel that Nettie has inveigled him into joining her in ganging up on John. When he accuses her of this, she leaves the house and disappears for 12 hours. When she returns to her frightened husband and son, she refuses to tell them where she has been.

Actually, she has taken a bus to the Jersey shore and the trip seems to have given her her only day of freedom since her marriage. But Nettie knows that things cannot change, and Timmy knows that he must leave home and make a life of his own. And, although it breaks their hearts to lose him, Nettie and John realize that it is the only way for him to become a man.

When Timmy at the last moment changes his mind and says he will stay with them for a longer while, they will not permit it.

Ulu Grosbard, directed both the stage play and the screen version of "The Subject Was Roses." He has contributed largely in making the characters come vividly to life. These are real people in real surroundings and the audience soon becomes completely moved and engrossed in their individual destinies.
